

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Our Branch and its Tributaries. As a title for a book, the above would not be very expressive of its proper character. But it is expressive and significant in the volume before us. The full title is, "Our Branch and its Tributaries: A History of the United States Sanitary Commission and its Auxiliaries During the War of the Rebellion, by Mrs. Sarah Edwards Henshaw, including all Reports of the Executive and Legislative Committees, by E. W. Blatchford, Treasurer, and an introductory chapter by Hon. Mark Skinner." It is published in Chicago by Alfred L. Stock, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

touching incident, which we have not seen reported elsewhere. The following are the words of one of the contributors: "The idea of the 'Branch and its Tributaries' was suggested by the fact that the name of the branch was inserted in the Roman Italic type of the 'Branch and its Tributaries'." The happy flexibility of the Roman principle, as a power of propaganda, is exhibited wherever its missionaries penetrate. It is not a matter of chance that the name of the branch is so widely disseminated. It is not a matter of chance that the name of the branch is so widely disseminated. It is not a matter of chance that the name of the branch is so widely disseminated.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.

the excellent narrative of Mrs. Henshaw is, who has produced a volume of which an Eastern home might be proud. The paper was made in the Northwest; the press used was made in Chicago, and here, too, the printing and binding were done. It is much the most elegant book that has yet come under our notice from the West.