JETTERSON MEDICAL COLLEGE. The canvass which has been going on during the past month for the chair of the Institutes of Medicine and for the chair of the Institutes of Medicine and Medical Jurisprudence, made vacant in this Institution by the resignation of Professo. Robley Dunglison, terminated last Tuesday evening in the election of James Aitkin Melgs. M. D. The successful candidate is a well-known physician of this city, who received his diploma from the Gollege in which he has just been chosen a Professor. Although yet a young man, he enjoys a very high reputation as a skillal practitioner and scientific investigator. Our Academy of Natural Sciences, in which he has been for years an active member, owes much to practitioner and scientific investigator. Our Academy of Natural Sciences, in which he has been for years an active member, owes much to him for the arrangement of the Mortonian collection and for the contributions to it which his efforts have secured. His published catalogue of this collection has always been regarded as a valuable addition to the literature of cranlography. This and his many other publications on ethnology, physiology and kindred subjects have attracted the attention and regard of men of science in this country and is Europe, and gained for him the honor of election to membership in several of the learned societies it. England and France. At the late Congress of the Anthropological Societies of Europe, held in Paris, he was one of the few Americans selected as foreign members—a distinction conferred serion Agassiz. Squier, Wyman, and also upon Dr. Joseph Leidy, another of our own citizens.

Dr. Melgs is a graduate of the Central High School, and has twice before held a professorship of Physiology, at first in the Philadelphia College of Medicine, and afterwards in the Medical Department of Pennsylvania College. In both these positions he exhibited such learning and ability as gave promise of great usefulness in his profession. This promise has now the opportunity of being realized, and we may safely congratulate the Jefferson College in having secured the services of one so competent to promote its interests and maintain the high character, which it holds among the medical institutions of the country.

Minister Burlingame is now in Washington in charge of the Chinese Embassy. The object of their visit to this country, at this time, is a mystery to mest people, but not to us. The people of the Celestial Empire are very fond of rat pies, dog chops, and smoking very strong cigars, This lest practice has injured their constitutions, and they have come across the "deep blue sees" to investigate Lorillard's last discovery, the "Yacht Club" smoking tobacco, which is free from nicotine and perfectly innocent.
