New Yonk, June 16.—A very enthulastic and crowded assemblage met last evening on the opening of the new Wigwam of the Seventeenth Assembly District Republican Club, corner of Forty-sixth street and Eighth avenue. Speeches were made by Hon. Horace Greeley, Major Pangborn, Major Douglass Campbell, and Mr. Moses, of South Carolina. Among other attractions of evening were songs and an ode by Mr. George . Bungay. The third annual regatta of the Atlantic Yacht Club will take place to-morrow morning from the foot of Court street, Brooklyn, at 10 o'clock.

More than 20 yachts are expected to contest for the honor of championship and its accompany-ing prize. The course will be through the Nar-rows to a stake-boat off Coney Island Point, thence to and around the Southwest Spit buoy, thence home east of the buoys on the west bank. A large saw and planing mill, together with four other buildings, owned by Mr. John S. Loomis, situated in Wyckoff street, between Hoyt and Smith, South Brooklyn, were destroyed by fire last night. A Milwaukee paper says: The passengers on one of the boats of Goodrich's line had some-thing of an exciting time when the boat was comfrom Chicago a night or two since. the passengers was an insane woman, emong the passengers was an insane woman who, in charge of friends, was being brough to this city. The woman was so quiet that he when suddenly they discovered that she was mi sing. At once search was made through all parts of the boat, but without success, and it of the boat, but without success, and it was feared the woman, taking advantage of the moment when not watched, had jumped overboard and was lost. As this conclusion was arrived at, one of the sailors discovered through the darkness of the night a singular object on the walking beam of the boat. Lights were brought, when it was found that the object was the insane woman in question. She sat on the walking-beam as a lady would sit on a side-saddle, and appeared to take extreme delight in being borner up and down with it. How she had succeeded in getting upon the beam, a most dangerous position, could not be imagined, but that the was there was certain. The passengers flocked about, much to the delight of the unfortunate woman, who acted more and more recklessly every moment, as she saw she was watched, and it was feared she would fall from her seat among the machinery and be crushed to death. At the time a heavy sea was running, and the boat lay in such a position that if the engine was stopped it endangered the safety of the boat. It was slowed, however, as much as was considered sale. At this the woman appeared indignant, and made motions with her body as a boy will with a rocking-horse to have it go faster, and threatening to jump off if it did not. The passengers partook of the excitement of the scene, and were not a little alarmed, expecting that every moment would wincess the woman cast below. A short consultation was held, when they glid. Then several strong-armed sallors, after several attempts, succeeded in grasping the woman as the walking-beam came down, and rescuing her, much to her own regret. When she was sale, every one on the boat, who expected to see a frightful development to the scene, breathed easier.

ISPNATE—Continued from the Fourth Edition.]

Mr. Buckalew called attention to the fact that this bill is for the relief of the red handed rebels the Senator always dealed intended by which a proper of the red to th e Senator always declaimed about with so mucl Mr. Howard said the difference between them was, that he would admit those who had become repentant—the principle adopted by the Judiciary Committee; while the Senator from Pennsylvania, (Mr. Buckalew.) and the party to which he belongs, were willing to admit by one grand sweep every rebel in the United States.

Mr. Trumbull said the bill was purposely framed to avoid a decision of the question of the constitutionality of Congress imposing political disabilities. disabilities.

Mr. Doolittle asserted that the disfranchisement at the South was much larger than claimed such as had shown their withingness to acquiesce in reconstruction. It was strange that those on the other side always saw partisanship in the measures of the majority. Of course, during the impeachment and since, their unanimity was owing to their conscientiousness, but the majority would not be swift to readmit the red-handed subject who olympts had been the friends of the rea-Alabama alone.

The bill was then passed by a party vote. 35 to 6, except that Fowler and Wade voted "ne" with the Democrats, and Johnson and Patterson (Tenn.) voted "aye."

At the instance of Mr. Johnson, he was excused
