With all it simplicity and purity there is no article that will compare with it as a beautifier of the complexion and preserver of the stin. and in case of like disability of any officer of an excutive department other than the head, the President might authorize an officer of the sume department to perform his duties for the space of six months.

It is remarkable that in all these statutes, from 1789 down, no provision is made for the case of a removal or that anybody is empowered to act for the removed officer, the chief clerk being empowered to take charge of the books and papers only.

There are several other cases wherein the validity of acts of Congress have been discussed before the Supreme Court, but none where the decision has turned on that point.

In Marbury vs. Madison (1 Cranch, 137), Chief Justice Marshall dismissed the case for want of jurisdiction, took opportunity to deliver a chiding opinion against the administration of Jefferson before he did with it as a beautifier of the complexion and preserver of the skin.

M. C. McClusky purchased the receipt of him some tax years ago; he has since that time given it a perfect tria among his personal friends and the aristocratic circles of Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, Boston, New Orleans St. Louis, Savannah, Charleston, Wilminton, N. C., dc. They have used it with unqualified admiration, and would consider the toilet imperfect without this delightful and purely harmless preparation. Victoria Regia and Orcelia de Persia has given such entire satisfaction in every instance, that he is now compelled to offer it to the public. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever attempted, and is warranted

Does not this series of acts conclusively demonstrate a legislative construction of the Constitution that there could be no removal of the chief of an executive department by the act of the President save by the nomination and annointment of his successor.
