CHASE AND THE PRESIDENCY. ears actively engaged as a leader in the poal world that the quiet retirement of the Supreme:Bench is irksome to him. When he assumed the judicial ermine he retained all his old taste for the more exciting life of a popular public man; and by various points of contact kept up his old connection with the Republican party, with which he was so closely identified. The high dignity of the Supreme Court had not been the goal of his ambition; and, although no man might decline that rare honor, the Chief Justice did not accept it as necessarily the final grade of promotion. The Presidency has glittered before him, as a possibility, for many years, and advancing age has only increased the eagerness to achieve this topmost round of the ladder of American ambition before it should be forever.

Chief Justice Chase seems to be trembling the sake of the fair fame of Philadelphia, we demand such a series of municipal nominations as the upright, intelligent, independent, respectable people of this city can and will support. Acquittal might possibly introduce some dividing wedge into the Republican ranks. The continuance of Andrew Johnson in power would keep the country unsettled and create a desire for some other than Republican rule, under the assumption that the resistance of Congaring to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the accommodation to the present excessive rates of fare would be materially reduced, or the gress to the usurpations of the President was the cause of the general disturbance. The immediate effect has been to stir up large numbers of our citizens who do not usually take part in the primary elections, and to induce them to discharge their proper duty in this important particular. It has also given shape and tone to the general sentiment in the community in favor of good nominations, and has added incalculable strength to the common determination not to support any candidate for any office, who does not stand generally approved before the public for integrity and entire fitness.

So wide-spread and deep-rooted is this determination in the minds of the masses of the Republican party that it is the supremest folly to doubt or ignore or undervalue it. JIMP E. The Government bond 'market was active and the investment demand strong throughout the day. Over $2,00,000 of 1881s, 1885, and 1837s were bought for foreign account on orders received frem London and also one large order for ten-forties. The market was ham mered by the beart, and prices were frequiar, with the occasional decline of 16, but all that offered as the decline were taken immediately, and the market had become tolerably well cleared of weak or 'dinid holdem.' At the close there were more buyers than sellors, the domand being chiefly on the 182s, the old 1838s, and 1837s.

The Assistant Treasure delivered no bonds to-day, and it is said there will be forther considerable delay. A number of the bank haye been holding back their compound interest notes, expecting that the Secretary of the Treasury would redeem them in New York as he ought to have done, but his decision, that all must be sent to Washington, will cause the banks to forward them there, and this will soon place upon the market an additional amount of greenbacks, from $6,00,000 to $8,00,000 in payment for the same.

BY TELEGRAPH. Envoy Burlingame Returning Calls LATER FROM WASHINGTON

Washington, June 6.—Envoy Burlingame, with the principal members of his suite, is to-day returning calls of foreign ministers and other persons of distinction. He has already called upon the several members of the Cabinet. He will this afternoon officially pay his respects to General Grant, Speaker Colfax, pro tem. President of the Senate Wade, and General Cushing, the predecessor of Mr. Burlingame as Minister to HE CHINESE EMBASSY Adjournment—The Whisky Tax.

[Special Depatch to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.]

[Washington, June 6.—Warm weather has at last set in at the National Capital, and already the subject of adjournment has commenced to be talked about. After a three days' debate on the new tax bill it is evident that it will be impossible to get the House again in session long enough to pass it, and even in case this should be done, there is not the slightest probability the Senate could pass it without devoting three or four weeks in debating and amending it, when it would go back to the House again for concurrence in the Senate and elected President and Vice Presidents irrespective of locality. The southern and central part of the country had only four Vice Presidents, while the lakes have five members.

Mr. Inglesby, of St. Pauls, desired to speak a few words in relation to Iowa, which was without representation. The cities of the Northwest have been neglected. He was in favor of the motion of Mr. Dorr.

Mr. Hodges, of Baltimore, said: To increase the executive committee would make it too ponderous. If, as some gentlemen say, this country is in a few years to become so populous, we will be overwhelmed by applications.

Mr. Randolph said he desired to correct one of the statements made by Mr. Blow, when he said Adjournment-The Whisky Tax. or the Senate Wade, and General Cushing, the predecessor of Mr. Burlingame as Minister to China.

The ambassadors intended to visit Mount Vernon to-day, but have postponed it until Monday.

The warrants issued by the Treasury Department during the mouth of May, 1868, to meet the requirements of the Government amounted in requirements of the Government, amounted, in round numbers, to the following sums, viz:

debating and amending it, when it would go back to the House again for concurrence in the Senate amendments. It is the opinion of well informed the statements made by Mr. Blow, when he said senators that it will take at least two months of close attention to get this bill through the Senate and House, and there is a decided feeling among the members of both branches against remaining in assign for table. the authority thus vested in the Board, do hereby notify all civil officers elected under said constitution that the said constitution requires that they qualify and take possession of their respective offices on Monday, June 15th, 1868, in accordance with article 158 of the constitution, that by article 159 of said constitution they are required to convene in the city of New Orleans on Monday, June 22, 1868, at 12 noon; and I further notify all civil officers now in office that by the new constitution their terms of office will expire at 12 M. on Monday, June 15, 1863, at which time they will deliver up said offices, with all the appurtenances thereto, to their successors declared duly elected by the special order No. 121, of the military commander of the Fifth Military District, issued June 24, 1868; provided that in all cases where an officer elect does not qualify according to the laws of Congress and of this

The same Commit the reported the following:
Whereas, Experience has demonstrated that the collection of $2 per gallon on whisky is impracticable, and that the imposition of such a tax works in effect demors ization, and diverts an important part of manufactur from its legitimate channel greatly to the detriment the commerce of the land: and would be necessary to take further action in the interest of freedom.

Mr. Doolittle spoke a parting word to say that he had retained his opinions, believing that the Constitution in this retreet has not been changed since 1883.

Mr. Patterson (N. Al. produced the speech of Mr. Doolittle on the subject of negro deportation, alluded to yes tray, claiming that the blacks might thus maintain a Republic in the tropics that would rival this Republic. He seked how, then, the Senator's statement, that the African here is superior to his brethren in Africa can be reconciled with his denial of the African's fitness for suffrage?

Mr. Hopkins, also from the same committee reported a bill to grant certain islands to the State of Wisconsin, as swamp lands. After an explanation by Mr. Hopkins the bill passed.

Mr. Wood (N. Y.), by unaminous consent offered the following:

Resolved, That the Speaker be requested to extend to the Embassy now in this capital, representing the Chinese Government, a public reception in the Hall at such hour as may be convenient to the Embassy and the public businers.

The resolution was agreed to unanimously.

Mr. Wood said he would defer on that subject to the chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. Schenck suggested that the reception should not be to-day; that there should be no evening session, but the day session should be continued till 50 clock.

Not being agreed to, the Speaker suggested that Tuesday next would probably be the better day to fix, as the invitation-must be tendered and accepted before notice could be given to the House.

Mr. Davis, of Toledo, offered the following:

Mr. Price suggested 10 o'clock in the moreing: and Mr. Ingereoll suggested 11 o'clock. There being no objection to the latter suggestion the Speaker said he would take it as the serve of the House that the invitation should be for Treeday next, at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Perham, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, made a large number of reports. The bills reported by him were passed granting pensions to the following persons: be made up of coin.
The resolution was referred to the Executive Council Mr. Fosdick, of New Orleans, sub Council. Mr. Fosdick, of New Orleans, submitted the following:

Whereas, A bill is now pending in Congress, having for its object the granting of a charter to certain individuals for the purpose of controling canal or channel through Pass Dunto, one of the outlots of the Misslespin river, to the sea, with the right to collect tonage, duties or toll from all vessels making use of the same jand.

Mr. E. P. Dorr, of Buffulo, moved to reconsider the vote by which the constitution was passed yesterday. He referred to the fact that the country lying along the groat lakes was studded thick with cities, and had no representatives in the list of Vice Presidents.

St. Paul, Tolede, Buffulo, Oswego are great cities, and have not a solitary representative in the Vice Presidents.

Mr. Nazro, of Boston, said it would not do to reconsider the Constitution, as it would compel in this city for the week ending at noon to-day, reconsider the Constitution, as it would compel them to reconsider the vote electing officers:
