the banner of peace. Without the firing of a hostile gun, one remote and savage colony, Australia, has developed into a great, rich nation, where the name of Victoria is cherished as warmly as it is in the island of Great Britain. At home and throughout her dominions there has been amazing progress, and this progress has been in the direction of enlightenment and liberalism, religious as well as political. Perhaps Queen Victors is a most "degrading condition". The well as political. Perhaps Queen Vic- race, is a most "degrading condition." The article, who was one of his "victims," re-

control in a nation, who call themselves
"Conservatives," England might have been no more advanced now than it was a century ago. But under the advice of a wise and virtuous husband, Victoria gave her aid and her sanction to reforms of all kinds, and she is fairly entitled to a share of the credit. As for the wonderful advancement made in the sciences and in the useful arts, during the past thirty years, the personal interest and served and self-participation in the country to Congress, in blitterness" in the country to Congress, in blissful unconsciousnes of any self-participation in that responsibility.

Gouraud attempted to base the study of mnemonics upon system, and his plan was at least ingenious, even though it was not practical. The ground work of his system was the tormation of a new alphabet, in which the tormation of a new alphabet, in which the vowels of the English language were discarded and the consonants were retained.

Victoria is now in her fiftieth year, and she may live and reign for a score of years more, or longer. She has reigned already longer than any import at living sovereign in Europe except Queen Isabella of Spain, who came to her throne in 1833. But there are a dozen or more reigning sovereigns who are older in years than Victoria. That she may inherit her family's length of days is earnestly to be hoped by her subjects. The Military Preparations Against the From the Montreal Spectator of June 15.1
We are pleased to learn that the military have never had the opportunity of doing. This is an important step in the right direction, and will be welcomed with pleasure by the volunteers of all ranks. But something more is needed before we can say that the Province is prepared for the necessities which may arise if the Fenlans chould evade our break through the grand landed at Fort Erie in the evening. Information was at once telegraphed to Toronto and Hamilton, and very great efforts were made to get the troops off, yet it was not till the second morning after that our men got within striking distance of after that our men got within some morning that the raiders, and not till the third morning that the raiders, and not till the third morning that an efficient force reached Fort Erie. Of course of 5.

In Bank Shares and Passenger Railroad transactions tier, or troops from London be sent to Port Sar-nia or Windsor. That time might be indefinitely prolonged if Fenian sympathizers in Canada, or their emissaries from the States, could cut the telegraph wires or tear up the railway tracks. Now we say that it is not fair to expose the people of the Niagara and St. Clair peninsulas to great risk by allowing the troops to remain in London, Hamilton and Toronto. We allege that very great injustice was done to the people of Fort Erie and its neighborhood in 1866, and that it ought not to be repeated. Not for an hour should the fown of St. Catharines or the Welland Canal be left exposed to the chances of attack by any 500 town of St. Catharmes of the chances of attack by any 500 armed rufflans who could be assembled in Buffalo. We were warned a month ago that the concentration of Feniaus was to take place gradually and as secretly as possible, and however good may be the information of the Government, they may be leceived. It will be unwise in the last degree to ier after the raiders have crossed.

It is alleged that it will be more expensive to ather the volunteers on the frontier than a their battalion headquarters, and we reply tha it is better to spend a considerable sum than to risk the disgrace of another Ridgway and the loss of valuable lives. The Government car squander money enough on the contractors Government buildings, and, only grow econom Government buildings, and, only grow economical when the lives and property of the people on the frontier are threatened.

The Government papers are very valiant. They say, let the Fenians come, and they will receive their deserts. It is very well to brag, but it is very much better to make efficient arrangements beforehand. It is well also to save the blood of our own defenders, and to show the ments beforehand. It is well also to save the blood of our own defenders, and to show the Fenians the absurdity of their conduct by pre-venting the raiders holding any portion of our soil even for a single day.
We are told that we are causing alarm in the country by discussing this question. The country was alarmed before we published anything try was alarmed before we published anything on the subject; and the Government can allay any excitement which exists by placing troops on the frontier. Then everybody will be safe. We are better prepared to meet a raid than we were in 1866. The American Government and people are more friendly, and the Fenians have, we believe, in spite of O'Neill's numerous meetings, less money. But a raid is still possible if the frontier is not guarded on our side. If the American Government is sending officers and troops to the lines, why should not we? Why not show to all the world that we do not need to depend on anybody for the safety of our territory? Fancy the shame of seeing a Canadian village sacked by O'Neill's ruffians because the Government was too parsimonious or cause the Government was too parsimonious or too careless to guard the shores against an attack of which they were warned a month

June 31.—There was a good investment and foreign demand for United States stocks, during the past week, and the market for them was on the whole strong, although variable in point of activity, prices being considerably higher at the close than they were at the opening. The dulness and alight depression in the previous week, following the extreme activity and buoyancy which preceded it, latrenghthened the unward tendency of prices by showing the extreme activity and buoyancy which preceded it, latrenghthened the unward tendency of prices by showing the public that notwithstanding the large sales to realize profits which were made, and the efficie of many of the dealers to depress prices for the purpose of buying the market remained firm at an average decline of less than one per cent, from the highest point touched in the midst of the May excitement. That the tendency of prices for our national securities is towards a highen point than has everyet been touched since the suspension of specie payments is obvious for several reasons. Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Relations be discharged from the further consideration of the House bill, for the protection of the Surrett was called. Before proceeding upon its opening, however, the Judge stated American citizens abroad.

Mr. Summer objected to its consideration.

Mr. Conners—I give notice that to-morrow I will ask the Senate to consider the resolution, and at the same time to present some remarks in connection therewith.

John H. Surratt was called. Before proceeding upon its opening, however, the Judge_stated that the practice which prevailed during the trial last summer, of permitting promiscuous admission to the bar of the Court could not now be allowed, as it had not only replaced great inconvenience to those officients.

will ask the sense time to present some remarks in connection therewith.

Mr. Yates called up the bill to admit the State of Colorado into the Union.

Mr. Morrill (Vt.) opposed the bill, saying he would not vote to clothe a boy in the garments of a man—to admit as a State a territory without sufficient population to elect one Representative to Congress. He would vote for the bill if it provided that a census should be taken, in order to see whether it had enough population for that purpose. The only ground for the present application for admission was to allow certain gentlemen to come into Coungress.
