525 MILES

OF THE

This brings the line to the eastern base of the Rocky This brings the line to the eastern passe of the hocay mountains, and it is expected that the track will be laid thirty miles further, to Evans Pass, the highest point on the read, by January. The maximum grade from the foot of the mountains to the symmit is but eighty feet to the mile, while that of many ceatern reads is over one hundred. Work in the rock cuttings on the western elepe will continue through the winter, and there is now uo reason to doubt that the entire grand line to the Pa-cific will be open for business in 1870.

The means provided for the construction of this Great National Work are sample. The United States grants its Six Per Cent. Bonds at the rate of from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, for which it takes a second lien as security, and per mile, for which it takes a second tien as security, and receives payment to a large if not the full extent of its :laim in services. These Bouds re issued as each twenty-mile section is finished, and after it has been ex-amined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class road, thoroughly supplied with depote, repair shops, stations, and all the necessary olling stock and other equipments.

The United States also makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, which will be a source of large re-venue to the Company. Much of this land in the Platte valley is among the most fertile in the world, and othe arge portions are covered with heavy pine forests and abound in coal of the best quality. The Company is also authorized to issue its own First fortgage Bonds to an amount equal to the issue of th Government and no more. Hon E. D. Morgan and Hon, Oakes Ames are Trustees for the Bondholders, and deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the work pro resses, so that they always represent an actual and pro luctive value. The authorized capital of the Company is One Hundred Million Dollars, of which over five millions have been raid in upon the work already done.

EARNINGS OF THE COMPANY.

At present, the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue, if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Paci-ic States will be large beyond precedent, and as there will be no competition, it can always be done at profitable

It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a Government Work, built under the supervision of Government officers, and to s large extent with Go-vernment money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar curity is so carefully guarded, and based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's

BY CHARLES J. PETERSON. Where the water-lilles blow, There the water-lilles blow, In a scaward pond I know, There, on breezy days, I go: Blue the ocean gleams below, Crisp with creats of drifting enow; And the treabening wind, like wine, Thrills the blood with joy divine; All things are so bright and foir All things are so bright and fair, Life so gay and debonair ! This is what I feel and know, Where the water-lilles blow.

BATEMAN'S POINT, NEWPORT.

Where the water-lilles blow, Where the water-lilles blow, There, at set of sun, I go. Stately ships are sailing slow, Sea-birds winging to and fro. Foinily fades the Western glow, Then, along the dark'ning coast. Twilight at als, a shadowy ghost. And Il oight the rects complain; Out at sea, like souls in pain. This is what I hear and know, Where the water-lilles blow. Where the water-lilies blow.

Where the water-lilles blow, Tis near graves of long ago; And the breakers, surging slow, Tell the tsle of wreck and woe. There, on stormy nights, to go, When, in every tempest blast, Drowning cries seem carried past,

And from out the awful gloom, Ships come driving to their doom. This is what I see and know, Where the water-lilles blow. Where the water-lilies blow, Fashion holds her glittering show; Horses prancing to and fro, And I look and think, some day All these gands shall pass away: But the wrecks and graves remain, and the seview of the acute in pain. And the reefs like souls in pain.

This and only this I know. Where the water-illies blow. [From the N. O. Tribune.]

terms. Bomebody should save General Hancock from his friends. [From the Tribune.] The President loses no fine in putting in his answer to Grant's celebrated "private letter." Gen. Hancock has acarcely begun his overturning of Sheridan's work in Louisians; but the little ho has already accomplished moves Mr. Johnson to intrude. upon Congress a special mersage calling their strention to the facts, and cartolline the heroism, patriotism, self-denial and high Roman virtue of the present commander of the Fitth Military District. It may be all very well for Johnson, but how long can Hancock stand iff THE UNFRIDENT AND GEN, HANCOCK. The message which Mr. Johnson yesterday addressed to Congress is another instance of the had judgmont which has marked his Congressional policy, without novely in form or substance, and provoke bar-ren and acry discussion. At the agent yester was in moving the present commendation to repeal the isaw would sufficiently entraodinary. It was a gracultons ac-tack upon, the Congressional policy, without novely in form or substance, and having no other tendency than to revive irritation and provoke bar-ren and acry discussion. Net the mode credulous could suppose that the recommendation to repeal the isaw would excite any other response than deriator. And this has been its only tanafole effect. By a strict party vote, without debate or delay, the House has altimed its resolve to abide by the law as itstands. Now comes a similar but sharter document from the endes once with reference to Gen. Hancock and his late order. The order itself is seellent in spirit and sound in principle, but its expediency is to be tested. If may or may not be justified by results, and till these bo reached the General is that of an opponent of the law an enemy of the policy which he is required to ad-minater. To make the matter still works, the freedent is an enemy of the policy which he is required to ad-minater. To make the matter still works, the freedent of the district commanders, and to explore the washingto Above all other officers by comparing his conduct to Washingtons. It is not surprising that the reading of this message in the Mouse clicited shouts of laughter. In its conception, in fis temper and purposes, it is so prediminently funny that the inquiry as to its confinences was not imreasons-ble. We shall be glad if merriment be the only answer which it clicits. If considered sslouly, it would be con-demned as macalled for, if not singoutherst, and in either scase its influence would be mischlevous. Mr. Jonnson's duty like Gen. Hancek's is to atominister the law as it is, whether he like it or not; and there is nothing that we know of in the Constitution which makes it incumbent on him to flug the charge of unconstitutionality or despo-tism in the face of (ongress, as often as a preter for tism in the face of (ongress, as often as a doing so can be found.
