OLTY BULLETIN.

OLD MAR'S HOME.—The anniversary of the Old Man's Home, at Poweiton avenue and Thirty-ninth street, was held yesterday afternoon. In the Princeton Presbyterian Church, in West Philadelphia. The exercises, which were to have been held on the preceding Thursday, had been postponed on account of the rain.

After an opening prayer by the Rev. Mr. Henry, and a chapter in the Scriptures read by the Rev. Mr. Dix, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, followed by the singing of a hymn, a letter was read from the Rev. Phillips Brooks, who had been present on the previous occasion, regretting the necessity for his absence, and enclosing a donation.

who had been present on the previous occasion, regretting the necessity for his absence, and enclosing a donation.

The Rev. P. S. Henson, of the Memorial Baptist Church, then addressed the audience. It gave him pleasure, he said, to be present and to contribute his quotum to the interesting accremonies. Philadelphia was a noble city, and of which we should be proud. New York might boast of greater commercial prosperity, but 15,000 of her peopie were under ground, existing in damp, dreary, dark celiars, amidst filth and equalor, and others of her poor were thrust into dangerous tenement houses, in an atmosphere so foul that that of the Black Hole at Calcutta only presented a parallel. Here in Philadelphia such misery did not prevail to the same extent, while the condition of her middling classes was very much superior. They had comfortable homes and mainly owned them. The poor man's home, with us, was that of the rich man's in miniature. Philadelphia abounded in charitable institutions. That of the "Old Man's Home"—where the advanced in years could find a shelter—he frankly confessed was but recently known to him, but he was gradually making his way through them, and finding out, one b/ one, these homes for afflicted of all ages, in his beloved and beautiful Philadelphia. He was touched with the name "Old Man's Home." There were homes for children. There were homes for children. There were homes for children. There were homes for the widowed—but this was the first attempt to provide one for the old man. The stream of affection was downwards; much less frequently did it ascend, so to speak. A father or a mother, if they had the ability, rarely neglected their children, but parents were sometimes neglected. The tragedy of King Lear was, alas! too often acted over again in domestic life. There was something extremely beautiful and attractive about children—many will adopt a child and take it to their homes and rear it as one of their own, and grief gives place to joy. There is a bright promise about childhood, an bright promise about candidous, an which points to the future and prompts to tenderness and care Childish sorrow although sharp, was of brief duration. Not so with the old. They have a sadder appreciation of the realities of life, we cannot so readily smooth their brows and take out the deepening wrinkles graven there. To the reflecting, however, there was something beautiful about old age, especially when sanctified by religion. The shadows were deeper and longer, but the rays of a setting sun cast a mellower tint on the declining pathway of life.

The "Home" brings together congenial spirits, those who know how to enter into each other's sorrows and partake of their joys. It was a recent institution, and had been but four years in existence. He wished that he knew who was the author of the happy thought, an Old Man's Home. Provision had long been made in Philadelphia for the wants of ancient women; this was right, for their lot was very cheerless; but let us cherish the old men—those who have fought the battles of life and done noble service. He rejoiced to see the provision which had been made for them in this beautiful spot. Were he spared to old age, and left in solitude, he could imagine no happier refuge—no dearer haven than to sit in such company and peacefully end his days there. He blessed God for the noble Institution, and prayed that its future usefulness might be so enlarged that instead of offering its peaceful shelter to the few, it might afford its hallowed protection to the many.

The Rev. James M. Crowell, of the Penn Square The Rev. James M. Crowell, of the Penn Square Church, followed: He said he was glad to be able to answer the inquiry of his friend as to who suggested the happy thought of an old man's home. It was due to three young ladies, who, some years since, on a visit to the Widows' Asylum, thought there ought to be the same charity exercised towards the old men; and from the happy hour of its foundation the organization had flourished with a constantly increasing prosperity.

During the war there was a period of deep depression in the minds of the friends of the institution, but its lady managers did not despair, although they had nothing but faith to fall back upon. He recurred to the idea expressed by the previous speaker, that the sympathies of the community tend more towards a fostering care of childhood than of old age. The Bible inculcates veneration for the aged. The glory of the old is the hoary head; "thou shalt rise up", saith the Scripture, "before the hoary head." We ought to gather around the trembling forms of the aged and protect them from the storms of adversity.

The Rev. J. Addison Henry, in closing the proceedings, remarked that although a postproceedings, remarked that atthough a possiponed meeting was seldom apt to be a success, yet he was glad to see so many present; it was an interesting occasion, but especially to those who were seated before him, the inmates of the "Home," who always looked forward with pleasure to their approaching anniversary. The sure to their approaching anniversary. The building which was occupied by the institution was originally a private dwelling, and had been altered dwelling, and had been altered to suit. It now accommodated sixteen persons, to suit. It now accommodated sixteen persons, and could shelter but four or five more. The Managers, looking to the future enlargement of their means and usefulness, had purchased additional ground adjoining their present location. They believed that if they had deferred doing so, the opportunity of adding to their limits would have been lost. It was a prudent step, and although the Board had incurred a debt of $19,000, there was every reason to believe that it would be discharged through the liberality of the friends of the Home.

of the Home.

The House expenses were about $250 per month. These were defrayed by the annual subscriptions, such other collections as the lady managers were enabled to make, and from money which was occasionally sent to them. He would suggest that a collection be made. We do not know what amount was contributed but do not know what amount was contributed, do not know what amount was contributed, but the following contributions were read from slips by the kreaker: One of $1,000 from a gentle-man, whose name was not given. Mr. David Milne, who we understood had already been a liberal benefactor, pledged himself for $100 an-nually; another gentleman announced himself as a contributor of $100 annually for five years a contributor of $100 annually for five years.

The singing of a hymn and a benediction closed the exercises.

The institution was visited by quite a number of the audience, and more perfect neatness and good order in all the arrangements could not be found. Some of the old men pointed with pride to a full set of "Littell's Living Age," which had been presented by some kind friend. Many of our readers are in possession of duplicate volumes, or books, which they would perhaps willingly part with, and which would be prized by the old men.

We take the following forms from the Annual Report; it may prove useful to those inclined to manifest an interest in this excellent charity.

ORDINATION SERVICES. — Last evening the Second Reformed Presbytery of Philadelphia ordained the Rev. Matthew Galley to the office of the Holy Ministry, and installed him pastor of Third Reformed Presbyterian Church, corner Oxford and Hancock streets, Kensington. Rev. S. W. Crawford, D. D., presided. The sermen was preached by the Rev. John Douglas, D. D., of Pittsburgh, from the text, 2 Tim. iv. 2: Preach the word.

After the sermon Dr. Crawford propounded the Constitutional questions, and offered up the ordaining prayer, during which Mr. Galley was set apart to the office of the Holy Ministry by thellaying on of the "laying on of the hands of the Presbytery.

Rev. John McMaster, D. D., Princeton, Indiana, delivered the charge to the Pastor, and Rev. A. G. Wylle, Duanesburgh, New York, charged the people. The congregation was dismissed with the benediction by the newly-ordained pastor.

dained pastor. There was a very large congregation, the aisles and vestibules being well filled, and the exercises were solemn and impressive.

Doings of A Swindles -Several complaints were made at the Central Station during yesterday and to-day in regard to the doings of an individual who goes by the name of Charles Norton, who has carried on pretty extensive swindling operations. He leases a store and house for five years, and then has the store fitted up in an elegant style for the confectionery business. When the work is well under wan he advertises for a

years, and then has the store fitted up in an elegant style for the confectionery business. When the work is well under wap he advertises for a lady to charge of the store and reside in the house. The salary is fixed at a very liberal amount, but $100 is first required as security. Upon one of the stores which had been taken in this manner the work ordered in alterations, &c., would cost at least $1,500. On the other stories there was not so much of an outlay. Yesterday work was progressing on no less than six stores. No. money-has been paid to the carpenters, and they are also victims of the swindler. As far as known five women have been duped. A widow lady with six children had only $10. She gave them to the fellow and promised to raise the remaining $90 when she got into the house. Another widow, whose husband has been dead but a few, months, lost $100. A woman moved into a house yesterlost $100. A woman moved into a house yester lost $100. A woman moved into a house yester-day, after putting up her $100 as security, and soon discovered that she had been duped, and that she would have to move again.

The fellow who has so successfully carried on these operations is described as a small, thick-set man, about 50 years of ago, with a very red face. He is neatly dressed in black clothes, and wears a tall black slik hat.

FREAKS OF LIGHTNING .- The house of Benjamin Millon, at Chestnut Hill, was struck by lightning during the very severe storm which lightning during the very severe storm which prevailed at that place on Tuesday afternoon last. There appears to have been two strokes; one went down the water-spout, damaging it considerably, and the other went down the chimney. The latter entered one of the rooms, scattered things about pretty lively, completely blackened a mirror and went out through the floor between Mr. and Mrs. Millon. Neither of these persons suffered from the effects of the lightning, although they made a very narrow escape.

INTERESTING TEMPERANCE MEETING .- Last evening a festival was given under the auspices of the Philadelphia Division S. of T., at the hall or the Philadelphia Division S. of F., at the flat Tenth and Chestnut streets. Thomas M. Cole-man, Esq., presided, and after alluding eloquently to the good accomplished by the temperance men of the city, and particularly to the work per-formed by this Division, called upon Hiram Ward, G. Duff, and others, who made capital speeches. Cakes and ice cream were served up in great profusion, and temperance odes sung by a quartet club, and others.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE ON THE PREMISES .-James A. Freeman, Auctioneer, sold on Wednesday afternoon a Farm of 49 acres, stone dwelling, stone barn, &c., at the corner of Adams and Rolandsville Rouds, Frankford, for $410 per acre— $20,090. Sold yesterday afternoon a farm of 110 acres, Montgomery township, Montgomery county, Pa., with stone dwelling, barn, &c., for $26 per acre—$2,860.

BIRTHS IN POLICE STATIONS .- A German WO man named Christina Rudolph was taken with a fit and was conveyed to the Eleventh District Station House last night. This morning, about two o'clock, she gave birth to a male child.

Annie Stainroop, a lodger in the Eighth District Police Station, gave birth to a male child about five o'clock this morning.

In TROUBLE AGAIN .- John, alias "Dutch" Abern and James Carey, both quite prominent in Philadelphia police annals, were arrested yesterday, upon the charge of assaulting Thomas Williams, colored, on one of the cars of the Green and Coates Street Rallway, at Eighth and Arch streets. They were held in $600 bail, to THEATRES, Etc.

THE THEATRES.—At the Chestnut Street Theatre this evening, Miss Josic Orton will have a benefit in the pantomime Humpty Dumpty. Miss Orton is one of the most graceful and accomplished artists in the profession and she deserves a crowded house. A farewell performance will be provided to the control of the performance will be provided to the control of the performance will be provided to the performance will be performance will be performed to the performance w a crowded house. A farewell performance will be given to-morrow afternoon, and to-morrow night will be the last of the season. At the Walnut this evening, Mr. Joseph Jefferson will have a benefit, and will appear in his great character, "Rip Van Winkle." Under the Gaslight will be performed at the Arch to-night, upon the occasion of Mr. Lewis Baker's benefit. An ollo entertainment is announced at the American.

STUART ROBSON'S REAPPEARANCE.—An entertainment of unusual attractiveness will be offered at the Academy of Music to-morrow afternoon. Mr. Stuart Robson and Mr. Robert Craig will appear in a series of performances of the most amusing character. These gentlemen, each in his own way, are without superiors in the profession, and as they will be supported by a first-class company, the public may expect such an entertainment as we have rarely had in this city. The following is an outline of the programme: Mr. Robson will give his funny version of Camille, and appear in his original character of "Mr. William Jones," in Jones's Baby. Craig will give his imitations of Charles Dickens, Mr. Joseph Jefferson, John Brougham, J. S. Clarke and others, in his amusing interlude of Love Made by Mimicry, and will address the audience upon the subject of the "Next Presidential Campaign." The most amusing feature of the entertainment will be "Robson and Craig's Music Book," in which Robson will sing "A norrible Tale of a Suicidal Family." Craig will sing "Ten Little Injins." Robson will sing "Timmy Boyle." Craig "Peter Gray." Robson will sing "Tan Little Injins." Robson will sing "Timmy Boyle." Craig "Peter Gray." Robson will sing "Bacon and Greens; after which, they will, in concert, throw the audie.ace into convulsions by a mournful duett, "Little Toodle de doo was a Dandy Cock Robin." Mr. Robson will also enact the original scene introduced by him in Rosedale; or, the Rifle Ball. The admission price is half a dollar, but as seventy-five cents will secure a seat we advise every one to call on Trumpler for that purpose. HOOLEY'S MINSTREIS.—This troupe of Ethiopian performers will appear at the Seventh Street Opera House this evening, in first rate minstrel entertainments. Among other novelties they will present a "spectacular burlesque" entitled the Wild Fawn. This plece is placed upon the stage in very handsome style, with scenery, transformations, &c., of the most beautiful character. LINGARD'S CONCERTS.—At the Eleventh Street Opera fiouse this evening Mr. W. H. Lingard, the celebrated mimic, will give an original entertainmet, in which he will appear in a multitude of different personations. Mr. Lingard possesses very remarkable talent as an imitator, and the celebrity with which he changes from one appearance.

very remarkable taient as an initiative celerity with which he changes from one character to another is simply wonderful. His performance is in the highest degree satisfactory and interesting.

THE COURTS.

QUARTER SESSIONS—Judge Ludlow.—Thomas Williams pleaded guilty to a charge of steal-Patrick Murphy and James Carr, on cross bills, were charged with assault and battery. The case occupied all the morning. It originated in a dispute about boys, and each party claimed that the other was the aggressor. The jury had not been able to determine the question when our report closed.

NEW JERSEY MATTERS.

POLICE OFFICERS APPOINTED.—The following Police Officers Appointed.—The following named persons have been appointed by the Council of Atlantic City police-officers for the present season: Joseph T. Note, John A. Parker, Edmund S. Westcott and Charles Horner. They will enter upon the discharge of their duties on or about the 27th inst. At the last meeting of the Council the Mayor was authorized and instructed to proceed at once to advertise and sell a number of valuable properties for the costs of grading, curbing, graveling, &c. Those who have not paid such bills should attend to it before their property is sold.

ROBBERS AT WORK.—The house-breakers have commenced their operations quite earnestly in Camden and vicinity. A night or two since the residence of Hon. John F. Starr, in Newton township, was entered, and a few spoons and napkin rings were taken. The burglars became alarmed and decamped without getting enough to pay for their trouble. On the following night an attempt was made to force an entrance into the house of Albert W. Markley, Esq., on Cooper street, but without succeeding, the robbers hastily retreated.

POST No. 6.—Post No. 6. Grand Army of the Republic, in Camden, is weekly receiving a large number of members, preparatory for the opening of the coming campaign. This Post is composed of veteran battle-scarred heroes who have bravely breasted the tide of war, and thus aided in saving the life of the nation. They are all sound Union men, and will contribute largely in the work of carrying that city for the Republican ticket.

THE BERRY SEASON.—The amount of berries The Berry Season.—The amount of berries thus far raised at Hammonton, Vineland and other places along the Camden and Atlantic and West Jersey Raliroads, this season, far exceeds the quantity raised in any former year. The straw berry crop has been abundant, while the rasperry and blackberry promise an equal yield. This shows to what advantageous cultivation the sandy soil of South Jersey can be carried.

LAYING OF A CORNER STONE.—On the 24th inst., on the occasion of laying the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple in Philadelphia, the members of Lodge No. 15 of Camden, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, intend to participate in the ceremonies in full regalia. They number about two hundred members.

AN IMPROVEMENT POSTPONED.—The Directors of the Camden Horse Car Rallroad, in consequence of the high price of material, &c., have concluded to delay commencing work on it for an indefinite period of time.

OITY NOTICES.

THE LATEST NOVELTY IN LADIES' HATS.—The "Rip Van Winkle" Sun Hat, just brought out by Messrs. Wood & Cary, 725 Chestunt, is the most popular novelty of the season, and is just the thing for the country and seashore. The demand for them is immense. Messrs. W. & C. still continue to sell their elegant line of Fancy Bonnets and Hats at much below cost; also, every style of desirable cut materials, in quantities to suit purchasers. For every description of Hats and Bonnets, for Ladies, Children and Misses, their stock is by far the rictest in the city, and their prices can be best described as a great sacrifice. The marked rush of customers at their store is thus easily accounted for.

When Macbeth murdered Duncan, he said to his wife, "Methought I heard a voice cry "Sleep no more!" but this was before the discovery of the Elastic Sponge. No household voice since that event has ever cried "Sleep no more." All its merits can scarcely be condensed in a brief notice. It is forty per carcely be condensed in a brief notice. It is forty per ent. cheaper than curled hair, moss, feathers, or any other article, and forty-five per cent. lighter in weight. It appringy, clean, durable, subject neither to disinte-ration or decay, and the supply is inexhaustible. We ommend the Elastic Sponge to every housekeeper in he land.

TWO TABLE-BPOONFULS of the Extract of Barsaparills, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Barsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made, ANINTERESTING LETTER is published in the Mecochirurgical Review on the subject of the Extract of Barsaparilia in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. B., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Barsaparilia; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system se sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.
