SINGULAR ACCIDENT .- An accident, which came near being attended with a fatal result, occurred to an aged lady named Simons, residing on Crease street, between Girard avenue and Wildey street, in the Eighteenth Ward, on Wednesday evening last. She had gone into the yard for the evening last. She had gone into the yard for the purpose of putting up a clothes line. She had attached one end of the rope to a fence-post, having the remainder of the line around her clow and hand. While walking across the yard she trod upon a hillock of snow, and immediately felt something give way under her feet. Supposing that it was the snow, she paid no attention to the matter; but before she had time to take another step she found herself sinking down into the earth very rapidly. She clung to the rope, and called lustly for help for nearly three hours. Some of the neighbors were nearly three hours. Some of the neighbors were startled by her cries, but none of them could discern from whence the sound proceeded. Finally her call for help led the lady living in the adjoining house to look into the yard. There she discovered the top of Mrs. Simons' head projecting covered the top of Mrs. Simons' head projecting an inch or two above the snow, and traced the clothes line to the same place. Assistance soon arrived, and the unfortunate woman was dragged from her peritons position. The rope was tightly twisted around her arm, and she was completely exhausted, and swooned away immediately afterwards. It seems that the hole through which she was so suddenly precipitated was formerly an old well, and had been floored over with boards, then a coating of dirtlaid with bricks. Of this fact the family were not aware. The rope that was attached to Mrs. Simons, no doubt, saved her from a dreadful death. The well is ten or twelve fect deep, and death. The well is ten or twelve feet deep, and had she gone to the bottom she would have either suffocated or drowned.

-Freiligrath, the greatest of the living poets of Germany, is a fat old gentleman. For many years he has been cashier of a bank in London; but he will new return to his old home at Barmen, in Rhenish Prussis, and pass there the re-mainder of his days in the enjoyment of the handsome capital collected for him by his friends and admirers in all parts of the world. -Flake's Galveston Bulletin says: "Our military people seem to regard Texas as the Cinder-ella of the national household." It complains that Texas remained nine months longer under martial law than any the of other Southern States; that it was left out of the distribution of the Peabody Fund, and that General Hancock now issues rations for Louisiana, but none for Texas. -Ex-King Francis II. was recently so hard up that he had to sell sixty thousand frances' worth of his wife's jewelry. On the same day, his uncle, Court Trapani, won severty thousand frances at faro from the Roman Duke of Grazioli, son of the celebrated money lender who was originally a baker and got rich by buying for a song the jewels which the French soldiers had stolen at Loretto.

A Lady Poisoned in Third Avenue.—Mrs. C. Parker, residing at 322 Third avenue, N. Y., being engaged in the landable operation of cleaning house, was so unfortunate as to got a small particle of Paris green in to a wound on her inger. Great agony was the result. To prevent the virus entering her body, the physicians had her arm tightly corded. The terrible pain made her almost frantic. Getting worse very tast under the medical treatment, she resolved, as a last resort, to go to Dr. Wolcott's office. No. 170 Chatham square, N. Y., and 622 Arch street, Philadelphis, where all pain of every nature was advertised as being removed free of charge. The ligature was removed. Dr. Wolcott applied his curious remedy, Pain Paint, with a brush. Mrs. Parker want home entirely free from pain and has had no attack since. In all human probability she would have died in a few hours unless immediate relief had come to her resone. The Doctor is well known to the whole community. He has occupied his present place of business nearly six years, How well he has succeeded is patent to everybody. He established his old standard remedy for Catarrh and colds in the head many years ago, the Instant Pain Annihilator, the present sales of which are over 100,000 bottles each month. All bottles are sold to everybody under a guarantee, and every person applying is told so most distinctly. The Pain Paint, his new remedy, has at present a larger sale than any medicine ever offered to the public in so short a time, and has caused more wonder and consternation among physicians than anything over before offered. When all medical skill has utterly falled, Pain Paint has saved thousands of hopeless cases already. He keeps his office open till 9 o'clock at night (not open Sundays). He tells the public emphatically not to touch any of his remedies unless in pure outside wrappers.
