capitalists shrink from those enterprises which would employ and paprove society. What has made, England and Seotland great ought to have the same effect in Ircland, if we followed their example. See how Leeds has grown up while Exotor declined, because the woolen trade flitter from one to the other; how Sheffield has surpassed Sallsbury in fame and for-tune, as the result of the cutlery trade leaving the one and settling in the other; how the iron DISAPPEARED .--- The show, comprising a dout headed girl, snakes, &c., which was located Jones's Hotel building, opposite the BULLE offices 5 moter bunning, opporte the industry office, for some time past, has disappoared, grea to the relief of promenaders who were compell to force their way through the crowds will gathered on the side walk, and the business peop in the neighborhood, who were much anno by the grinding of a hand-organ from morn until night.

tune, as the result of the cuttery trade leaving the one and settling in the other: how the from manufacture has made the North of England so important, and secured the Crown from the feu-dal families who rivalled it in wealth and power. Then, look at Dundee, and what would it be un-less it had its linen manufactures employing 55,000 people, its engineering, iron ship-building, and other trades? And there is Barrow-in-Furness, whose inhabitants, within living memories, did not amount to more than 6fty; now the population is at least twenty thou sand, occupying such a position of importance as to have a municipal charter—all owing to its iron mines and the remuuerative employment FIRE AT A COAL OIL-ESTABLISHMENT .- Ab eight o'clock this morning a still house attach to the coal oil establishment of Joseph. LARCENY .- Chas. Anderson, a German, arrested last night by the Harbor Police, at De The Ine the decine of the fine in the intermed-ture and linen market. What is there to hinder trade doing for all Ire-land what it has done for Belfast, or Leeds, or Shefield, or Dundee, or Barrow-in-Furness, or Shefield, or Dundee, or Barrow-in-Furness, or Scores of other places which might be named! The Irish are apt to learn, fond of comfort, un-dergo voluntary exile in the hope of attaining independence, and are always disposed to earn and invest money. This is their natural charac-ter, but it is completely destroyed by the politi-cal habits in which they are trained. They will conspire for Ireland, commit murder for Ireland, and die on the scaffold for Ireland; but they will not live in peace with their neigh-bors and work for Ireland, without which vir-tues Ireland would return to barrenness if they had it in their own management to-morrow. waro avenue and Market streets, upon charge of the larceny of a horse and wagon, was taken before Alderman Hurley, and was co mitted in default of $1,000 bail to answer. provement of Ireland, the revolutionary party has never-adopted one that could be reckoned practical? Whether the conspirators be Young Irelanders or Fenians, no matter what they call themselves, they followed the Fates in a project which could not be realized, and, if realized, would leave our country in a worse condition than ever. Any man in his senses might see that some four millions of Roman Catho-lie Irishmen (which is over-estimating the number considerably), could nevor wrest this island from the grasp of England, with her population of twenty millions, recruiting her armies from some three hundred millions of subjects, and having her fleet ruling in every sea. Fon TRENTON.--- A large number of politicia left Camden in the various trains to-day, to present in Trenton at the organization of t subjects, and having hor fleet ruling in every sea.
