THE REPUBLICAN TRIUMPH.

The N. 1. Tribune thus brings confusion to the Seymourism Exalteth Its Horn, (From the World of Aug. 29.)

THE VERMONT RECTION. There is confessedly little in a Vermont elec-tion to excite the interest or enthusiasm of the Democracy. The State, since its formation, has been in the political control of enemies of the ference, consequent upon the criminal impolicy of Congress toward the South in particular and the country generally. The same cause produced similar, though much more marked, results in nearly every State which held an election

MASS MEETING OF FIVE THOUSAND DEMOCRATS AT LYNDON-GRATIFYING STATE OF THE CANVASS. [Special Despatch to the World ]

[Special Despatch to the World]
Lyndon, August 29.—A mass meeting of nearly five thousand Democrats assembled here to-day, and were addressed by the Hon. John D. Edwards, Democratic candidate for Governor; the Hon. Edwin Elger, and the Hon. C. W. Brewster, of Boston, and the Hon. E. D. Rand, of New Hampshire. The meeting was the largest held in this part of the State since 1864. Even Vermont is beginning to realize the blighting effects and enormous expense of conducting the Government outside of the Constitution. Vermont will give five thousand Democratic increase. mont will give five thousand Democratic increase

And Cometh Out at the Little End Thereof.

[From the New York World of Sept. 2.]
The election in Vermont yesterday, as was exected, resulted in favor of the Radicals. A larger pected, resulted in favor of the Radicals. A larger vote than that of last year was polled by both parties; the increase being greater on the Radical than on the Democratic side. The Democrats, not having bestirred themselves during the campaign, except so far as to indulge in a spasmodic effort at the very last moment, allowed the election to go by default, justly considering that its result would be in no degree indicative of the political sentiment of the country. The taking of Holland by the Dutch, and the success of the Radicals in Vermont, are identical. The Radicals have done no better than they did four years ago; the Demono better than they did four years ago; the Demo-crats have done no worse.

The Great Republican Triumph—
Thirty Thousand Majority
BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 1.—The Republicans have achieved a glorious victory to-day. Heavy gains are reported all over the State. The only Democratic gain reported is in this city, which was achieved by naturalization. Only three Deminates are elected to the Legislature, as far as heard from. Fifty towns give Page 18,000, Edwards 4,420—being a Republican gain of 2,287 over last year. A proportionate increase in the remaining towns will give a total majority of 30,000, or a Republican gain of 10,000 over last year. In this county, the entire Republican ticket will have about 2,000 majority. The town of Rutland gives a Republican gain of 159. The State Senate will probably be unanimously Republican. The probably be unanimously Republican. The triumph is the more glorious from the fact that the Republicans had not exerted themselves until the Republicans had not exerted themselves until a few days before the election, whereas the Democrats had been working secretly and hard for two months. Local divisions also weakened the Republican vote in many towns. Montpeller chooses no representatives, though on other parts of the ticket the Republicans make heavy gains. Burlington elects Tarroy E. Wales (Republican) Representative by 109 majority, on the largest vote ever polled here, and after the hardest contested election. We shall have full returns to-morrow. The Republicans are having a grand torchlight procession to-night.—Boston Adv.

Why Gov. Seymour Had an Offcer Suspended from Duty.

(From the Newburg Journal, of Aug. 31.) An officer in one of our State regiments was astounded one day, while in the field, by the receipt of an order direct from the War Department, suspending him from duty. Repairing to Washington, he was shown a letter from Horatio Washington, he was shown a letter from Horatio Seymonr, then Governor of the State, asking for the suspension as a personal favor. Coming on from Washington to Albany, he sought a personal interview with the Governor, for the purpose of learning the cause of this extraordinary request. But the Governor put him off from day to day with the pretext of "engaged," until finally the suspended officer thought His Excellency had played with him long enough, and entered his presence unannounced and without leave. He then politely requested to be informed of the charges which had induced the Governor to make so remarkable a request from the War Department. After coloring and stammering for a few moments in coning and stammering for a few moments in conscious shame, Gov. Horatio Seymour, the "G-r-e-a-t Democratic Statesman of the nine-teenth century," asked his visitor if he had not in a private letter, written without the remotest idea of influencing any one against the Government of influencing any one against the Governor, spoken of him as a Copperhead!

Relieved to find the charge so frivolous—indignant that the Governor of the State of New York ahould have been guilty of such petty spleen, the officer, admitting the charge and suggesting that if all soldiers who called him a Copperhead were to be suspended the army would soon become a mere skeleton, he turned on his heel and left the great statesman. As soon as the facts could be properly brought to the attention of the Wash-ington authorities the officer was restored to his position and served through the war.

A Democratic Organ on Vermont. Before the election of last Tuesday, the Boston

"Though it is not to be expected of the defenders of the Constitution in Vermont that they will achieve anything like a numerical triumph next Tuesday, we do reckon with great confidence on such handsome gains for them as will serve for an index of the final result when the country votes in a body in November. The RESULT IN VERMONT WILL ESTABLISH THE FACT OF THE TENDENCY EVERYWHERE ELSE. It will certify to the positiveness of the reaction that is going on throughout the Union against the revo-lutionary course of the faction that has attained supreme power. There is a great deal more virtue in the example of a reduced opposition majority, as in the case of Vermont, than in a positive victory in a State where victories over reducibles are regular metters." radicalism are regular matters."

The day after the election the Post had not a word to say about "the reaction."

The Democratic Candidate for Gover-

John T. Hoffman, whe yesterday received the unanimous nomination of the Democratic State Convention of New York for Governor, was born in the village of Sing Sing. About the age of 21 he graduated at the old Union College, in Schenectady, N. Y., after which he immediately entered ectady, N. Y., after which he immediately entered on the study of law. Before embarking on the troubled sea of politics, he practiced for several years at the New York bar, and was of the firm of Woodruff, Leonard & Hoffman. He was elected Recorder in November, 1860, and discharged the duties attaching to the position in a very creditable manner. At the expiration of his term of office he was re-elected by a large majority. In 1865 Mr. Hoffman was elected Mayor of New York, defeating Messrs. Hecker and Gunther. He received the nomination for the position to which he now again aspires, and suffered a Waterloo defeat at the hand of Gov. Fenton.

Hobert E. Lee in Tears. The editor of the Fredericksburg (Va.) News, who is sojourning at the White Sulphur Springs, speaks of Gen. Lee as follows:

"Lee, of course, is primus inter pures. His beautiful character, which has no parallel in history, teres, totusque rotundus, wins for him uniwersal love and admiration. A delegation of his old soldiers, some armless and wounded, called on him on Saturday, and the tears rolled down the old chief's face and fell upon the floor. Ah! that tender heart, why didn't it let him burn Fredericksburg and Burnside and his army in 1802, and cud the war then?"

Last evening the Republican citizens of Weldon, Montgomery county, assembled in massucceting at Weldon Hall. Notice had been freely meeting at Weldon Hall. Notice had been freely circulated of the meeting, and the result was the hall was crowded to overflowing. A large number of ladles were present. A 74 o'clock the meeting organized by selecting Wm. C. Kent, Esq., as President, and a number of Vice Presidents and Sceretaries. The President stated that there were a number of distinguished speakers present, who would address the meeting. He then introduced Geo. H. Earle, Esq., of Philadelphia, who made a powerful and telling speech. This speaker was followed by William Moran and John Goforth. Esqs., of Philadelphia, and by Professor Miller, of Chicago. These gentlemen entertained the meeting until a late hour with speeches abounding in eloquence and argument, and they were frequently and enthusiastically applanded.

The meeting was the largest ever held in Wel-tically applanded.

The meeting was the largest ever held in Weldon Hall, and it was due in a great measure to the efforts made by Mr. Kent, the chairman, and to the fact that it was called to aid in the election of the gallant soldier Grant, who did so much to sustain the government in its hour of peril.

She knocked her down and beat and kicked her, until she was obliged to run away and take refuge in a tavern. The assailants was sent to prison. THE DANGER OF INTERFERING .- John Donohue keeps an ice-cream saloon and restaurant at Twenty-fourth and Callowhill streets. Last night about 11 o'clock he had a difficulty with an individual about the payment of a bill. A man named Lawrence Kane, residing in Asprey street, who was in the establishment, interfered in the quarrel and was knocked down. He was then kicked and had aleg broken. ### THEATRES, Etc.

AT THE WALNUT .- Chas. Reade's drama of Foul Play continues to be successful, and promises to run for some time to come. The performance goes off much more smoothly now, and de ance goes off much more smoothly now, and despite the glaring faults, and the irremediable defects of the play, gives satisfaction to the audiences. Mr. sailey has bravely sacrificed his proclivity for a duster, and "General Rolleston" comes upon the stage now clothed in a black coat and his right mind. The sunking ship is engulphed in the bounding billows of the raging ocean with even greater fidelity to nature, than was at first the case, and the storm scene afterward is better than ever. The gentlemen who work the surf that beats up in the back ground of the charming island scene—the best in the play—are more skilful, and the effect is very good indeed. The spectator who wishes to make the illusion even greater, should look at the surf through his reversed opera glass. It is Cape May over reversed opera glass. It is Cape May over again.

If Mr. Hemphill should wisely decide to cut the play down somewhat, we would suggest that the scene in which "Wiley" thrusts his money through the wall could be very judiciously AT THE CHESTNUT the White Fawn continues to draw large audiences, and now that the weather has moderated so that the temperature of a crowded theatre will not be uncomfortable, of a crowded theatre will not be uncomfortable, there will probably be a greater rush than ever to see this spectacle. Whatever may be said of the injurious tendency of dramas of this description upon the legitimate business of the stage, there can be no denial of the fact that this piece is very superb and elegant in its appointments, and is well worth seeing merely as a bit of gorgeous coloring. Everything, from the costume of the meanest supernumerary to the final transformation scene, is of the best character. The dancing is very fine. Bonfanti and Sohike are not surpassed in their profession, and the troupe by which they are supported is well drilled and thoroughly efficient. Bonfanti's shadow dance in the final act is the consummashadow dance in the final act is the consumma-tion of art. The White Fawn will be given every night, and at the matinée on Saturday afternoon AT THE AMERICAN-This evening a miscellaneous entertainment will be given, with ballet dancing by the troupe.

The Chinese Government having (through the Hon. line of 910 miles at once, between the following ports

Total.

Total.

These ports have a foreign commerce of $300,000,000 and an an anormous domestic trade, besides which we have the immense internal commerce of the Empire, radiating from these points, through its canals and navigable rivers. The cable being laid, this company propose creeting land lines and establishing a speedy and trustworthy means of communication, which must command there.

means of communication, which must command there, as everywhere else, the communications of the government, of business, and of social life, especially in China. She has no postal system, and her only means now of communicating information is by courier on land, and by etcamers on water.

The Western World knows that China is a very large country, in the main densely peopled; but few yet realize that she contains more than a third of the human lize that she contains more than a third of the human race. The latest returns made to her central authorities for taxing purposes, by the local magintates, make her population Four Hundred and Fourteen Millions, and this is more likely to be under than over the actual aggregate. Nearly all of these who are over ten years old not only can, but do read and write. Her civilization lis peculiar, but her literature is as extensive as that of Europe. China is a land of teachers and traders; and the latter are exceedingly quick to avail themselves of every profiered facility for procuring early information. It is observed in California that the Chinese make great use of the telegraph, though it there transmits messages in English alone. Today, great numbers of fleet steamers are owned by Chi. though it there trained messages in English aione. To day, great numbers of flect steamers are owned by Chinese merchants, and used by them exclusively for the transmission of early intelligence. If the telegraph we propose, connecting all their great scappers, were now in existence, it is believed that its business would pay its cost within the first two years of its successful operation, and would steadly increase thereafter.
