EUROPEAN AFFAIRS

LETTER PROM PARIS.

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. PARIS, Tuesday, March 17, 1868.—The Moniteur of this morning, chimes in with the renewed feel ing of confidence respecting American affairs which I last week represented as having now be come, the prevailing impression in this capital. "Our letters from New York," the official journal says, "represent the commotion raised by the conflict between the President and the majority of the Congress, as every day tending to grow calmer. The fears at first entertained, of an appeal to force between the partisans of Johnson and the defenders of Congress, have not been long in being dissipated; and the public now calmly awaits the result of the accusation directed against the First Magistrate of the Republic."

I can see that this attitude of the American people, at such a momentous crisis of their history, is regarded with a sort of "dazed" feeling by French political men;-with a feellng divided between amazement, admiration and almost incredulity. What! The two chief powers of the State are come to an open rupture, to a joint struggle as to whose authority is to be uppermost, and there is to be no fighting, no homicides, no coup d'état! Such a course of events is so entirely discordant with the general character of what are called "politics" in France, that people here can't believe it possible—any mere than they could believe that a million of Federal soldiers would lay down their arms and march home after the war was over, without some victorious General putting himself at their head and making himself, as they say here, "master of the situation."

This aspect of affairs at home, and the spectacle of two great parties preparing to submit their differences to legal and constitutional arbitrament, instead of deciding them vi et armis, is calculated, as I have said, to create a deep impression in Europe, and will undoubtedly advance immensely the interests of the Republican party in this country especially. The issue of the great military crisis had already dumb-Counded many an adversary of American institutions, both in France and England. If the United States pass as triumphantly through the present political crisis, they will set an example which will give an irresistible impulse towards the further extension of that "United States of Europe" of which Mr. Bancroft sagaciously saw rope from which he was suspended.

the germ in the late reorganization of united Germany.

flection, and opens out quite a contrary prospect year, and has now only four years to run before attaining his legal majority. The event assumes, of course, every year, more and more importance, and is thereand ceremony, because, upon its safe progress felt to depend the fortunes of the Second Empire and its dynasty. Accordingly, yesterday, every birth it commemorated, by having a holiday for play, and to a certain extent even the general population took part in the festival. The army of course was not forgotten to be propitiated. Punishments were remitted, rations and wine increased and decorations distributed. The Emperor reviewed the guards, the Prince attending his father, mounted no longer on his pony, but on a spirited little Arab, which he rode with great case and grace. His little Highness was attired in the full uniform of a superior officer of the Grenadier Guards, and not in the childish costume hitherto worn. He was loudly cheered by the troops, who evidently assigned to him ell the honors of the day. In the evening the Prince "received" a party of sixteen of his "private" friends to dinner in his own "apartment," and proposed the health of "the Emperor and Empress," with all becoming loyalty and gravity. He is growing a fine tall boy, with wonderful manners for his age, and very attractive and engaging from inheriting much of his mother's charm and grace of beauty. But he will need to be n ore of "sterner stuff" than this. if he is to run with success the race that is se before him, and hold his own against the all but inevitable influence of example which, as I have intimated above, are so evidently now setting no longer from East to West, but from West to

The imperial pamphlet, of which I intimated last week the approaching publication, is still looked for with considerable curiosity. It was thought that it might appear on the Prince's birthday, as a sort of new appeal to the loyalty and allegiance of the population. La France says that its title will be "Les Titres de la dynastic Napoleonienne," and that its object will be to recall and freshen up the memory of the plebiscites which founded the empire, the exercise of the right of universal suffrage, and all the consequent action and policy which have marked the imperial regime and stamped it with what is supposed to be its popular and national character. The pamphlet will, now inought, appear as soon as the two bills, at present passing through the Legislature, have "consecrated the principles of the liberty of the press and the right of public meeting." the latter bill, now under discussion, all that can be said is that it is a worthy colleague of the former. The one says that the "press shall be free," and then proceeds to load it with chains lest it should dare attempt to walk; the other allows the people to "meet" indeed, but makes it so perilous for them to open their mouth in public, that they might almost as well stay at home. There is small interest in discussing measures which are so evidently only shams. The disturbances at Toulouse, Nantes, and also at Montauben, on the occasion of the enrollment for the new mobilized National Guard, have contincly ceased. They were never perhaps very alarming; but the promptitude with which they were checked, shows the prodigious military power which the government wields and can reals that tells us the quantity of grain imported into France to supply the deficiency of the last harvest. Since that deficiency became evident, down to the end of last February, 714 millions of hectolites of cereals have entered France from abroad, or nearly 20 millions of bushels. At the port of Marseilles alone, after the suppression of the additional tax on foreign bottoms, nearly 3 millions of bushels were entered in two months against little more than half a million during the two previous months. The same article states the price of the hectolites (about 23, bushels) of wheat at from 26 to 30 francs in th East, and 31 to 36 francs in the centre and southwest of France.

NAPLES, March 30, 1868.—Admiral Farragut will entertain the élite of sockety of this city, with all the prominent civic officials and the army and naval officers of the kingdom serving in the neighborhood, at a grand ball to be given on board the United States ship Franklin, to-

About eleven o clock yesterday morning coroner James Porter, of this city, received a despatch from Middletown requiring his official attendance immediately. Taking a conveyance, he started for that place, and found upon his arrival that Mr. Solomon Landis, an old and respectable eltizen of the place, had committed suicide. Coroner Porter promoter a proposal a jury of the follows. zen of the place, had committed suicide. Coroner Porter promptly summoned a jury of the following named gentlemen: Messrs. Theodore S. Laverty, Michael B. Ramler, Joseph J. McCord, Jno. H. Zearing, Walter I. Kendig and Christian Eshenour. After hearing all the facts in the case, the jury rendered a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to his death by his own hand, from the wilful discharge of a rifle, and that for some time previous to his death he had been some time previous to his death he had been laboring under great anxiety and mental aberra-

The evidence went to show that Mr. Landis had become involved in some difficulty by which he was the loser, pecuniarily, of twelve or fifteen hundred dollars, and that he had brooded and hundred dollars, and that he had brooded and worried over it greatly. It seems that, after cating his breakhast yesterday morning, he seemed more cheerful than usual. He went up stairs, locked the door of his room, teok off his shoes, took his rifle, which was standing loaded to the standing loaded on the standing loaded the standing loaded on the standing loaded th in one corner, walked out of a side door on a balcony, cocked the gun, placed one corner of the stock in a knot-hole in the floor and the muzzle over his heart and then pressed the trigger with the rampod. FIRE IN THE TWENTIETH WARD.-Last night, shortly before twelve o'clock, a fire broke out in a large brick building, No. 1411 Alder street, a large brick building, No. 1411 Alder street, owned by Mr. A. Archer, and occupied by P. P. Weiss & Co., cabinet manufacturers. The building was filled with combustible material, and the flumes spread rapidly. Notwithstanding the efforts of the firemen the structure was gutted, and the contents, comprising a large quantity of material, both in a partly finished and finished condition, was destroyed. The machinery was either ruined or badly damaged. It was owned by Mr. Archer. The loss of Messrs. Weiss & Co. was not ascertained, but it is fully covered by was not ascertained, but it is fully covered by insurance.

The flames communicated to an adjoining house, No. 1413 Alder street, owned by Mr. Archer, and occupied by John Birmingham as a dwelling. This building and its contents were also destroyed. The rear portions of several dwellings on Touth street were considerably damaged. These houses were owned and occupied as follows:

OPPOSED TO A TAX ON FLOUR .- A special meeting of the Commercial Exchange was held this morning in reference to the proposed tax on flour in the bill now before Congress. E. Harper J. ffrice, Esq., presided, and G. Tisdall officiated as Secretary.

Mr. C. J. Hoffman submitted the following,

Mr. C. J. Hoffman submitted the following, which was unanimously agreed to:

Whereas, it has heretofore been the policy of Congress to relieve, as far as practicable, from tantion articles of prime necessity with the propio, amongst which the article of Berau is of first importance; and

Whereas, any tax imposed upon the manufacturer of flour or breadtuint must be paid by the consumers of the saire, thousands of whom are now suffering from the bigh price of flour, and are constantly dinanding a policy that will I ring to their families cheaper bread; and Betreas We have learned from the proceedings of Congress, as retorted in the daily papers, that it is, proposed to impose upon the consumers of bread stuffs, three-fourths of whom are the poor preple of the nation, other taxes than those already paid by the commission merchant as ta: "non his selecan etaxup his income; therefore. Howeved, That we earncetly request our Scuators and Representatives in Congress to exempt breadstuffs (as incretofore) from any tax except that which is paid by the con mission merchant upon his sales, which tax is charged in his account sales to the miller or consigner, and who therefore virtually rays and tax.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings, signed by the President and counterrigned by the Secretary of this Commercial Exchange, be forwarded to each Senator and Representative in Lowers.

A Figurity Swindler.—A man named James O'Connell was arrested yesterday at Soventeenth

O'Connell was arrested yesterday at Seventeenth and Shippen streets, upon the charge of false pre-tences and assault and battery. He had been visiting various houses in the Twenty-sixth ward, for the benefit of a soldler who had lost toth legs. When women answered the doors and refused to contribute, it is alleged he threatened them. Policeman leged he threatened them. Policeman Meanah happened to witness some of the operations of O'Cornell, and arrested him. He offered Manual all he had collected ($4 50) if he would lat him off. This did not work, and while the attention of the officer was temporarily with-drawn from his prisoner, he was struck a violent blow on the temple and was felled to the ground. O'Connell then ran, but the officer got up and pursued him to Seventeenth and Shippen streets, where he captured him after sor Connell was committed by Ald. Patchel.

INTERESTING LECTURE.—We would call attention to a lecture to be delivered this evening at Musical Fund Hall, by Rev. Dr. Allen, of "Old Pine Street" Presbyterian Church, and successor of the lamented Dr. Brainerd. Subject: "Observations and Experiences in the Southwest." The Doctor's experiences prior to, during, and since the rebellion were varied and extensive, and have been woven into an instructive and eloquent lecture. The struggles, sufferings and persistent loyalty of the patriots of the South will always form an interesting page in the history of our country, and while at this time there are so many in our midst prating for sympathy for our 'misguided brethren,' it is well to revive the recollection of the sacrifices made by the loyal Southrons. The Doctor is one of our most eloquent divines, and we trust the hall may be well filled, both as a compliment to the lecturer, and to assist the benevolent object in schalf of which he has kindly consented to speak.

ROBBERS IN A SYNAGOGUE.—The Synagogue on Sixth street, above Brown, was entered on Suntay night, by breaking through the wall at the ar ou Randolph street. The robbers first got uto the Committee-room, where there is a fireproof safe. A hole was bored into the safe and cunpowder was inserted. The safe was blown epen. It was found to contain nothing of any value to the thieves. The papers which were in it were taken out and thrown about the floor of the room. Other portions of the building were ransacked and portions of the building were ransacked and every closet was broken open, but the scoundrels were obliged to leave without obtaining any booty. They left behind them a lot of powder and a blanket, which had been used to prevent the sound of the stones which fell when the wall was being broken through.

Supposed Murder,-The man who was found dead on the Darby road, below Market street, last week, has not yet been identified. It will be remembered that he was shot, and that a pistol was found by his side. It was generally supposed that he had committed suicide. Soveral circumstances which have come to light lead to the impression that the deceased met with foul play, and the Coroner is taking measures to thoroughly investigate the matter. The deceased had on a white felt hat, lowrowned and stiff-brimmed. On the inside was a paper having upon it in German-text the letters "A. G." There was also what appeared to be "A. B." or "A. R.," the last letter being somewhat obliterated by blood.

STOLEN GOODS RECOVERED .- Detectives Stephens and Fuller have succeeded, after considerable difficulty, in recovering a portion of the goods stolen by Jas. Walsh and Henry Morgan, while pretending to inspect the gas-pipes in va-rious private residences. Among the valuables recovered is an ancient watch, formerly the pro-perty of Mayor Robert Wharton; the forks and spoons stolen from 710 Pine street, a pair of gold spectacles, a silver cup, and other articles. The officers deserve credit for their prompt efficiency in the capture of the thieves and the recovery of the property.

VITI BROS.' sale of elegant ornaments, bronzes, statuary, &c., &c., &c., was commenced this morning at 10½ o'clock, by B. Scott, Jr., at the Art Gallery, No. 1020 Chestnut street, and about one-half of the catalogue was disposed of. The sale will be continued at 7½ o'clock this evening, at which time the remainder of the collection will be sold. The four fine monumental figures, which have elicited the approbation of so many visitors and admirers of fine works of art will be visitors and admirers of fine works of art, will be sold at about 9 o'clock.

Straling Muslin.—James Carroll was arrested yesterday, at Seventh and Jayne streets, upon the charge of having stolen four pieces of muslin from the front of the store of Cooper & Conard, at Ninth and Market streets.

BRUTAL OUTRAGE. -At an early hour this morn irg, a gentieman passing by a lot near the Avenue Drove-yard was surprised to see tied to a fence by a rope, and apparently in a much exhausted condi-tion, an individual who, upon inquiry, was ascer-tained to be a native of Obio, bearing the name of B. O. Vine. He had been attacked by unknown men the night before, and, after other cruel treatment, placed in that position and kept there all night. The perpetrators of this outrage have not yet been arrested.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY. - A man named James Belyer was arrested yesterday by Detectives Fuller and Stephens upon the charge of having broken into the blacksmith shop of Chas. J. Neger, Twenty-third street, below Market, on Friday night, March 20. A lot of stone-cutter's tools, which were stolen, were found in the house of Belyer. The accused will have a hearing this afternoon at the Central Station.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.—This morning, about 11 o'clock, David Walker, aged 35 years, owner of a planing mill at Sixteenth and Flixwater streets, was caught in the belting. One leg was dragged from the socket, and the other leg was broken. His head was badly injured. He was conveyed to his home, Sixteenth street, below Fitzwater, and his recovery is considered georgely now. and his recovery is considered scarcely pos-

Correction.—A statement has been published that a child in Camden had died from taking a dose of laudaumm, sold in mistake for paregoric, at the drug store of Mr. Test. An investigation before the Coroner has elicited the fact that the child died from an over-dose of paregorie, and, moreover, there was no proof that the medicine was bought at Mr. Test's store.

BOARDING-HOUSE THIEF. - Richard Palmer was before Ald. Morrow this morning, upon the charge of having stolen a gold watch and chain from a boarding-house at Sixth and Spruce attests. The watch was sold to a tavern-keeper, and by him sold to an unknown party. Palmer acknowledged the theft, and was held in $800 bail for trial.

Chief-Justice's Right to Decide Questions

FROM BOSTON.

Delegates to the Chicago Convention

The Impeachment Trial. Especial Despatch to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.] Washington, March 31st .- Mr. Van Horn said there was one remark of Mr. Thomas's which he did not take down at the time, and Mr. Butler desiring to know what it was, Mr. Van Horn said that Mr. Thomas said to Mr. Stanton, in the conversation, that he did not want any unpleasantess with him. Mr. Moorhead, the next witness, another Congressman present at the time, gave from his original memoranda an account of the interview. Cross-examination of this witness was also made by Mr. Stanbery, and some points of it created considerable merriment, as when he clicited the fact that Gen. Thomas did not go armed to take possession of the War Office.

Mr. Moorhead saying there was some unimportant conversation which he did not remember, such as jocose remarks, Mr. Stanbery tried to get him to recollect some of these "jokes," but without success. The examinations by the Managers have thus far been very brief, while the counsel take it very easily, and evidently seem disposed to use up as much time as possible.

Mr. Burleigh, delegate from Dakotah, was the next witness. On being asked it he knew Gen. Thomas. Mr. Stanbery wished to know what the prosecution expected to prove by this witness. Mr. Butler announced that they expected to prove that General Thomas intended to obtain possession of the War Office by force. Mr. Stanbery objected to the testimony of the witness, and the Chief Justice decided that the evidence was inadmissible. Mr. Drake made a point that the Chief Justice had no power to decide such a question. He proceeded to speak in support of his view, but was called to order by Mr. Johnson, the question not being debatable. Mr. Chase stated the position to be that the Chief Justice, as presiding officer, had a right to decide legal points, and that any Senator differcision should stand as the sense of the Court.

Mr. Butler rose and asked if this right also exended to Managers, and the Chief Justice said he thought it did not. Mr. Butler proceeded to speak in opposition to the decision of the Chair. He did not consider the Chief Justice a member of the Court, and insisted as a vital point that he could not stand between the Managers and the Senate, to prevent them from submitting on the part of the House of Representatives a question of law, except by the courtesy of some Senators. He cited precedents from English impeachment trials in support of his position. The Chief Justice re-stated his position that it was his duty to decide upon further admissible evidence, subject to the decision of the Senate. should any Senator desire to have the question submitted, and said that the question before the Senate now was whether his view should be sus tained. Mr. Drake excitedly interposed at this point, saving that he objected to the right of the Chief Justice to decide a question of this kind, and was rapped down as out of order.

Mr. Conkling asked to have the rule of the Senate in relation to this subject read, which was done, and Mr. Bingham then spoke briefly in opposition to the right of the Chief Justice to decide any question.

Senator Wilson moved that the Senate retire for consultation, which proposition seemed to meet with general disapproval. Mr. Sherman submitted in writing a question, asking the managers for information as to American precedents on this subject. Mr. Boutwell followed in an argument that the Constitution vested in the Senate exclusive authority over all questions which could arise in

Mr. Bingham then read an abstract of authorities on the subject. Mr. Butler then read from trial of Judge Chase to show that the presiding officer at that time did not decide incidental questions of law which arose, but submitted them to the Senate. Mr. Evarts very briefly argued that the Chief Justice should make preliminary decisions on interlocutory questions.

The question being then put and the ayes and nays being called, whether the Senate should retire for deliberation, the vote stood-ayes 25, nays 25, and the Chief Justice announced that he voted in the affirmative, declaring the motion

THE STUATION IN JERSEY CITY.

The headquarters of the Eric Directors in Jersey City were literal y besieged yesterday by sumerous parties from New York, anxious to ascertain the whereabouts of Mr. Jay Gould, whose departure from Jersey City was exclusively reported in yesterday's Tribune. Not withstanding the many inquiries, very little information was obtained beyond the fact that Mr. Gould actually left on Saturday evening, but his present whereabouts are only known to the Directors, who are decidedly reticent. The report in yesterday's Tribune stated that it was surmised by those who were supposed to be well informed, that Mr. Gould would turn up somewhere in Ohio, whither he had gone fon sotiate for the building of the Broad Gauge connection. The only information that could be obtained in reference to the truth of thi rumor was the assertion, by knowing ones, that if Mr. Gould did not make his appearance in the Word, it would be in a loc-lity where he, would cause the Vanderbilt party much more ampeaue. The information that Governor Ward had signed the bill passed by the Logislature making the Eric a New Jersey corporation, was received at headquarters at 10 colock?. M. The monthly meeting of the Directors which takes place on the 4th of April, will probably be held in New Jersey.

The Paris Liberts relates an anecdote of Rossini. A composer lately begged to be introduced to the macetro. He was kindly received and asked to play one of his works. The visitor seated himself at the plane and began to bound, best and basg it, played with his nose, his feet, nis elbows, and at last stopped, exhausted. "What is that?" asked Rossini. "It is a fumeral march which I composed at the death of Meyer-beer. How do you like it, my great master" "Not bad, only it would have been worth more if you had died, and Meyer-boor had written the music."
