Town and Country.—Now that the clouds that have so long lowered over the city have disappeared, and we have a bright sun and clear skies once more, the tide of travel will set towards the country house and to places of public resorts, E. G. Whitman & Co., the celebrated confectioners of No. 318 Chestant street, below Fourth, with that forethought that always distinguishes them, have prepared for the season a choice assortment of such dainties as are most acceptable to persons who are either "on the wing" or settled down in their country homes. These articles are packed in neat boxes of various sizes, and next to the arrival of pater familias himself, the production of a box of Whitman & Co.'s choice confections affords the greatest possible gratification to the temporary exiles from city life. Alter, the great coal merchant, and examine the samples of coal purchased by him during his late tour through the Lehigh and Schuylkill regions. Mr. Alter is now prepared, at his yerd on Ninth street, below Girard avenue, and at his hranch office, corner of Sixth and Spring Garden streets, to offer to the public advantages in quality and price which cannot be procured elsewhere. Those who contemplate purchasing their yearly supply of coal will serge their own interests by calling upon bim now. Indeed, every one should make it a point to lay in a stock at this season of the year. The saving in price will more than compensate for the outlay, for low that the winter's demand is over, prices have touched bottom, and will remain depressed but for a short time.

The tax on spirits will probably be reduced by the present Congress from $2 to 25 cents per gallon, At least so it is asserted by the Lancaster (Pa.) newspapers, on the authority of the Hon. Thaddens Stevens. The greatest tax on spirits is when a man orcers a new suit of clothes of his tailor, and finds in trying them that his coat collar pushes his hat off, and his pantaloons won't allow him to sit down in the street car. Not only to reduce this tax on one's spirits, but to avoid it altogether, buy your clothing at Charles Stokes & Co.'s, under the Continental.
