____ Last night, Horticultural Hall made a na row escape from destruction by fire. Flames were discovered under the main floor of the building and but for the fact that a number of experienced firemen were congregated in the Hall, on the occasion of a ball, we should probably have to record the total destruction of this late addition to the public structures of the city. It was the old story: "a defective flue," or "a defect in the wood-work surrounding a flue." This excuse might answer for buildings crected before we had laws providing safeguards against such mishaps, ing apparatus was well understood: but there is no excuse for the occurrence of such three at this time, and under such circumstances mon sense, whether he be a practical mechanic or not, knows that in the construction of flues and heating apparatus, the surround ing wood-work will be exposed to certain degree of heat. If this wood work is left exposed, either 'through the parsimony of owners or the recklessness of ignorance of builders, it should be known and the censure should rest where it belongs Every fire is a public calamity and the public have a direct interest in the prevention b conflagrations. The Fire Marshal's duties partake somewhat of the nature of a Coroner's inquest. He performs them faithfully and well, and if, upon the occasion of a fire from this too common cause he would make public the names of the persons responsible for the disaster, we would hear less of fires from

"defective flues" and the "ignition of the wood-work around heaters." New York, Jan. 2.—The first day of the New Year passed very quietly in this city and the suburbs. It rained nearly all day, and the commingled snow and water that lay in the streets ankle-deep interfered very seriously with the plans of those who had proposed to make many calls. People for the most part staid within doors, and the Knickerbocker custom, except by its most inveterate adherents, was "more honored in the breach than in the observance."

At the City Hall the Mayor and the New County Clerk and Sheriff received their friends and office seekers. The anniversary was passively enjoyed at the Institutions, as elsewhere, as a day of rest rather than an occasion for extraordiof rest rather than an occasion for extraordinary demonstrations.

Tuesday night, or at an early hour yesterday morning, the Brooklyn Bank, in Front street, a tew doors from Fulton, was broken into by burgars, who undoubtedly thought they would have but little trouble in carrying off a large amount of money. Their plans were well laid, and but little trouble in carrying on a large amount of money. Their plans were well laid, and they succeeded in gaining an entrance to the building seemingly very easy, Adjoining the bank (which is only one story in height) is a large tenement house having a window of the third story which overlooks the roof of the bank. Gen. Swayne is to be, in all probability, one of the United States Senators from regenerated Alabama. So much may be considered gained.
