THE MEESER CASE New Trial Refused.

dant, into three classes.

The first complains that the indictment is defective, be record and third assign errors in the admission of evidence upon the trial.

We shall dispose of them in this order;

First—It is said that the indictment is defective, be cause "the writing sectout does not purport on the face of it to be writting sectout does not purport on the face of it to be writting, and the inuendoes which undertake to enlarge or change the sense of the words are null and vold."

The Commonwealth replies that this objection comes too late, after veidict, and that the indictment is sufficient.

As a motion to quash was made, I feel disposed to consider the objection, although I do not remember that my attention was then called to this allegation.

After consultation with my brethren, we are all of opinion that the indictment is sufficient.

The New York Money Market.

[From Today's Herald.]

January 3.—The gold market was firmer in tone to-day than it has been of late, and there was considerable speculative activity on the bull-side. The extreme range was from 133 to 153, with closing transactions prior to the adjournment of the board and subsequently at 1337. There was a brick borrowing demand from the bears and loans were made without interest and at one, two and three per cent for carrying. The gross clearings amounted to $47,160.004, the g-id balances to $1,577,737 and the currents balances to $3,577,737 and the currents balances to $3,577,737 and the currents balances to $3,537,747 the surry disbursements in payment of bonds and coupons due on the list inct, amounted to about four millions and a half up to the close of business yesterday, and the supply from this source has had the effect of reducing the borrowing rates, but not of strengthening confidence amount the bears in a lower premium. The receipt of United States honds from Europe to-day favored the builts, and so also did the rero-t that General Butter contemplates introducing a bill in favor of restoring the currency withd awn from circulation during the past year, as well as the statement that General Howard, of the Freedmen's Bureau, favors a loan of thirty millions, more or loss, to the South, according a lien upon real estate and crops as security.
