The bureau also prints the circular blanks, &c., for the Treasury and its bureaus, and the confident printing of the Executive and State department. The work done by the Bureau during this period, if done elsewhere, and paid for at current market rates, would, it is eaid, cost about $22,600,000. Mr. Monron gave notice that, when in order, he will move to add-the following: "And the United States notes so retired shall not be obtained by the sales of bonds, but shall be taken from the funds in the Treasury collected in the ordinary way."

Mr. Cole addressed the Senate in favor of the proposition of the committee to make the twenty million increase.

He argued at some length, pointing out the unfair distribution of the currency, and urging that well secured paper is as good currency as gold.

Soll in about the same time that it would take the committee to get up a new bill under the instructions of the resolution. He though that having had less than five full days work on the bill, and yet having got through half of it, if they had a working quorum of the House they could probably dispose of it in a week. If this bill was to be given the go-by, the responsibility must rest with a little over one-third of the Republican and all of the House going on with it.

He argued at some length, pointing out the unfail distribution of the currency and urging that well secured paper is as good currency as good.

Mr. Mormunt, of Vermont, said it there was a man on this floor that should be a sittlefer for resumption, it was the Benator from Californie, insisting that the people of Californis feel its wan more seriously than those of any other section. This opinion the West has as large a proportion of banking capital now as it had before the war, and more for banking capital now as it went more now than money for banking capital now as it had before the war, and more for the war she wealth of the East is, that their people work fourteen or fifteen hours a day all their people work fourteen or fifteen hours a day all their people work fourteen of the country knew it. There is a whisky ring formed who have used the wealth of the East is, that their people of the West work but half the year, and but few hours of the day, loaning their money at ten per cent. He closed by insisting that surplus calculation must always tend towards the Alianite custom, where there is the greatest opportunity for speculcane. He said he had no spology to offer for the united proportion of banking capital nor more and but they have the country with the people of the wearth of the East is that the committee of the Whole from the bill appropriating $50,000 for the findian Peace Commits of discharge the Committee of the Whole from the bill appropriating $50,000 for the Indian Peace Commits of discharge the Committee of the Whole from the bill appropriating $50,000 for the Indian Peace Commits of discharge the Committee of the Whole from the bill appropriating $50,000 for the Indian Peace Commits of the united States; and to take measures to secure the under the do so.

Nr. The people had a satisfactory system and one completely under their control:

He insisted that, when there is a surplus in the Treasury, it should be devoted to paying off the interest on the public debt, that is running up so high, if it is not required for current expenses, and that the withdrawal or twenty millions of non-interest bearing greenbacks, the issue of bonds bearing six percent. gold interest, would be a loss instead of a yain.

Mit. Shemman denied that the bill proposed to inflate the currency, claiming that during the southwest and the South, because of the unsettled condition of the country. He pointed out the formal piposition certain to result from any attempt to reach the sharing into result from any attempt to reach the surple system, insisting that the proposed ingreases absolutely necessary.
