Pennsylvania Military Academy. A Gala Day at Chester.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

Speeches, Music, Parades, Salutes, &c.

The old town of Chester, Pa., after sleeping a eleep longer than the of Rip Van Winkle, woke up about a dozen years ago, rubbed its drowsy eyes, stretched its lazy arms, and suddenly started out on a career of progress and improvement which bide fair to rank "Old Chester," at no distant day, among the first towns of Pennsylvania in size and importance.

Among the many indications of the new lease of life which Chester has taken, is the location there of the Pennsylvania Military Academy, which was removed thither from West Chester, which was removed thither from West Chester, which was removed thinker from West Chester, which was removed the west of the following the west of the west o which was removed thither from West Chester, about two years ago. This Academy has rapidly grown into a deserved prominence among the educational matitutions of Pennsylvania. Combining all the advantages of a first-class boarding-school with those of an admirably-conducted military education it has attracted a large class of young men and boys from various parts of the country, who, on Tuesday last, celebrated their second Commencement, since their removal to Chester, and also the dedication of the beautiful new and also the dedication of the beautiful new building, just erected for their use, the corner-stone of which was laid on their last Commencement Day.

The Commencement exercises on Wednesday were conducted with great spirit, and exhibited not only a high degree of literary improvement, but also of excellent discipline in all the departments of the Account ments of the Academy.

At ten o'clock a large audience of the ladies and gentlemen of Chester and its vicinity filled the assembly room, leaving barely sufficient space for the cadeis, who occupied the front centre of the large hall. very good brass band was posted in an

A very good brass band was posted in an adjoining room, and enlivened the occasion with spirited music. The stage was occupied by Ex-Governor Pollock; President of the Board of Trustees, Colonel Theo. Hyatt, President of the Academy, and a number of the clergy of the neighborhood, trustees, members of the faculty and invited grass. and invited guests.

After a brief prayer by the Rev. Dr. Clemson, an Anthem, "Be Joyful in God," was sung by the cadets with capital effect. The orations of the day, interspersed with music, were delivered

The degree of Bachelor of Civil Engine

The degree of Bachelor of Civil Engineering was conferred by ex-Governer Pollock on the following graduates:
Cadet Captain H. C. Bughman, of Pittsburgh.
F. G Paulson,
Ist Lieut. J. J. Post, New York City.
A. S. Woodwell, Pittsburgh.
Cadet W. D. Wilkins, Allegheny.
Governor Pollock, in conferring the degrees, made one of his happy, off-hand speeches, in which much sound judgment was blended with a number of kumorous nits, which were received with rounds of applause by his audience.

which much sound judgment was blended with a number of liumorous hits, which were received with rounds of applause by his audience. Another fine chorus was sung by the cadets, and the audience was dismissed to the parade ground by the benediction being pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Sproull.

In a few minutes the cadets were under arms, and went through a drill and dress parade. Upton's new tactics have been introduced by Col. Patten, and the cadets performed their numerous evolutions with the precision and steadiness of veteran troops. At the conclusion of the dress parade, the ranks were broken, and in a few moments, the boys, with coats off and sleeves rolled up, were posted at their six-gun battery; from which they fired a national salute with great skill and rapidity, only interrupted by the occasional failure of a defective cap.

At two o'clock a large number of guests dined with the cadets, and after thus enjoying the hospitalities of the Academy, the company adjourned its fituated upon a gently rising ground, a little northwest of the built portion of Chester, about half a mile distant, but in full view from the railroad, and commanding a splendid prospect of the surrounding country in all directions. The main building is of brick, rough-cast, in imitation of grantine and admirably contrived for all the uses the surrounding country in all directions. The main building is of brick, rough-cast, in imitation of granite, and admirably contrived for all the uses of the Academy. It is flanked by two one-story wings, one to be used as a drill-barrack and the other as a laundry, &c. It has been erected at a cost approaching $100,000, within the brief space of ten months, and will be entirely ready for the reception of the cadets in September. The architect of the building is Mr. John Crump, of this city, and the builders Messrs. Shedwick & Son, of Chester.

The dedication took place on Wednesday afternoon, in the large drill-barrack, and was attended by a very large audience of the good people of Delaware county, and other friends of the institution.

The dedication exercises were opened by a spirited piece of sacred music by the cadets, accompanied in excellent style by Gadet Charles E. Hyatt on a large cabinet organ. The prayer was made by the Rev. Dr. Schenck. Addresses were delivered by Ex-Governor Pollock, William E. Lehman, Esq. and Mr. Francis Wells, and after the benediction by the Rev. Henry Brown, the company inspected the new buildings, the admirable arrangements of which met with universal commendation. The beautiful weather, the excellent deportment and appearance of the cadets, the large attendance of visitors, and the great interest evinced in the success of the great interest evinced in the success of the Academy, all contributed to make its Commencement Day a very pleasant occasion for all con-

Pennsylvania has good cause to be proud of an institution like the Pennsylvania Military Academy. Under its auspices a generation of young men are to be trained up who will be an honor to themselves and an ornament to the communities where they belong. The whole influence of the school is of the best kind. In religion, in sound morals, in high mental and physical culture, and in the development of an earnest and true patriotism, the education of this Military Academy is equal, if not superior, to that of any similar school in the country.

VISITING FIREMEN.-A committee of twentyeight members of the Union Fire Company, No. 1. of Lancaster, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of receiving their steam engine, which has been at the Seneca Falls works, being rebuilt. The "Union" was taken in charge by a committee of the Hibernia Fire Company, No. 1, and were last evening escorted to charge by a committee of the Holering rice company, No. 1, and were last evening escorted to the Wainut Street theatre, headed by the Jefferson Cornet Band. After the performance was over the strangers were entertained by the Hibernia, at A. Proskauer's rooms, Third street below Walnut. After partaking of the supper, speeches, singing, etc., were the order, and were well kept up till a late hour. At 8 o'clock this morning the Union members were taken to Fairmount Park in a six horse coach, while the steamer was hauled by the Hibernia's horses. The playing powers of the apparatus will be thoroughly tested. The visitors will go to the Fails of Schuylkill this afterternoon, and return home at 11 o'clock to-night.

ternoon, and return home at 11 o'clock to-night.

University of Pennsylvania - Com-mencement Exercises,

The annual commencement exercises of the University of Pennsylvania were held this morning, at the Academy of Music. The audience was large, and was principally composed of young ladies. The stage was set with the magnificent banquet scene used in the opera of Traviata. The Germania Orchestra furnished, some delightful music on the occasion. The exercises were of the most interesting character, and the addresses by members of the graduating class were all well prepared, and were delivered in an excellent manner.

The Trustees of the University, the Faculty. the Graduating Class, and a large number of invited guests, including some of the Judges of the Courte, distinguished members of the Bar, Profescounte, the High School, assembled in the Foyer, tormed in procession, and marched to the stage.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev.

Cresson Fraley. A benediction, pronounced by Rev. Dr. Goodwin, closed the exercises. DEATH OF A WORTHY OFFICER.-John Dougherty, Sergeant of Police in the Fourth District, died suddenly yesterday morning, at his residence, 413 Cherry street. He was taken ill while on duty on the previous night. Scr-geant Dougherty has been a member of the po-lice force for thirteen years, and has faithfully and energetically discharged his duties. He was very popular with the business men of his dis-trict, and after the inauguration of Mayor Mc-Michael he was strongly pressed by them for Lieutenant of the district, should a change be made. The deceased was also connected with the Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, and the Fire Department. His funeral will take place to-morrow at four o'clock.

Boy STABBED .- Last evening several boys aged about 14 years, who had congregated on the corner of New Market and Green streets, got to skylarking. Some of them acted rather roughly, and this led to a quarrel. High words ensued, and finally there was a general fight. Edward Gannon, aged 16 years, was stabbed with a penknife. He received two wounds, one in the stomach and the other in the breast, but neither is considered dangarans. Richard Barrett aged is considered dangerous. Richard Barrett, aged 14. Wm. Harkins, aged 14, Joseph Sullivan, aged 14. Wm. Harkins, aged 14, Joseph Sullivan, aged 13, and Edward Megarge, aged 15 years, were arrested on the charge of having been concerned in the affair. They had a hearing before Alderman Toland and were held to answer. Horse Thier .- A negro was observed driving light wagon over Gray's Ferry bridge yesterday afternoon. A Seventeenth District policeman day atternoon. A Seventeenth District policeman had his suspicious aroused and followed the man. He came up with him at Angora, on the West Chester turnplike, and, upon questioning the suspected individual, found that the team had been stoled from a place in New Jersey. The thief was arrested, and gave his name as Benj. G. Groom. He was taken to Camden to be disposed of. posed of.

FEMALES ON A SPREE .- Elizabeth Clark and Maggie Martin, residing in the neighborhood of Tenth and Locust streets, hired a horse and car-Tenth and Locust streets, fired a fiers and carriage yesterday, and drove around the city. Sundry saloons were visited, and the women became very much intoxicated. At Tenth and Arch streets the wagon was driven over an old man, seriously injuring him. The occupants of the carriage were then arrested. They were taken before Ald Jones, and were committed for a forther hearing. further hearing.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT UPON A WIFE.-Michael Murphy, residing at Second and Shippen streets, Murphy, residing at second and shipped steeds, got drunk last night and quarreled with his wife. It is alleged that he selzed a chair and struck her upon the head with it. Mrs. Murphy was seriously injured, and is now lying in a critical condition. The brutal husband was arrested. This morning he was taken before Alderman Tittermary, and was sent to prison.

LARCENY OF A POCKET-BOOK.—Annie Knott was before Recorder Givin, this morning, upon the charge of the larceny of a pocket-book from a house on Federal street, near Third. She was

The Lost Cause,

The annual Commencement of Washington College, Lexington, Va., of which General R. E. Lee is President, has just taken place. An alumni supper was given, at which General Lee was present, and of what took place there we extract the form of and descents in the present, and of what took place there we extract some paragraphs from extended accounts in the Richmond Dispatch. The account opens thus: General Echols presided with dignity and grace, mingled with a flow of ready wit. Beside him sat General Robert E. Lee, the peerless chieftain; General Wade Hampton, the dashing cavalry leader; General James A. Walker, the bravest of the brave; and Colonel Robert E. Withers, no less gallant in the field than indomitable in his efforts to bear aloft the flag of the white man's party in Virginia. About one hundred and elghty guests were at the well arranged tables, among them some of the most glitted sons of the South.

of the South.

The fourth regular toast was as follows:

"The fallen heroes of the, war! Noble men!

The story of their martyrdom adds fresh lustre to a motto too often sneered at, "Dulce et decorum est propatria mort!"

General Echols said he would call on to respond to that toast the man whom our fallen heroes would call on, if they could sneak. Gand.

heroes would call on, if they could speak-Gene-heroes would call on, if they could speak—General Wade Hampton.

General Hampton said that he was proud to think that our fallen braves would be willing to accept votive offerings from him. Alluding most touchingly to our martyred dead, he said that our griet should be tempered as we remember that they fell when they thought they would not fall in vain—that they fell in the bright hope that success would crown our efforts. But he did not believe they had fallen in vain—the cause for which Jackson and Stuart fell cannot be in vain, but in some form would yet triumph. He proposed the "Lost Cause," for which our heroes proposed the "Lost Cause," for which our heroes fell. This was drunk silently and solemnly by all; and in looking around we observed that nearly all present were Confederate soldiers.

The eighth toast was:
"The true men of the South! Having courage without rashness, prudence without timidity, they neither quail before the frown of power nor fawn upon the hands that have manacled the Major J. Horace Lacy called upon the man who had led the Stonewall Brigade to respond to

After some humorous hits at Major Lacy, whom he had seen when he was not quite so jubilant as now, General Walker said that he did claim to be one of the "true men of Virginia"— that during the war he had tried to do his duty in seeking the real interests of Virginia, and that since the surrender he had never bowed the knee to Baal. He never meant to acknowledge higher allegiance than that he owed his native State.
