TREASURY DEVARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, WASHINGTON, JUNE 8, 1868.—Sir:—In pursuance of a purpose known to my friends for several months, I hereby tender you the resignation of my office, to take effect upon the qualification of my successor—nominated by yourself and confirmed by the Senate. I am, sir, very respectfully, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Upon the 5th of August inst. the President fixed upon this letter the following indorsement:

"The resignation of E. A. Rollins, as Commissioner of Internal Revenue, dated June 8, 1868, is this day accepted." Upon these facts you desire my answer to two questions, namely: First. Is the office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue vacant? Second. If the office is vacant, when did the vacancy occur, and can a successor to Mr. Rollins be appointed during the recess of the Senate? The office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue is, as you suggest, a vory responsible and important one. Its intelligent, efficient and faithful administration is a matter of the greatest interest to the public revenues and the public credit, and it is justly a subject of solicitude with the President that his full duty under the Constitution and the laws in respect to this office and its administration shall be fulfilled. The questions which you address to me come to be of practical and substantial interest in the Executive admipistration of the government only by force of the recent legislation by Congress, known as the "Tenure of Civil Office bill," that has impressed upon a class of officers which includes that now under consideration. Description, Wanderson, June 2, State of Control and State of Control an

the sole and specific mode of the appointment, confirmation and qualification of a successor. This firm hold upon an office into which he shall once have been inducted, is put distinctly by the act as a matter, of the officer's right and little. The consequence of this is that there is no other pos-sible mode of vacating the office thus protected against the will of the officer, during the session of the Senate, however figgitious and imperious his personal or official conduct may be, except through the conditional process of impeachment. During the recess of the Senate the remedial proceeding of temporary suspension for cause by the Executive, followed by accusation to the Senate and judgment thereon, is provided, and may result in the removal of the officer without the necessity of the simultaneous appointment, confirmation and qualification of his successor. The language of the section securing the right and title of the office-holder is too clear to admit of doubt: that every person holding any civil office to which he has been appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and every person who shall bereafter be appointed.

every person who shall hereafter be appointed to any such, and shall become duly qualified to act therein, is and shall be entitled to hold such office until a successor shall have been in like manner appointed and duly qualified, except as herein otherwise provided.

herein otherwise provided.

Mr. Rollins then, at the date of his letter to the President, was entitled to hold the office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue until a successor should have been appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and should have been appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and should have orallifed and the only internal that have qualified; and the only interruption of this, his personal right, possible under the law, was the general process of impeachment and judgment thereon; or the special proceeding of suspension, accusation and judgment thereon, provided by the act itself, and which obviously particles of the active of the process.

takes of the nature of impeachment. It rested then, under the operation of this law, solely with Mr. Rollins to determine whether he voluntarily put an end to his hold upon the office by a relinquishment or resignation of it, and the question whether the office is now years must, in my opinion turn entirely more a just con-

It will be perceived that this event which is to ripen this "tender of a resignation," into a relinquishment of the office is precisely the action of the Executive and of the Senate, and of the successor of Mr. Rollins, which, by the terms of the "Tenure of Civil" Office act, "deprive him of his office, and consequently of any nower or will in regard to its relinquishment. I cannot, therefore, give to this letter, any official or legal force whatever in placing at the discretion or disposition of the

Probably never before in the whole history of medicina has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and anigher in their estimation, as it has become better known, its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to radial entire the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidate for them.

MARINE MISCELLANY.

Schr Wm L Springs from Wilmington, NC. for N York, before reported as having gone ashore on the rip Inside of the western bar, below W. was got off on Friday night as the several days labor. It was thought at one time she would got to pieces, but on the 8th she was towed up to the city, leaking badly and considerably injured; but the steam pump placed in her was clearing out the water.

The Tecumseh, Sponagla, from Liverpool for Boston, was spoken March 14, in lat 45 N, lon 25 W, and has not since been heard of.

The Elizabeth, Dyes, salied from New York for Queens town or Falmouth March 17, and has not since been heard of.

U.S. steamer, General Putnam, sunk at the Delaware Breakwater, was raised by Mr F.W Beers, of the Atlautto Submarine Co, and taken to Wilmington, Del. on the 11th inst. She was turned completely upside down, with her walking beam and gallows buried in the mad to the depth of fifteen feet. She is much damaged. relinquishment or resignation of it, and the question whether the office is now vacant must, in my opinion; turn entirely upon a just construction of the effect of the letter of Mr. Rollins in this regard.

This letter is manifestly filed with the intent of conveying an impression that the writer does place himself in respect to his office and to the public service, and to the power and duty of the President in connection therewith, upon a different footing from that which the law, against or without deference to his wishes, leaves him rest upon. Duly weighing all parts of this official communication to the President with respect to the Commissioner, would require me, if possible, to give some official equire me, if possible, to give some official equire me, if possible, to give some office. I am obliged to regard it at present as a testignation, which is to become a resignation on actual relinquishment of the office, only upon and after the eyent which is named and described by the writer as a condition precedent to its having that effect.

This event, in the lauguage of Mr. Rollins, addressed to the President is "the qualification of my successor—nominated by yourself, and confiffied by the Senate." It will be perceived that the confice only upon and after the event which is manifed by the Senate." It will be perceived that the conficulation of the President is "the qualification of my successor—nominated by provention and the province of the conficulation of the president is "the qualification of my successor—nominated by pourself, and confirmed by the Senate." It will be perceived that the province of the confirment of the province of the confirment of the province of the confirment of the president is "the qualification of my successor—nominated by province of the provin all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the 'Cherry Pectoral.' So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it. Bronchite is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.
