THE BRIBERY INVESTIGATION.

By the Atlantic Telegraph. LONDON, May 15.-Late and important despatches have been received from Japan. The civil war was vigorously prosecuted. The army of the Mikado has arrived at a point near Jeddo. LONDON, May 15 .- A despatch from Athens says that the Spakiote mountaineers claim that in the recent conflict with the Turks, the latter were defeated and driven to the sea coast.

The Bribery Investigation. (Special Despatch to the Philadelphia Evening Builetta.) WASHNGTON, May 15, 1868.—The accounts of the examination of witnesses by the Managers of Impeachment are incorrect. They did send for two or three gentlemen and had a talk with them yesterday, but did not examine them as witnesses, and do not propose doing so. To-day they have not even held a meeting. They say they have done their duty, and will go before the country on the issue already made up.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. WASHINGTON, May 15 .- The Hon. Samuel J. Randall is not in the House to-day, owing to the injuries received yesterday in his encounter with ex-Governor Hamilton, of Texas. They are, however, not serious.

XLth Congress---Second Session. [House-Continued from Fourth Edition.] The Speaker-The Chair rules that this is but a question of privilege.

Mr. Garfield—I demand the regular order of business. That is the only way to stop it.

Mr. Woodward—I consent to a modification of the resolution, by striking out that part in reference to the privilege of the Senate. It is not at all essential. If that is the only reason why the resolution is not a question of privilege. I will strike out that part of it.

Mr. Garfield-I demand the regular order of business.

Mr. Loan (Mo.)—I desire to say that all the communications had by the members of this House from the State of Missouri with the Senator from that State were had at his own special instance and request, and that that paper was shad at his instance and request.

Mr. Eldridge—So much the worse, ten times the worse. The Speaker—The question is not debatable. The speaker—the question is not decistable. The gentleman from Pennsylvania has modified his resolution by striking out that part in relation to the privileges of the Senate. But the Speaker is still of opinion that it is not a question of the senate of tion of privilege.

The nearest point to it that he can see is found on page 156 of the Digest, that of alleged corrupt combination. It does not appear from the resolution that any corrupt combination is charged upon members of the House as to the intercourse between them and their colleagues in the Senate. The Chair cannot assume that, in order to make it a question of privilege.

Mr. Woodward—Then I ask the unanimous consent of the House to offer the resolution.

Mr. Upson and other members objected.
The House proceeded as the regular order of business, to the bill for the relief of William Mc-

After some debate, the proceedings were inter-rupted by Mr. Woodward, who was understood to ask what the gentleman from Missouri (Pile) meant by gesticulating and grimacing in an often-what the offence was.

The Speaker intimated to Mr. Woodward that his remarks were not parliamentary. If the gentleman had a charge to make against a member of the House, he would have to make it in the usual manner. The Chair did not see what the gentleman completes theman complains of.

Mr. Pile, who had walked to another part of the hall, said: I did not insult or grimace or anything of the kind, to the gentleman from Pennsylvania; nothing of the kind.

Mr. Wiczyward, The gentleman, stood, here

Mr. Woodward—The gentleman stood here making cabalistic signs. [Laughter.] As he belongs to a party that claims to have all the moral sense and decency in the country, I inquire what he means by standing on the floor in the presance of the Speaker and making these grimages at me

The Speaker—If the gentleman presents a question of privilege the Chair will rule it out.

Mr. Woodward—Do such remarks go into the Globe as part of the transactions of this House.

The Speaker—They do. The gentleman from Penasylvania rose, claiming to have been improperly treated by the gentleman from Missiari, and the gentleman from Penasylvania used language, as the Chair thought, out of order, of applied to a fellow-member.

CRIME.

A MURDERER MURDERED.

Charles M. Jefferds Killed at Singssing by Some Unknown Person.

Sing-Sing, N. Y., Thursday, May 14.—Charles M. Jefferds, who was imprisoned Jan. 4, 1863, for killing John W. Mathews, and sentenced for life to the State Prison, was found wounded in the loft of the stable of the prison. On exami-nation it was found that he had been cut in the head with some sharp instrument like an axo or a hatchet. He was alive when discovered, about noon, but died about 3.15 o'clock. He was insensible, and of course could give no clue as to who had committed the assault. It is all conjecture as to the party who killed him, but it is supposed that the deceased had money on his person and that he was killed for the purpose of obtaining it. The Coroner will hold an inquest to-morrow morning. Jefferds will be well remembered by New Yorkers.

The Crimes of Jefferds.

Late on Saturday night, June 30th, 1860. John Walton, while walking in Eighteenth street, near First avenue, was suddenly shot dead by a man who immediately turned and fled. He was pursued, and foremost in the pursuit was John W. Mathews, who had nearly overtaken the mura hatchet. He was alive when discovered, about sued, and foremost in the pursuit was John W.

Mathews, who had nearly overtaken the murderer, when the latter turned and fired, with so true an aim that he too was killed. Jefferds—for he it was who had fired the two fatal shots—continued his flight, and proceeded to his home in Brooklyn, reaching there so soon after the occurrence of the tragedy that subsequently, when tried for the murder of Walton, the defence was chiefly based on the ground that at the time of the murder he could not have been at the place where it was committed and have at the place where it was committed and have the place where it was committed and naver-reached Brooklyn so soon after. His trial for the first crime did not take place until he had been in prison over a year. He was acquitted, but afterward was arrested, and, upon the evi-dence of a detective who had watched him and dence of a detective who had watched him and had heard him boast of the murders, was finally convicted and sentenced to be hung. His sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life, and he was serving out his term at Sing Sing when it was so suddenly brought to a close.

Jefferds was the step-son of the murdered Walton, who had been engaged for some years in conducting an extensive distillery. He had separated from his wife, and a suit for divorce in which he was plaintiff was pending in the Supreme Court at the time he was assassinated. Mathewa was a rallroad contractor. He was not Supreme Court at the time he was assassinated. Mathews was a railroad contractor. He was not acquainted with Walton, but happening to be near when the latter was killed, joined in the pursuit of the murderer, as any other brave man would have done. Jeflerda' career since he was incarcerated at Sing Sing has been that of most of the other criminals confined there—a life devoid of incident.—N. Y. Times.

A Mystery Explained—Terrible Story of Crime.

(From the 8t Louis Democrat, of May 12.) From the Bt Louis Democrat, of May 12...]

For weeks past we have, from time to time, been publishing items from the southwestern papers relative to the mysterious disappearance of a Mrs. Fullerton, a widow, of Sarcoxie, in the southwestern corner of Jackson county. A stranger had arrived there, married her daughter, and started ortenably to up to Object with his sleet. and started ostensibly to go to Ohio with his sick traveling companion, Mrs. Fullerton accompanying them and the young wife remaining behind. Some days ago the stranger returned alone, and his statements and conduct aroused black suspicions which grew until a crowd gathered, took him from official custody and hanged him. This summary action was wholly wrong, and we feared it might prove that the innocent had suffered, but additional intelligence leaves no doubt of the victim's guilt, and reveals a series of atrocities of victim's guilt, and reveals a series of atrocities of the darkest dye perpetrated by him jointly with his wife, whom doubtless he had influenced to share in his wickedness. She proves to have been the sick companion, and accompanied him in male attire to Sarcoxie. The following letter in male attire to Sarcoxie. The following letter tells the story:

CARTHAGE. Mo., April 4.— Editors Missouri Democrat: Within the last two or three days the details of one of the most cold-blooded murders ever committed in this part of the State have been brought to light. The circumstances, as near as can be ascertained, are these:

Some two months ago a young man calling himself Hutton came to the house of Mrs. Fullerton, a widow living near Sarcoxie. in the south-east part of this (Jasper) county. With him was lerton, a widow living near Sarcoxie, in the south-east part of this (Jasper) county. With him was afperson apparently in delicate health, dressed in male attire, and from appearance about seven-teen years of age. They had a wagon and a span of horses, and some clothing, among which was a suit of women's clothes, which they stated came into their possession by the death of a rela-tive while on their journey from Ohio here.

tive while on their journey from Ohio here.

After remaining at Mrs. Fallerton's about a week, an intimacy sprang up between Hutton and an unmarried daughter of Mrs. Fullerton, about fourteen years of age, and a few days after they were married. While this was transpiring the companion in his travels of Hutton was confined a good part of the time to bed from indisposition.

After the marriage Hutton was anxious to send the invalid back to Ohio, to their relatives, and Mrs Fullerton having some business East, offered to take charge of the sick one on the journey. Hutton was to take them to the railroad at Se-

About seven weeks ago the three left for Sedalla. In about three weeks afterward Hutton returned to his wife at her mother's house. He returned to his wife at her mother's house. He brought with him a power of attorney from his mother-in-law, Mrs. Fullerton, and proceeded to sell off the personal preperty belonging to her. These sales were made at a great sacrifice; and his course generally indicated a desire to get what money he could and get away. When questioned as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Fullerton he made many contradictory statements, so much so that the suspicions of the Fullerton family, who are numerous, were aroused by fears that something was wrong. Two days ago two brothers-in-law of Hutton halted him while he and his wife were in a wagon driving in the neigh borhood of the farm belonging to Mrs. Fullerton. He refused to stop unless they had a warrant for his arrest, and upon their threatening to fire on him he put whip to his horses and attempted to escape. He was then shot, though not fatally, and arrested.

The excitement at this time was intense, owing to the finding of some letters written to a con-federate in St. Louis, and the discovery in his trunk of a dark lantern, false keys, and other implements of burglary. On last Tuesday night about twenty men with faces blacked, entered the house where he was confined took him some four miles distant into Lawrence county

This morning before day the prisoner was prought here and put in jail to prevent the peole from hanging her.

NIMIH WARD "BOYS IN BLUE" ON IMPEACH-MENT.-At a spirited meeting of the "Boys in Blue" of the Ninth Ward, held last evening, the following resolutions were offered by Mr. C. H. Resolved. That the men who assisted in resisting armed treason in the field have some claim to an expression of political opinion of both measures and men.

Resolved, That our opinions are both undivided and emphatic, and that while we fully endorse the reconstruction acts of Congress, and thank the loyal men of both branches of our National Le-sislature for their unswerving devotion to the fulness to the principles of the party to which they owe their power and position, we are free to disapprove, denounce and condemn the dastardly conduct of those recreant Senators who have "sold their birthright for a mess of pottage."

Resolved, That we consign to everlasting infamy the names of Andrew Johnson and the Johnsonized Senators, and heap our curses loud and deep upon their memories after they have been consigned to oblivion "unheard and unsung." Resolved, That a soldier, in his magnanimity, can cover with the mantle of charity the treason of a rebel, who with gallantry perilled his life in defence of his opinions; but a soldier can never forgive a betrayal of confidence, the stain of dishonor and the infamy of apostacy coming from a trusted friend and a trusted leader. We consider the archive of a positive of the stain of the confidence of the stain of the stain a trusted friend and a trusted leader. We consider the conduct of our "erring brothers" saint-like compared with the perfidy of those infamous Senators who have alike betrayed their constituency, their party, their principles, their country and their God.

Resolved, That these miserable Senators who have steeped themselves in double-dyed treason deserve to be welcomed by their fellow-citizens "kesolved, That we look with pride upon our representatives in the United States Senate, who stand faithful among the faithless: and that we resentatives in the United States Senate, who stand faithful among the faithless; and that we urge upon the Hon. Simon Cameron, in the name of the Republican soldiers of Pennsylvania, to vote for the immediate admission of those loyal Senators from the reconstructed States of the South, who will be glad to aid in the much-needed reconstruction of the South.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Hon. Simon Cameron and to each of the five representatives in Congress from Philadelphia.

D., as pastor of the North Broad street Presbyterian Church, took the North Broad street Presbyterlan Church, took place last evening. D., opened the exercises with prayer, after which the five hundred and eixteenth hymn was sung. The reading of the fourth chapter of Ephesians, by Rev. Mr. Mallery, and the singing of the one hundred and seventeenth hymn fellowed, after which Rev. H. B. Stryker, father of the new pastor, preached the installation sermon. The venerable minister took his text from Matthew xxviii, 18, 19, 20:

"And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying.

All power is given unto me in heaven and in

Go ve therefore and teach all nations, paptising them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost;
"Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo. I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.

Amen."
The charge to the pastor followed the sermon.
This was delivered by Rev. Dr. March, and it was characterized by the earnest piety and the practical good sense for which Dr. March is conspicuous. The charge to the people was delivered by Dr. Adams. The reverend gentleman referred feelingly to his early connection with the referred feelingly to his early connection with the North Broad Street Church, and with characteristic force he urged his views concerning the relations of pastor and people.

There was a fine choir in attendance, and the exercises throughout were of the most interesting character.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsapa-rilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bettle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decections as usually made. AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Barsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, sore so than any other drug I am sequented with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.
