The interior of the hall was draped in black hangings, relieved here and there by sliken banners richly emblazoned with Masonic devices. The centre of the hall was occupied by an imposing catafalque, on which were scrolls inscribed with the names of the lamented deceased. The pall which covered the base of this funereal structure was profusely strewn with flowers, and in the dim religious light which prevailed during the mournful ceremonies it had the appearance of a carpet gayly patterned with floral devices. The hall was crowded with spectators, a large number of ladies being present. The orchestra was under the direction of C. S. Grafulla, and the choral services were performed by the ladies and gentlemen of the Mendelssohn Union, the Morrisiania Harmonic Society and the Harlem Musical Association. The mournful strains of the Misserers were followed by a solemn invocation from the master of ceremonies, after propriate prayers had been offered by the priests of the lodge and the ritualistic address had been delivered, Luther's "Judgment Hymn" and the "Halleluiah Chorus" were finely rendered by the choir, and the proceedings closed with a bene-

Mr. Washburne's motion was agreed to, so the proviso stands.

Mr. Holman offered an amendment to tax the Mr. Holman offered and this extreme ease is not likely to be soon disturbed either or in Europe.

The market for Government securities was steady at the opening, but it afterwards became heavy, mainly in consequence of the operations of some of the dealers, who were anxious to buy at the reduced quotations. The decline was equal to 3.0% per cent, in some instances from the reference current vesterday morning, but at this point there Mr. Clark (Kan.) presented resolutions of a interest on United States bonds 16% per cent.

Mr. Schenck objected that the amendment was was equal to 3:63% per cent, in some instances from the prices current yesterday morning, but at this point there was an active demand from parties who had been awaiting an opportunity to take in a fresh stock, and a recovery of about a quarter per cent, took place at the quarter per 20 clock call. The investment demand at the same time quickened, and considerable purchases of five-twenties were made by the banks for the temporary employment of capital. The lowest prices were made at noon, and the hammering was done with very slight sales by the sample process of offering clock down. No considerable lots came out, however, and the undertone of the market was really strengthened by the efforts to break it down by those anxious to buy. The disbursement of nearly forty millions in coin by the Treasury in July and more than thirty millions in currency by the State, the banks and railway, and other corporations cannot fait to largely stimulate the demand for investment and materially affect the course of prices. The Assistant-Treasurer in this city has given notice to the holders of the bonds of 1847 and 1848 that the latter will be redeemed either here or in Washington on and after the 1st proxime, and that settlers. JUNE 25—The dulness which pervaded the Government bond market yesterday continued to-day, and resulted in a decline of 1. to 3. per cent. The disposition of foreign holders is to sell influenced thereto by the fear that Mr. Pendieton may be the Democrafic nominee for President, or that his reputed greenhack opinions may be embodied in the platferm of that party. The samic feeling which depressed the Government bond market when these greenback opinions were first ventilated seems to have been revived during the lat few days, and to gain ground at the near approach of the National Democratic Convention. tion.

The gold market opened at 140%, declined to 140%, and closed at 140% at 3 P. M. The rates paid for borrowing were 182, 164, 6, 5 and 3 per cent. to flat. After the board adjourned the quotation was 140%.

The foreign exchange market is dull; the quotations are Rankers' sixty day sterling bills 110 to 110%, and sight, 110% to 110%. Francs. on Paris bankers 100g, 5.18% to 5.12%, and short,5.11% to 5.10. who was drowned at Point Airy yesterday. The evidence showed that he and a companion went over to the Island, as they had been in the habit of doing. They each drank a glass of beer, Craig called for four more glasses and drank the contents of all. He then smoked a cigar, and afterwards went into the water. Being stupid from the effects of the liquor and the tobacco smoke, he was drowned.

The verdict of the jury was:

"That the said Robert Craig came to his death by being drowned, while intoxicated, at Point Airy, June 25, 1868. The evidence before the jury showed that intoxicating liquor had been sold to the said Robert Craig, by Measrs. 24mmerman & Griesell. The jury most severely censure the practice of selling liquor to minors."
