The Terrible Convuisions Later Ac-commun. Commun. From Honolulu we have the following addi-tional particulars of the late cruptions: At Keanhou the following results of the earth-guake on Thursday have been reported. Mr. Stackpole, who had charge of the place, had been up to the Volcano. Honse during the day, and was returning in the atternoon. While descend-ing the pail to Keanhou, the first shock occurred, precipitating an immense amount of earth stomes and boalders down the pail after him. Escap-ing these, he arrived at the plateau below the pail, and looked in the direction of the village of Apus. but not a honse was to be seen! In sight, but nothing of it could be seen. Descend-ing the eartiguake the sea have been in sight, but nothing of it could be seen. Descend-ing the factor down to the sea have been in sight, but nothing of it could be seen. Descend-ing the earthguake the sea have that immediately after the earthguake the sea had rushed in and awept off ever dwelling and storehouse and all their contents, and that they had barely escaped with their lives. There were some .167 bales of puln in store, ready for ahlpment, all of which was awept away. They represent that the sea wenty as far as the two basaltic columns indi-cating the road down to Keauhou—a depth of wave at least forty to filty feet. At Panalun, at the moment of the shock, it

At Punaluu, at the moment of the shock, it seemed as if an immense quantity of lava had been discharged into the sea some distance from the shore, for almost instantly a terrible commo-iion arose, the water belling and tossing: furi-ously. Shortly afterwards a tremendous wave was sweeping up on the shore and when "it re-ceded there was nothing left of Punaluu. Every house, the big stone church, even the cocoantit trees—all but two—were washed away. The number of lives lost is not ascertained. All who were out fishing at the im. vol shed, and many of those ashore. A big charm oppiced, running from the sea up into the mountain, down which, it is said, lava, mud, trees, forms and rocks were making out into the sea.

Not a house remains to mark the site of these places, except at Honuapo, where a small "hale halawai," on the brow of the hill, above the village, stood on Friday last. The large coconnut grove at Honuapo was washed away, as well as that at Panaluu. A part of the big pall at Honuapo, on the road to Walohinu, had tumbled into the sea, and people coming from thence are now obliged to take the moun-tain road through Hilca-uka. The sea swept Kaalualu on Thursday last, as it had swept Honuapo and the other places along

The sea swept Kaalualu on Thursday last, as it had swept Honuapo and the other places along the coast, washed away several houses and killed a number of people—how many is not yet known. The earth has been shaking almost con-stantly and severely every day and night. A large land slide had occurred on the west slide of Walohinu valley, near where Swain's tannery was formerly situated. Fire had been seen in the mountains above, but none had come down on the low lands between Kahuku and Walohinu when they left, on Monday moraing. A large hole, sixty feet in diameter, had opened on the flat below Kahuku, with no bottom visible from the bork of it, and emitting quantities of sul-phurie vapor.

At the time of the shock on Thursday, a man named Holoua and his wife ran out of the house and started for the hills above; but remember-ing the money he had in the house, the man left his wife and returned to bring it away. Just as he had entered the house the sea broke on the shore, and, enveloping the ballding, first washed it several yards inland and then, as the wave re ceded, swept it off to sea with him in it. Be-ing a powerful may, and one of the most expert swimmers in that region, he succeeded in wrenching off a board or a rafter, and with this as a papa heenulu (surf-board) he boldly struck wrenching off a board or a ratter, and with this as a papa heenulu (surf-board) he boldly struck out for the shore and landed safely with the re-turn wave. When we consider the prodigions height of the breaker on which he rode to the shore (fifty, perhaps sixty feet), the feat seems almost incredible, were it not that he is now alive to attest it, as well as the people on the kill wide who saw him. side who saw him.

MR. PHILLIPS' FAREWELL CONCERT .-- OF Monday evening next Mr. Philip Phillips, the well-known singer, will give a farewell concert at the Academy of Music. A very attractive programme has been prepared, and an unusually brilliant entertainment may be expected. Mr. Phillips has fine talents, and it is his purpose during his proposed stay in Europe to apply himself closely to the study of his art. Tickets for the above concert can be procured at Trumpler's music store, No. 926 Chestnut street.

HEW JERSEY MATTERS.

REFUNLICANS IN LINE.—The Republican party in Camden city and county, under the auspices of the Union League, are making preparations to hold a grand mass-meeting in the county-court-house, on Thursday (to-morrow) evening, for the ratification of the nominations of General Grant for President, and Hon. Schuyler Colfax for Vice President, of the United States. From indications this will be one of the very largest meetings ever held in Camden. Hon. Mr. Washburne, of Indiana, and Hon. Cortland Par-ker, of New Jersey, will be among the eminent speakers who are to address the meeting. A fine band of music has also been engaged. This will be the signal for opening the campaign in the band of music has also been engaged.
