THE SEASON.

The season in London is wonderfully crowded, gay and splendid. At the Queen's drawing-room this week there was such a throng as I have never seen in England. On the policy of the policy the four principal avenues leading to the palace the carriages were closely packed, filled with ladies in full dress, and in this, our day, you know what that is, and there they sat in the midst of gaping crowds for full three hours, waiting the time of admission. The drive in Hyde Park is so crowded every evening from four to six that a strong corps of policemen is required to order their proceed the four principal avenues leading to the palace with the wint to win, the whole system reeks with rascality—and then the yill and then the virtuous British press goes into spasms over a little rouge et noir at a German bathing place!

Language of Insects. MACHINERY, IRON, &C. A most singular discovery, the credit of which appertains, we believe to Mr. Jessie, is that of the antennal language of insects. Bees and other insects are provided, as everybody knows, with feelers or antenne. These are, in fact, most delicate organs of touch. warning of dangers, and serving the animals to hold a sort of conversation with each other, and to communicate their desires and A strong hive of bee will contain thirty-six thousand workers. Each of these, in order to be assured of the presence of their queen, touches her every day with its antennee,

DR. JOHN M. FINE'S DENTAL ROOMS.

One of the street.—Thirty years' practice, and one of the street established Dentists in the city.

Ladies beware of cheap dentistry. We are receiving calls weekly from those that have been imposed upon, and are making new sets for them. For beautiful life-like teeth, and neat and substantial work, our prices are more reasonable than any Dentist in the city.
