A Destructive Fire

An Extensive Laboratory Partly Burned

THE LOSS AND INSURANCES.

This morning, about a quarter past seven o'clock, a fire broke out in the extensive laboratory of Messrs. Powers & Weightman, at the corner of Ninth and Parrish streets, in the Thirteenth Ward. The establishment is very large, extending from Parrish to Brown streets, and along the latter street people to Tenth street, and along the latter street nearly to Tenth street, and comprises several substantial brick buildings used for various purposes connected with the manufacture of drugs.

The fire originated in the building on Brown street, which extended from Kessler to Palm streets, 100 feet, and was four stories in height. This structure was used principally for the manufacture of quinine and alcohol. In the southwestern part of the building, on the first floor, was a large tank of alcohol. This exploded. The head was blown out and the vapor scattered throughout the entire room earting it The head was blown out and the vapor scattered throughout the entire room, setting it in a blaze is a moment. The explosion did not make a loud report, but resembled somewhat the dumpting of a cartload of coal on the sidewalk. There was great force in the explosion, however, as a portion of the wall on Palm street was blown out. There were several workmen in the room at the time. They were somewhat in the room at the time. They were somewhat scalded about the head, face and body, but none were seriously injured. They all succeeded in escaping from the building.

Owing to the combustible nature of the contents of the building, the fire spread with fearful rapidity, and in about five minutes the building at Palm and Brown streets was all in flames. The powerful steam pumps and other apparatus, always keptready in case of fire, were immediately put in operation by the workmen in the establishment, and the alarm was given by telegraph. The Fire Department was soon on and and got to work energetically to subdue the flames.

For upwards of two hours the fire raged furi-ously, threatening the destruction of the entire establishment. A fresh breeze was blowing from the southwest, and cinders and an immense vol-ume of dense black smoke were carried in a northeasterly direction for several squares, causing much fear and apprehension among the residents in that section.

The building on Brown street was entirely burned out, and its contents were consumed. There was no machinary beyond ordinary chemical apparatus used for manufacturing purposes, but there was considerable stock in process of manufacture.

A range of buildings on Palm street, three stories in height and 150 feet in length, was like-wise destroyed. This structure was also used for manufacturing purposes.

North of this was a large fire-proof building, North of this was a large fire-proof building, and the heat was so intense that the iron doors soon became red hot, but they successfully resisted the flames, and thus the progress of the fire was stopped. As before stated, about two hours clapsed before the firemenhad succeeded in sufficiently mastering the fire to make it sure that the entire establishment would not be destroyed, but the ruins continued to burn for several hours ofter that and many of the fire companies were after that, and many of the fire companies were

At the N.W. corner of Palm and Brown streets stands a double three-storied brick building, be-longing to the same firm, and used as a carpenter shop. This escaped the flames in as a carpen-ter shop. This escaped the flames in consequence of the wind being in an opposite direction, but was pretty well flooded with water. In the rear of this structure was a pile of lumber which took fire and was almost entirely consumed. Beyond the lumber pile is a row of small houses which escaped destruction, but were considerably scorched. The furniture of the occu pants was removed and was somewhat damaged The cornices of some of the houses on the south side of Brown street were scorched by the

As this is about the commencement of the quinine season the fire will somewhat interfere with the operation of the firm, but their establishment is so extensive that they will be able to fill all orders with but little delay.

No person will be thrown out of employment in consequence of the fire, as those employed in the buildings destroyed will be set to work in other portions of the laboratory.

A portion of the wall of the building on Brown street, near the corner of Palm, fell while the fire was at its height, having been forced from its position when the explosion of the alcohol tank occurred. A fireman with a hose pipe in his hand was struck on the head by one of the falling bricks and was felled to the ground, but was not seriously injured.
Powers & Weightman's Laboratory is one of the oldest, (if not the oldest) establishments in the United States. Its founder was Mr. John Farr, an English chemist of great skill, who, in conjunction with Mr. Abraham Kunzi, a Prussian, began to manufacture chemicals in a building at Fourth and Coates streets, more than fifty years ago. The key to their success was the discovery by Mr. Farr, of the secret of the manufacture of quinine. This drug had hitherto been produced by French chemists only, and as they produced by French chemists only, and as they refused to divulge the secret, and as other chemists had striven in vair to discover it, the manufacturers enjoyed an entire monopoly of the market of the world, and commanded an extravagant price for their production.

Half a century ago Mr. Farr applied himself persistently to an effort to acquire the art of making the quinine, and his efforts were finally crowned with that complete success which secre crowned with that complete success which so often attends the application of great learning and keen intelligence to an investigation. Mr. Farr at first kept his secret to himself, but manufactured the article while in partnership with Mr. Kunzi. The quinine produced by him was actually superior in quality to the French article, but the popular prejudice was in favor of the latter, and although the former commanded a ready sale, it did not bring as great a price as the imported article. Gradually, however, it drove the latter out of the market, and for many years Mr. Farr supplied the whole continent of Ame-

The secret was faithfully kept for a long period, but it was finally entrusted to workmen whom he was compelled to employ to assist him, and through their treachery it was disposed of to other parties. When the extent of the business authorized it, Messrs. Farr & Kunzi moved to the corner of Ninth and Brown streets, and as the deeped upon their productive capacity in the demand upon their productive capacity in-creased, new buildings were constantly added. About thirty-six years ago Mr. Kunzi with-drew, and within a period of one or two years afterwards, Mr. Farr associated with him in his business Mr. William Weightman, his nephew, and Mr. Thomas H. Powers, both of them then

The business increased rapidly, and in a few years an extensive establishment designed for the manufacture of certain coarse drugs which were to be made in large quantities, was built at the Falls of the Schuylkill, and this branch is still in active operation. On the 1st of March, 1847, twenty-one years are to-mercey. Wr. Farr died. active operation. On the 1st of March, 1847, twenty-one years ago to-morrow, Mr. Farr died. Messrs. Powers and Weightman then assumed entire control of the business which he had established upon so firm a basis, and in their hands it had become of absolutely remendous proportions. The establishment is the largest in the United States, and the high character of its productions is recognized and known actually the world over. They manufacture all kinds of drugs, but their specialty has ever been a superior article of epecialty has ever been a superior article of suinine. The other delicate and finer chemicals stid not receive as much attention as the coarser stinds which were produced in enormous quanti-

The buildings contained large quantities of in farmable material, and every precaution was used against fire. There was a complete system of hose, engines and plugs in the establishment patrolled at all hours by a large force of private watchmen. The bollers had been carefully examined by experts only last week, and no danger whatever was apprehended from them.

EARLE'S SALE OF PICTURES. - There was a large assemblage of lovers of art in the Foyer of the Academy last evening, when Mr. B. Scott. Jr., commenced a public sale of pictures recently col-lected by James S. Earle & Sons. The bidding was at times quite spirited, but the prices ob-tained were generally very low. Still the whole amount of the evening's sales reached between eleven and twelve thousand dollars. We give below a list of the most important pictures sold, with their prices:

House Robbery.—The dwelling of Dr. Lewis Hunter, No. 1506 Walnut street, was robbed yesterday of diamonds valued at $800 and $27 in money. The back part of the house is undergoing repairs, and several workmen are engaged upon it. Yesterday afternoon a young man who represented himself as a workman, entered the house and passed up stairs. He soon afterwards came down, and politely bidding the servant "good-bye," departed. It was subsequently ascertained that a trunk in one of the upper rooms had been broken open, and the diamonds and money abstracted. The residence of Chas. F. Koons, No. 1508, adjoining, was robbed of come jewelry shout the same time. some jewelry about the same time.

Religious.—The Special Union Services now being held in Concert Hall, on Sunday evenings, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, are very successful. Interesting prayer meetings are held in the Rooms of the Association after the service in the Hall. The astendance was so large last Sunday, that two meetings were held in the building. The interest of these services is to be increased by the addition of a fine choir, under the direction of Prof. Bower. Rev. Wm. P. Breed, D. D., will preach to-morrow night. Subject..."Theatres."

ROBBERY IN A PASSENGER CAR.-A one-armed man, a conductor on the Spruce and Pine Street Passenger Railway, laid upon the seat in his car, a pocket-book containing $67. The wallet was immediately selzed by a man in the car, who got out and ran off. The alarm was given, and the thiet was pursued and captured by Policeman Webb. He gave his name as Charles Gallagher, and after a hearing before Ald. Morrow was committed to answer at Court.

RUNAWAY AND ACCIDENT .- A horse attached to sleigh ran away at Thirty-fourth and Bridge streets last evening. The horse dashed into a passenger train on the Pennsylvania Railroad and was killed. The sleigh was badly wrecked. A Mr. Speakman, the occupant, was thrown out and was seriously injured.

> A SMALL BOTTLE. A little Paint, a bottle small, Leads all to purchase more; A taste at first creates the call. Yea, opens wide the door.

Five dollar bottles take the run From small and tiny things. The greatest good that Paint has done Starts from these little springs.

Physicians may persuade you that medicines n the stomach are useful. I know and can prove that they always injure the health, shorten life, and are the greatest curse existing in the nation. Common sense, natural law and instinct alike condemn their use. What no beast will eat or drink is unfit for human. A brute knows enough to wade into a pond of water and soak its limbs or body when wounded, and assuage heat and inflammation.

What causes bald heads? simply an unnatural heat and constant inflammation of the head, which dries up the scalp, depriving the hair of nutrition and moisture. It is of vital importance that the head should be kept free of all unnecessary heat. It can be done; headache never exist: neuralgie unknown; the hair would not fall. If you cannot buy PAIN PAINT, apply cold water freely to the head four or five times each day, keep the feet warm at all hazard; "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure;" use PAIN PAINT freely, and not wait until a racking pain from a head full of inflammation sets you almost crazy; keep the head constantly at its proper temperature, and if your hair is thin or falling, it will grow and thicken up. Heads that resemble bald eagles. utterly destitute of hair, need not pick up any encouragement, but they will be repaid by a hundred fold in general health, by keeping their heads free from unnecessary heat and inflam-

DIRECTIONS .- Pour the paint in a dish, and with a large soft brush or sponge, or hand, or a piece of cotton cloth, apply the paint freely over the part or place where pain exists; soak and sop the part affected with paint until pain is removed. In obstinate cases, continue to soak the affected part constantly for twenty minutes or an hour. In cases of high fever, the head, and sometimes the stomach too, should be persistently soaked and kept wet until the fever is broken up. Pain Paint will do it most effectually, and the large bottles are absolutely necessary for the occasion. Ulcers or sores should be well soaked, at least twice a day, and several folds of cotton cloth dipped in paint, kept wet over the part affected. Sometimes it may be necessary to dilute the paint with water and warm it, but cold applications are generally the best, except for very young children or weakly infants. Wolcott's PAIN PAINT leaves no smart: will not color of stain. Price 25c., 50c., $1, half pint $3, pint $5 quart $8. PAIN PAINT reduces and subdues inflammation, heat and fever one hundred times faster than ice. It is absolutely harmless. All physical pain arises from inflammation, put out the fire and pain cannot exist. It is not only: certain remedy for mankind, but for all the ani mal creation. It is perfectly adapted, not only for all pain, but it does permanently cure the worst ulcers, piles, most malignant cancers, burns, fresh wounds, salt rheum, or breaking out on any part of the body; removes pain in stemach, liver, lungs, kidneys, and all internal complaints by a thorough outward application of PAIN PAINT over the part affected. Chronic allments, rheumatism, headache, neuralgia, stiff and enlarged joints, fever sores, fits, etc., require the largest bottles, and the daily, and sometimes hourly, application of this PAINT. Nature heals the most inveterate ulcers if fever and heat are constantly kept down. A little perseverance and patience accomplish the most wonderful results. If you suffer pain, use PAIN PAINT, or call at Dr. Wolcorr's Office, 170 Chatham square, and it will be removed without money or price; one gallon of

PAINT is worth more than $1,000 spent in druging the system. No drug stores in future will be supplied with PAIN PAINT or Pain Annihilator except at retail prices. Therefore, after druggists have disposed of their present stock on hand, my connection with the trade virtually ends forever. Druggists make their profits on prescriptions and drugs. It would be inconsistent for me to divide my profits with those who deal in drugs, or countenance their use. I am, and have been for a long period, opposed to the absurd custom of swallow ing medicine. All pain removed, FREE of Cost, at Branch Office, 622 Arch street, Philadelphia.
