LONGFEELOW.

Departure of the Fost for Europes-Poem by Oliver Wendell Holmes. The Boston Advertiser of yesterday says :

"Longfellow salls to-morrow from New York in the steamer Russia for Europe. The following tribute was read a few evenings ago at a private farewell dinner to the Loct, and we have obtained from its author permission to give it publicity, feeling that the sentiment it embodies is that of our whole country."

Our Poet, who has taught the Western breeze, To waft his songs before him o'er the seas,

Will find them wheresoe'r his wanderings reach Borne on the spreading tide of English speech

Twin with the rhythmic waves that kiss the farthes' beach.

Where shall the singing bird a stranger be That finds a nest for him in every tree? How shall he travel who can never go Where his own voice the echoes do not know, Where his own garden-flowers no longer learn to grow? grow?

Ah gentless soul! how gracious, how benigh Breathes through our troubled life that voice of thine, Filled with a sweetness born of happies

spheres, That wins and warms, that kindles, softens, cheers, That calms the wildest woe and stays the bitterest tears !

Forgive the simple words that sound like prefect; The mist before me dims my glided phrase, Our speech at best is half alive and cold, And save that tenderer moments make us

Our whitening lips would close, their truest truth untold.

We who behold our autumn sun below The Scorpion's sign, against the Archer's

bow, Know well what parting means of friend

After the snows no freshening dews descend And what the frost has marred, the sunshine will

So we all count the months, the weeks, the days That keep thee from us in unwonted ways, Inat keep thes from as in upworked ways, Grudging to alien hearths our widowed time;

And one unwinds a clew of artless rhyme
To track thee, tollowing still through each remotest clime.

What wishes, longings, blessings, prayers The more than golden freight that floats with

And know, whatever welcome thou shalt

Thou who hast won the hearts of half man-

The proudest, fondest love thou leavest still behind! 0. W. H.

CITY BULLETIN,

FEMALE ROBDER.-A very nicely and costly dressed woman, who gave her name as Louisa Fisher, was arraigned before Alderman Toland, yesterday afternoon, upon the charge of larceny. She was discovered by a servant in a house at the north west corner of Fifth and Brown streets. north west corner of Fifth and Brown streets. She was detained, and then Mrs. Hamilton, who occupied the upper part of the honse, discovered that a closet had been broken open and three portemonnales containing $400 had been stolen. A policeman was called and the woman was taken to the Seventh District Folice Station. On the way she offered to give the po-liceman $250 if he would let her slip. Two of the stolen pocket books, containing $230, were found under a bed in the Sergeant's room at the station house, when the prisoner afterwards acknowledged MARKET THIEF .--- A colored man named Jerry Coachman was arrested this morning at the Faimers' Market, for the larceny of 50 pounds of lard. He was committed by Alderman Jones.

LIFE INSURANCE .- In to-day's BULLETIN will be found the advertisement of Messrs. A. & J. S. Corbin, General Agents for the Continental Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Ct.

The record of the career of the Continental has been most honorable. Its business in Connecticut, where its officers and managers are best known, is believed to exceed that of any other Company, and is rapidly increasing.

Its Directors have been selected from the most estimable citizens of Hartford, men whose names are synonymous with high social position, affluence and business integrity.

The implicit confidence reposed in the judgment and integrity of its managers and representatives in this city, has been demonstrated by the rapid increase and prosperity of their busi-

Showing an exceedingly low ratio of Losses and Expenses to its receipts, and possessing s ratio of assets to Liabilities exceeding that of the oldest companies in the country, we can unhesitatingly recommend the "Continental," not only to those contemplating an insurance on their life, but to those desiring to engage in active business as well.

THE most extraordinary sale of American Pictures and Crystal Medallions from the American Art Gallery, New York (established for the encouragement of Artists), will take place this, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in Scott's Art Gallery, 1020 Chestnut street. Every lover of the fine arts should embrace this opportunity.
