Having passed a terrible examination, this highly finished piece of human machinery, which it has taken thirty years, thousands of pounds, and an immense amount of labor to perfect, is sent into the field, and mown dow: like a thistle by one of those shells which is not wasted. But man is mortal, and will death blot out the cultivated mind and athletic trame, sconer or later, under any circumstan-ces. True; and it is also true that time will destroy the choicest work of art. But we do not set our Turners up for targets. A deli-cate piece of china is safe to be broken even-tually, but what would you say of a boy who made a cockshy of it? Perbaps war may become an absolute folly before this world rushes into the firet talents, their cease to waste their time, their talents, their cease to waste their time, their talents, their
