The Earl of Denbigh rose to inquire whether it were true that a frigate was blockading the port of Mazatlan, and, if so, whether such blockade had been duly authorized by her Majesty in Council and published in the Gazette. The noble lord remarked that, since he had placed his notice on the paper, further particulars respecting the alleged blockade had been published in the newspapers. The blockading of a port was a very important operation, and ought to be carried out in a very cautious manner. He might remark that, some years ago, in consequence of the blockade of change.

All that her Majesty's Government have leard is that on the 4th of July the Admiralty learn by a telegram that an outrage having been committed on some British seamen or British subjects—I know not exactly which—Captain Bridges, of the Chanticleer, took upon himself to stop the entrance to the port of Mazatlan. I quite agree with my noble friend in stating that an officer has no right on his own responsibility to commit such an act as that. At the same time there are circumstances which justify breaches of the law, as your lordships know. But, not knowing any of those circumstances, no opinion can be pronounced on that point. On the 10th of this month the Admiralty also received a telegraphic despatch from Vice-Admiral Hastings, saying that he had sent orders to Captaia Bridges to raise the blockade. That is all that we have heard on the subject, and no other authentic intelligence has reached us. I cannot help here noticing what was said by my noble friend with respect to a very grave event which occurred some years ago at Jeddah. He seemed to think very lightly of it, and talked of some sailors being stopped, or something of that LONDON, July 29, A. RELATIONS WITH MEXICO. It cannot fail to be satisfactory to every eral Rosecrans as Minister to Mexico has itness and merit there can be no question. He is a well-educated soldier, an accomplished gentleman, and his political record shows him to have been in harmony with the great mass of the loyal people during the war and since its termination. The fact of his being a Catholic may be regarded as another advantage, as he is to represent our Government in Republic whose people and functionaries are almost exclusively of the same faith. Coming from a Republic where all varieties of religious faith are respected, and being able to testify to the advantage of religious freedom and to the prosperity of his own church under such a system, General Rosecrans may influence the leading minds among the liberal public men of Mexico, and thus help to end the conflict between the clerical and liberal parties, which has so often While the United States Government i thus, at last, about to be well-represented in Mexico, the Government of Great Britain refuses to send a minister there. The difficulty eems to be one of punctilio and etiquette. England was unnecessarily eager to recognize Maximilian's so-called Empire, thus affirming her faith that the Republic was dead. When Juarez assumed power, as head of the Republic, in the capial. Mr. Scarlett, the British Minister accredited to the Empire, was not acceptable to the Republic, and all intercourse was broken off. According to a ministerial statement in the House of Commons, England will not ask for a renewal of official intercourse. She will wait for overtures from Mexico, and these are not likely to come very soon. Bill Protecting Naturalized Citizens

OPINION OF THE ENGLISH PRESS

ATEST FROM WASHINGTON Sec. McCulloch and the New Tax Bill

By the Atlantic Cable. for the protection of American citizens abroad passed just before the adjournment of the Congress of the United States, were telegraphed to London and published in this morning's journals. The bill is sharply and unfavorably eritithis action of Congress will not tend to promote the success of American negotiations with for eign powers, to secure by treaty the establishment of the principles of nationality on which the bill is based. Paris, July 29th .- The Corps Legislatif having passed the budget and finished all measures before it, closed its session yesterday. From Washington. WASHINGTON, July 29 .-- Secretary McCullect is not at all satisfied with the new Tax bill He believes the section allowing drawback on ex ported spirits throws open the door to fraud, and that supervisors with power to suspend officers receiving much larger salaries than themselves, and irresponsible detectives, will not add to the efficiency of the revenue service. It is quite probable that if the bill, as it came from the Conference Committee, could have been scrutinized at the Treasury, Mr. McCulloch Regulations of a very stringent character for collection and drawbacks on exported spirits are in the course of preparation at the Department.
