The Rebels Awaiting Faubert's Troops to Benew the Attack-Saluave's Bra-PORT AU PRINCE, June 10, by way of Havana, June 17, 1868.—The rebel troops are still in pos-session of the suburbs of this town. They are considerably disappointed at the result of their late attack on the fortifications of the capital. It was indeed a precipitate movement. Now they, are awalting aid from General Petion Fanbert, where the suburbary the contern troops to watch who is gathering the couthern troops, to march on the capital. General Nissage has not yet made his appearance, but is also expected to add his troops to the besieging army. President Salnave is directing the defence in person. He had a horse killed under him in the recent desperate struggle. The fire in the suburbs lasted for two days and many houses were burned. The object of Salnave in firing them was to clear a view of the enemy's The rebels in their attack lost fift men. The foreign consuls have protested against the burning of the suburbs. President Salnave has received the American Minister with every mark of kindness, and after-wards visited the only American man-of-war in port, the Penobscot. General Petion F aubert has command, as Gen pral-in-Chief, of the rebels north and south. He is very populat, and will probably be chosen to succeed President Salnave. -----

They started from the upper stake boat at 2 o'clock, and went own the river two miles and a haff and returned Tyler came in about half a length ahead. The great race between Hamill and Coulter commenced at 8 o'clock. The boat used by Coulter was of paper, and was built for him at Troy. N. Y. It is thirty-two feel long and thirteen inches wide. Hamill's boat i f red cedar and was recently constructed i

The boats started from the upper stake boat. Hamill had Coulter at the start very slightly, but after proceeding down about a half mile. To some reason at present unknown, the boats collided, and they both upset. Coulter righted his boat and proceeded around the course. Hamill was picked up by a boat in the vicinity, and by its crew was brought back to the start ing-point. It is presumed that this will end the race to The referees will have to decide whether fouling was done purposely or not.
