Remarkable Case of Trance-Visions of an Indiana Servant Girl. (From the Indianspolis Herald, Dec. 14) The people living in the vicinity of White-land, Johnson county, have recently been very much excited over a matter which, to the last is very strange. Savaral model very much excited over a matter which, to say the least, is very strange. Several weeks aince Miss Van Arsdale, a young woman about seventeen years old, living at the house of a family near Whiteland, in the capacity of a servant, was taken sick with something like bysterics. She had been confined to her bed a little over a week, when, to all ap-pearances, she died. The body, however. bed a fittle over a week, when, to all appearances, she died. The body, however, did not entirely lose its warmth, and a very slight pulseremained. The people with whom she was living supposed she was dead, and were making preparations to bury her, when the physician interfered, forbidding any such step. After remaining in this state twelve ours, consciousness returned, and the girl conounced herselt much better. She then ent on to describe her sensations and expe- "Bowen's GUM ARABIC SECRETS" quiet Coughs, went on to describe her sensations and expe-nences during the trance, averring that she had visited heaven and hell, and had con-versed with the Saviour and many persons whom she had known on earth. She spoke of: seeing persons in both places who had recently died; in heaven, a young man named Quinn, who, although at one time a professor of religion, had, in the last year or two of his life led a bad life; in hall, the two men-Hatchell and Patterson, who were lynched at "Bower, Sixth and Ynaesters." quiet Coughs, theathe inflamed surfaces, relieve hearseness, pains, sheathe inflamed surfaces, relieve hearseness, pains, etcathe inflamed surfaces, relieve hearseness, pains, sheathe inflamed surfaces, relieve hearseness, pains, strate sources of the breast, a tough morning phleym, and inpart much comfort in Bronchial Irritations. Miss Van Arsdele sent for a number of persons in the neighborhood, and not only imparted to them news of lost friends, but told of sins com-Grover news of lost friends, but told of sins com-mitted by them, supposed to be unknown by any one. Among others there was a man who had participated in the execution of the men named above, she told him that he had been there that night (which he acknowl; edged), and had, in the sight of God, com; mitted murder. Previous to this the names of the band had been kept a prolound se-cret, and this man had not even been sus-pected. She narrated a good many strange things, relating mainly to individuals, both in this world and the other, many of which it would have been impossible for her to have invented.

But the strangest part of the story is yet to come. A few hours after the expiration of the first trance she predicted that she would nave another, and told to a minute the time at which it would commence and at which it would end. Everything turned out as she had said; at the exact time she fell into the same state. In an ordinary trance, or cata-leptic state, respiration is not suspended, but in this case breathing could not be observed. She was to all appearances dead; but the pulse beat faintly and the body was not cold. All sensation was gone. The physician made numerous experiments, Difking the holy openies. ave another, and told to a minute the time not could. All sensation was gone. The physician made numerous experiments, pricking the body, opening the veius, and so forth, to discover if there could be any deception. In the end he was perfectly convinced that there was none. At the expiration of the time set by herself she came to, and in a few hours was well enough to leave her bed and go about the house. The story of her experience in the set of the time set by herself she to leave her bed and go about the house. The story of her experience in the second flagrant sin: her authority for this prediction ilagrant sin; her authority for this prediction was that the Loid himself had told her so. This is certainly a strange thing. The girl is uneducated, and has lived about as a ser-vant over since she was able to work. Sho has always borne a good character for truth-fulness, and is a member of a church. She is almost the last person in the world to have manufactured such stories and the world to have manufactured such stories, and the thing especially noticeable is the fact of her sending for persons to whom, before her illness, she would have been afraid to have spoken, and conversing with them without the least restraint; and telling them stories
