The Rebel Threats of War.

To those who question the possibility of an inauguration of war by the rebels, we recommend the following remarks by Mr. Geo. William Curtis in Harper's Weekly.

"How a Democratic success at the election would occasion civil war is easily seen. General Blair does not hesitate to avow it. Congress must be wholly duregarded. The Supreme Court must not be invoked. The President must usurp all powers of the Government and act alone. He must be a Cæsar. 'Because,' saya General Blair in his letter, 'if the President elected by the Democracy enforces, or permits others to enforce, these Reconstruction acts, the Radicals, by the accession of twenty spurious Benators and afty Representatives, will control Senators and fifty Representatives, will control both branches of Congress, and his administration will be as powerless as the present one of Mr. Johnson.' Force is, therefore, the only alternatives.

ion will be as powerless as the present one of Mr. Johnson.' Force is, therefore, the only alternative.

"If Mr. Seymour be elected after this loud and reiterated declaration by his party that his election will mean forcible overthrow of the present state governments in the Southern States, the result is evident. He would officially declare those governments void. He would then be impeached and Probably convicted; but the Democratic party, victorions at the polls, with the whole rebel force jubilant and ready, would dispute the sentence and rise against its execution. Meanwhile in the Southern States the new Democratic State organizations summoned by the President would be formed. They would dispute the State authority with the present incumbents. The President would recognize the new claimants and order the army to their support, and to 'trample in the dust' the others. They in turn would appeal to Congress, already engaged in conflict with the President. Meanwhile the Representatives and Senators from the new State organizations would arrive in Washington, and in concert with the Other democratic members would be recognized as Congress by the President. But, indeed, long before this event civil war would be ravaging the country, and Wade Hampton and Robert Toombs, and Howell Cobb, and the old rebel chiefs who say with Albert Pike, 'We do not love and will not pretend to love that Union, though we have agreed to obey the laws of the conqueror,' would gladly behold in a desolating war and a ruined republic the fallness of their revenge." republic the faliness of their revenge.'

Chief Justice Chase on Grant. Colonel William Brown made a long and able defence of Mr. Chase in a speech delivered at Frankfort, Ky., on the 20th inst. The following is an extract: I have heard him speak often, in terms of high I have heard him speak often, in terms of high eulogy, of the character of General Grant; he has great confidence in his straightforward honesty and integrity, and has a high appreciation of his sterling common sense and judgment of men; while he regards Mr. Colfax as one of the purest and best men our country has ever produced; weighing him in the standard of his own hard and tolleome experience as a self-mide man, he looks upon him as a fitting

Tints of beauty and lines of grace.

Tints of beauty and lines of grace.

I know that Mr. Chase anticipates the election of General Grant; that he expects, if both are alive on the Fourth day of March, 1869, to swear him into office as the next President of the United and into once as the next freshent of the United States, and that he believes his administration will be mild, humane and harmonizing. I can safely tell you, too, that he regards General Blair's letter to Colonel Brodhead as Kuklux, as simply devilish; and I can also assure you that if the progressionists of the New York Convention had so far succeeded there as to justify Mr. Chase in accepting the nomination they proposed to tender him, he would have repudiated posed to tender him, he would have repudiated that part of the platform which declares "the Reconstruction acts of Congress unconstitutional, revolutionary and void," just as General McClellan repudiated the objectionable part of the Chicago platform of 1864.

There is not power enough on this continent to commit Mr. Chase to the platform of any party involving questions that may possibly come up for adjudication before the Court of which he is the learned head.

Temper of Maryland Rebels. Mr. James M. Dalzell, of Washington, relates some of his experience with the rebels at Mount Airy, Maryland, on the 24th of July, after the great Maryland flood. Applying in distress for admission to the houses of some of the citizens of Mount Airy, he was abused and called a d—d Yankee. Mr. Dalzell gives this reason, supposing that they were repels: that they were rebels:
"Several of them had gray uniforms on, an had Lee's picture hanging in their houses, and said they had been captains in the Confederate army."

The conversation of these people was refresh-

"You are a Seymour man, I see," said I to one of them. "Seymour h—!!" was his eloquent reply. "You vote for Grant or Seymour, or any nigger you choose. It is your nigger show over nigger you choose. It is your nigger show over there in the United States; it is none of our business. As soon as we get stuff gathered up we'll

CITY BULLETIN.

Two Charges.—The house of James Campbell, No. 2052 Alter street, was entered a few days ago and robbed of a powder flask. Mr. Campbell saw a stranger leaving the place and followed him. He proved to be Lawrence Donahoe. He had the flask concealed under his shirt bosom. On the night of the same day Mr. Campbell was awakened by a noise at a back window shutter. On looking out he saw a man endeaver. former to force his way into the house. This man he avers was Donahoe. The latter, at a hearing before Recorder Givin yesterday, was held in $1,500 for his appearance at court.

DANGEROUSLY HURT.—Ann McGurken lives on Seventh street, near Shippen. A day or two since she quarrelled with a female neighbor, and it is alleged that she pushed the latter into the street. In falling she fractured three of her ribs and dislocated one of her thighs. She lies at the Pennsylvania Hospital in a dangerous condi-tion. Mrs. McGurken is under ball. This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of its Large Capital, Low Rates of Prenium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium, being largely reduced are made as favorable to the Insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are apt to cause the Policy-Holders. Several new and attractive tables are now presented, which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as the IN-COME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policyholder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. In the latter, the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

RAILROAD CO.

We have just received in detail the statement of the FIC RAILROAD COMPANY for the first six months of the current year.

The figures are:
Gross Earnings. Operating Expenses. Net Earnings.
$607,634 29 gold. $217,983 63 gold. $389,650 66 gold. As the first train passed across the mountains on the 18th of June the road was not fairly open for the legiti-mate traffic until July 1st. The above is practically the business on 83 miles to Cisco; although 25 to 35 miles of disconnected road were worked on the last slope it was no source of profit; moreover much of the freight would naturally be held back for the continuous rail.

$260,000 00 Gold.

We suppose the expenses during that time not to exceed Thirty-five per cent. We have on hand for sale
