THE HUSSELLVILLE (R.X.) BANK HOBEERY. Capture of Onc of the Gang-A Modern Jack Sheppard-The Trail and Camp of the Kobbers. If you the Louisville Daily Courier of March 23.1 Our renders are already fawiliar with the particulars of the Russelville bank robbery by six desperadoes, who made ther eccupe. Un churchy morning Defective Bitgp and Galager arrested one of the gang named J. W. Sheppard, at the vilage of Chaptain in Nelson county, about torty-five miles from the city. From Officer Bilgh we learn the following interesting particulars concerning the fight of the robbers and the arrest of Jack Sheppard: On Baturday last detective Bilgh vieted Busselville, at the instance of the officers of the bank, and was farnished with all the particulars of the robbery. and a description of the men. He ascertained that after leaving the sail-to a baturday last detective Bilgh vieted Busselville the gang went in the diffection of Bowling Green, passing the size went and Worten count es, crossing the rail-to a batween Frankin and Woodburn. They camped out the art subpht in a bottom on Barren river, near Clay-pool's null. A man living in the neighborhood was at-iractid by the light of a campfire at about midnight. He walked toward the spect to see what was up. When he got within a hudred virids of the place from whence the light proceeded he aiscovered a party of five or six meas sitting around the bire, apparently handling papers and hank notes. He returned cautionity, having a grave suspicior that all was net right. Of course he had not heard of the bank robbery. Beiore daylight the gang dis-section that all was net right. Of course he had not heard with a heart obyging day the news of the robbery reached that place, and he alarun was given. The exit-zens started in pursuit, following their trail for a number of miles. The young man very absurdly replied that he could get along; very much more comfortably without a wife than he could with-out his weed, and consequently the proposed marriago "ended in smoke." -A bill has been favorably reported in the N.Y. Assembly, which requires that every street car in New York and Brooklyn "shall, on or before the first day of May next, have divisions affixed to the sents, similar to those now in use on ferry boats within said cities, such divisions to be placed at least twenty inches apart." It adds that on cars which have no such divisions, passengers need not pay any fare. -Mr. Sothern, the comedian, while hunting with Baron Rothechild's hounds, very nearly met, with a severe accident. The actor just saved his leg by a quick motion. The horse (Blazes), well known with the Baron's hounds, was shot. -There is a famous investor of fashions in Paris named Worth. "When this truly great man is composing," says a correspondent, "he reclines on a sofa, and one of the young ladies of the establishment plays "Verdi" to him; he comthe establishment plays "Verdi" to him; he com-poses chiefly in the evening, and says that rays of the setting sun gild his conceptions. Like every great genius, he is very modest, and thinks-the very weakest tea of himself. Last week he-told the Duchesse de — that he could give her a dress, but he could not supply style." -The Friends' Review assorts that there have always been in the Society of Friends persons, who possessed the power of foretelling futures events: "Many living witnesses can te i remark-able and well-authenticated instances among our own members within their own memory. Among own members within their own memory. Among: these of this class, thus extraordinarily gifted, we have scarcely need to name Arthur Howell, Samuel Emlen, Nathau Hunt, Thomas Scatter-good, George Dillwyn, Joseph John Gurney, Stephen Greilet, Jos. Hoag. Avd still, degenerate as the times or the people may seem, there are those walking the earth who are imbund with "The spirit of the fervent days of old, When words were things that came to pass, and thought Flashed o'er the future.'" thought Flashed o'er the future.'" —A correspondent, signing himself "Ply-month," grows facetious, as follows, over a state-ment made in this column yesterday. Of course, a typographical error caused the difficulty. Mr. Gough has lectured 5,400 times, that is, 200 times every year since he began his career, in 1843: "I have had the pleasure of listening to Mr. Gough during his lecturing tours for many years-past, and am somewhat familar with his face and figure, and I certainly was not prepared to learn that he had reached the advanced age of 168 years, as I find he has from a paragraph in the 'Fact and Fancy' column in yesterday's Bur-LETIN. If Mr. G. had delivered one lecture per day, from the date of his birth, to deliver 54,000 liccures would make him at the present time 147 years, 11 months and 15 days old : but if we sup-pose him to have commenced his lecturing career when he was, say 21 years of age, he would now be about 168 years old. And supposing as you state, 1,000 persons to have been the seve-rage attendance upon the 54,000 lectures de-livered, he must have lactured before 54,000 on persons, or a number about equal to the present resultion of Great Britain and the United livered, he must have fectured science 50,000,000 persons, or a number about equal to the present population of Great Britain and the United States. Certainly Mr. Gough is getting into the "shear and yeller leat"-to horrow from A. Ward-but it must be confessed that he search his ago remarkably well. It is gratifying indeed to have such a record as this, as the memorandum of what one earnest man has accomplished. Who of what one scalars old, still seems to have much of though 168 years old, still seems to have much of life and vigor remaining, and, judging from present appearances, promises to live at least another century."

Terrible Accident on the Pennsylva-nin Railroad. ([From the Harrisburg State Quard, April 3.] Yesterday afternoon as Mr. Martin Santo attompted to jump on the function the from the east on the Pennsylvania railroad as it was crossing Becond street, he slipped and fell ender the train, which passed over both of his legs. His was immediately conveyed to the residence of his bro-ther, who kreps a toincee store in Race street. Im-mediately upon bearing of the accident we proceeded to the spet; small pools of blood were standing around on the gennud and the track was bespattered for some distance. Near the unforturate man, both of them very mich cut and torn. We then visited the hones in which had been worn by the abve the knee, and the in which the wounded man was lying, and found Drs. Rutherford and Orth in at-tendance. His legs had just been amputed, the left one abve the knee, and the right one below the knee, and the physicians were proceeding to dress the stumes. The man was still ying insensible under the influence of the chloroferm which he had taken. Banto, we accertained, is about twenty-two years of age and, with his mother and a younger brother had meved into Kace street on the ist instant, and were keep-ing house together. He had just started to so up on Penn-sylvania Avenue to get some things when the train came along, and he thengist that he, would save part of the walk by taking a ride, which resulted as we have de-scribed.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

RELIEF SYSTEMS BY MEANS OF SANITARY IN-STITUTIONS ABROAD AND AT HOME .- Dr. Evans, after collecting, at an immense outlay, a complete exhibit of our Sanitary improvements for the Paris Exposition, and using his large ac-quaintance among Europeans of influence to draw upon them the attention they so well deserved, has now collected into his elegant volume, the translation of which* reaches us through Mr.H. C. Baird, a history of the whole theory of Sanitary amelioration, commencing with the development of our own Association in 1861, and tracing it in its influence and results through the international sanitary conference held in 1863 at Geneva, and the treaty signed at the same city in 1864, down to the latest amenities derived from its example in the struggles that are always raging across the current of the Plata.

The collection for the Paris Exhibition-largely recognized as perhaps the noblest contribution from our nation, and certainly the only one which testified to the innate nobility of the great American heart-was made with much difficulty, under the embarassments thus uncomplainingly detailed:

under the embarassments thus uncomplainingly detailed: As early as the year 1865 I decided to assemble in a col-lection and at my own expense, the products of those in-ventions which had enabled the Bantary Comminision to obtain its wonderful results. In order to realize this project, I addressed myself to my countryment in America. After having explained to them the aim I was pursuing. I urged thom to arsist me in an entorprice, the humanitarian and patriotic tendency of which was ovident. In addressing myself to an American inves-to reduce his invention, so that in my collection mikht be exhibited such articles as would have perhaps other-wise remained unknewn or unsoftled. However, my address had no appreciable result; and the enterprize which, with the expected contribution or as-sistance, would have been rather an easy work, became how a difficult task. The Universal Exhibition a florded the best opportunity for the insuguration of this santary collection; its natural place being in the internation ! exhibition of the Socie-ties of Heilef fr wounded schuers (czynostion interna-tionale des sociétés de secours due blesses).
