There are none now who doubt that we will have a handsome majority in Pennsylva-nia, and the accepted figures generally are 15,000 to 20,000 majority, prophesied by Senator Came-ron, but there are many who will not be satisfied with less than 50,000, and they say we can make it, if the proper kind of exertion is only patforth. The Democrats are doing their best, by controlling the Government patronage, as far: as they can, and the small post-offices are generally in their interest, as these are mostly[contrblied by Senator Buckalew, through Postmaster General Randall.
