EVENING BULLETIN. Friday, December 13, 1867.

AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE. It was once well said that the genius o chitecture had shed a malediction upon a portion of our land. There has of Inte years een considerable advance in architectural taste, and many noble public buildings, cleant business establishments and tasteful wellings give evidence of progress. But there is still great room for improvement, especially in the older American cities, and eves of the tasteful look in vain for relief from the raw pine-woodiness of most of our country towns and the dolefully monotonous mare red dwellings which line our streets, ind which present scarcely more variety than is presented by the individual bricks of which they are constructed. Philadelphiabuilt dwellings are famous all the world over much as the same influences operate upon their constituents. similar material in Pittsburgh, and a general dinginess is the result. Mr. Convbeare goes ture of such vitrined material as the inventor proposes to use. We have many very fine public buildings in Philadelphia, and in respect to the "modern improvements" our stores and dwellings are quite equal to any in the country. But we have not yet cast aside the drab-colored views which we in-herited from the founders of the city, and re-conciled ourselves to making the outsides as conciled ourselves to making the outsides as rhinoceros. well as the insides of our shops and dwell-In the galleries of the Artists' Fund Society, flight of steps that occupies about half of the sidewalk—and the whole being about as pic-turesque and as tasteful as a drygoods box— comes up to the common standard of private architectural elegance. There is scarcely a New England town or a Swiss village that will not furnish more evidences of genuine good taste in any group of half a dozen houses thaa will be found if miles' of dwell-ings in New York, Baltimore or Phila-delphia.

> A despatch dated yesterday, at Florence, men tions the death of Giovanni Pacini, the Italian composer. His opera of Saffo, played some years ago here and in other American cities, is the only one by which he is well known; but but going to Rome in his youth, he became position at Bologna, under Marchesi and Mattel, and, when 18 years old, produced an opera a Venice, which succeeded. In after years he wrote operas for all the principal Italian mortified and disgusted its author, that he refused to write any more operas, and he has lived in idle retirement ever since. His style was modeled on that of Rossini's earlier works, and is more distinguished by graceful melody than by learning or originality. In addition to his operas, Pacini wrote a number of masses and other religious and secular works.

CRIME. THE PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL BAILBOAD Robbery in a Sleeping Car.

Hebbery in a Sleeping Car. (From the Harrisburg Patriot, 12th.)
 On Monday night Mr. Daniet Arnheim, of Al-legheny city, was robbed in a sleeping car on the Pennsylvania Railroad, of sixteen hundred dol-lars in money, a check for one hundred and fifty dollars, drawn by C. Pierce, Great Western Hotel, Philadelphia, to the order of William Arnheim, and a certificate of deposit for six bundred dollars in favor of B. Studd, of Philadelphia. Mr. Arnheim represents that he left Philadelphia at 11:15 P. M., taking the middle berth of a sleeping car. At Altoona, the sleeping-cars of the train upon which he took passage ard left, and it was but a short time before reaching that point that he discovered his loss. He telegraphed to Pitts-burgh and Philadelphia to prevent payment on the check and excitificate of deposit, and imme-diatoly on his arrival at Pittsburgh reported his loss to the detectives. He is of the opinion that he was nobed.
