THE LIFE OF A LEAF. I. THE BUD. Close within a downy cover Here at rest I lie, Half awake and half in slumber While the storms go by. Sometimes vague impatient strivings

Stir my life within;
Hopes of being something worthy,
Longing to begin. Then again a soft contentment Broodeth o'er my state; When the time comes I am ready; Until then I wait.

Is this then life? 'Tis glorious, so fair ! The soft sweet breezes playing round rest,
The summer fragrance growing everywhere;
The happy birds low cooing in their nest. What mean the fear with which we put on life It is all good, and hope comes after joy; Come anything in this delightsome strife, Storms cannot daunt us, sunshine cannot cle

II. THE LEAFLET.

III. SUMMER LEAF. Kiss me, kiss me, kingly sun, Till I glow with crimson light, Till along my veins shall run Liquid lustre glistening bright

Let thy touch so piercing sweet Hold me close and thrill me through, Till I faint with languid heat,
Till for rest from thee I suc; Hear me not, O king of light, Let me die within thy sight.

IV. AUTUMN LEAF. I wonder what has vanished from the world; nd now we leaves upon the branches cu Hang wearily, just swaying to and fro. The sun shines on, the cruel biting sun; He will not vall one smile to ease our pain; What matter that, so his great course is run? The subjects suffer, but the king must reign,

V. FALLEN. The desperate clutch at the last weak hold The dizzying leap into depths untold Comes closer and closer and closer.

> Quivering, shivering, Drawn from below, Where shall we vanish to Leaving the upper air, Heaviness everywhere Fallen on dull despair, Here we lie low.

Let me sleep, it is so sweet to slumber-All of sweetness that remaineth still; Bwift the drenching rains and frosts of Winter Rid the earth of worn out things of ill. It may be some good there was within us

May survive this discipline of pain;
May not die, but change its outward substanding revive in other leaves again. FOREIGN VARIETIES.

Josiah Quincy, For sixteen years Mr. Quincy was the President of Harvard College—a difficult and laborious office, in which he displayed extraordinary tact, good sense and good nature. His son tells us, that, during the whole six-teen years of his presidency, he was never absent from the six o'clock morning prayers but three times; and that was occasioned by Peter Williamson.

WM. T. BUTLER, Secretary. In the first place, he was strictly temperate Republican Speech From a Georgian.

The Hon. James L. Saward resides at Thomasville, in Southern Georgia, but a few miles from the Florida, line. He is well dumps the contents on the counter. He total abstinence. At breakfast and at night he ate moderately and of plain food. At dinner, which he had the good sense to eat in the middle of the day, he ate heartily of what—with safety, and confines its business exclusively to Representatives crowded to hear him. The manner and bearing of the audience was in striking contrast with that addressed by Toombs. All present were attack with the difference. Mr. Seward speaks with great difference din difference difference difference difference difference differen exclusively.
