PHILADELPHIA, June 22, 1808.

At a meeting of the Union Republican City Executive Committee, held this day, a communication was received, from the Union Republican City Convention held on the 10th day of June, announcing that Captain Richard Donasan had been declared the noutliee of the Convention for the office of Prothonotary of Court of Common as. be following communication was received from Major hard Ellis, protesting assinst the action of said Conrention: To the Chairman and Members of the City Executive Committee:

Gentlemen: I most respectfully protest against the action of the Unitrman of the City Convention called to nominate a Protinguously of the Court of Common Pleas, in deciding that my name should be dropped after the rounting of the second ballot, and before entering upon-

And the chair then decided that I, having received the lowest number of votes, must be dropped.

The language of the rule is as follows: 'In the city, con ventions all candidates receiving less than ten votes on the second ballot must be dropped, and the lowest candidate shall be dropped on each ballot, after the second, until a nomination is made."

I take this rule to mean what its language expressed to wit: That upon the second ballot only those candidates who received less than ten votes shall be dropped. I received staty sight votes on the second ballet, and yet. I was dropped.

I was dropped.

I respectfully sak that the committee will take such action in the premises as the circumstances justify.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant.

Rabbi Morris Jacob Kaphall, Ph. D. We regret to announce the death of this distinguished Jewish divine, which took place at his residence in this city yesterday morning. He died quite suddenly from a fit of apoplexy. Dr. Raphall was a native of Stockholm, Sweden, where he was born sometime during the month of September, 1798, and had consequently nearly attained his seventieth year. He received an excellent education at the Jewish College at Copenhagen, and for some four years studied at the University of Glessen. He became prominently known in England, to which country he had removed, as the editor of the first Jewish periodical ever published in Great Britain (1834)—The Hebrew Remiew or Magazine of Rabbinical Literature, Subview, or Magazine of Rabbinical Literature. Sub-sequently he translated and wrote several books relating to the Jews, all of which stamped him relating to the Jews, an or which stamped mutas a man of great ability. During the agitation caused by the persecution of the Jews at Damascus, in 1840, the deceased acted as secretary to Dr. S. Huschel, the Chief Rabbi of England, and drew up an expurgatory dehe should tender his resignation.
