THE LINCOLN INSTITUTION. -The extensive improvements which have been made during the past season, in this excellent home for our solpast season, in this excellent home for our soldier's orphans, make the establishment one of the most complete, for its size, of all the charitable or benevolent institutions of Philadelphia. The building at 308 South Eleventh street has long been felt to be too confined for the proper accommodation of its inmates, and the managers wisely concluded to avail themselves of the facilities offered by their large lot, to adapt this Soldiers' Boys' Home fully to all its requirements.

Soldiers' Boys' Home fally to all its requirements.

With nearly ninety boys, and the necessary staff of matrens, teachers and other attendants, the Lincoln Institution has expanded itself by a large addition to its back-buildings in depth and height, and the range of rooms for all the necessary uses of the Institution now extend four-stories high, nearly over the full depth of the lot, a distance of two hundred feet. This has been done without any beports at sacrifice of the playgrounds of the boys, and, with an actual improvement in the whole ventilation and consequent healthfulness of the building.

As the various apartments are now appropriated, we do not hesitate to rank the "Lincoin" among the "model institutions" of Philadelphia. In its most important department, the dormitories, the alterations have resulted in a most essential. tial improvement, and the array of neat little iron bedsteads, with the clean and comfortable bed-ding, in large, open, airy rooms, presents a most attractive feature to the visitor. The schoolrooms are bright, cheerful and admirably officered.

The dining-room is ample in size, and complete in all its arrangements. The kitchen, laundry, and drying-room, very important departments of such an establishment, portant departments of such an establishment, are large, comfortable, clean and furnished with every modern convenience. The provisions for keeping the little army of "boys in blue" clean and tidy, which are supplied by the wash and bath-rooms, are perfect, and the utmost attention is paid to impress upon the youthful mind and body the benefits of an abundant use of cold water. An admirably-arranged infirmary, fertunately without a single patient at present, will prove the best of safeguards against the visitation of endemic diseases. The clothes-room deserved the visitor's special notice. There each boy's clothing is kept, neatly brushed and folded, in a separate compartment, and there busy seamstresses find unceasing employment in mending the old and making the new equipments for these little follows, whose knees and toes find their way to the open air as rapidy as did those of way to the open air as rapidy as did those of any of the preceding generations.

Beside all these departments are those which are necessary for the use of managers, matrons and teachers, and in them all there is the same studied regard for convenience and comfort, blended everywhere with a judicious economy. The aim has evidently been to provide a safe, cheerful, wholesome, well-ventilated, well-warmed, well-appointed home for these "Children of the Commonwealth."

warned, well-appointed nome for these "Children of the Common wealth."

The purpose of the managers of this Institution is to make good men, honest, loyal, useful citizens of these boys. While giving them all the comforts of a happy home, and the advantages of a sound, practical education, they are also training them to work and earn their own living by respectable mechanical or other employments. As the boys reach the age of twelve, they are placed at some suitable employment, their education, meantime, being carried on by means of an excellent night school. Until they reach sixteen, their whole wages go to their support in the Institution. After that age, they pay $3 per week, for their board, lodging, mending and washing; and clothe themselves, which, it is expected, every boy will then be able to do. About twenty of the boys are already thus learning useful trades and professions, and as the whole number pass the age of sixteen, when the aid of the State to soldlers' orphans ceases, the Lincoln in the late of the late ber pass the age of sixteen, when the aid of the State to soldiers' orphans ceases, the Lincoln Institution will not cease its good work, but will merge, insensibly, into a well-organized Apprentice's Home, which has so long been a serious want in Philadelphia.

In making these necessary enlargements and improvements in their building, the managers have expended over $11,000, of which $9,000 have already been contributed by patriotic friends of the good cause. They should not be allowed to be embarrassed with the remaining deficiency of $2,000, for a single week, and we will be happy to be made the medium of transmitting any contributions from our friends, who have not yet forgotten the unextinguishable debt that we owe to the gallant men whose devotion to our country's cause made these boys orphans. There is no danger of a dollar being wasted that is appropriated to this worthy purpose. worthy purpose. There are thousands of our loyal men and women who never need anything but the opportunity to testify their lasting gratitude to the men who died to save the Union, and who will be glad to do se, by caring for their orphans which the rebellion has left to our DISTURBING A MEETING .- A German named Daniel Sutor, residing on Walnut street, below Thirty-seventh, went to the Republican meeting in the Twenty-fourth Ward, last evening. While Judge Kelley was speaking Sutor became very troublesome by indulging in ugly remarks in a loud tone. He called the speaker various names, among which was "d—nigger." Finally it became necessary to call a policeman and have Sutor arrested. This morning the prisoner had a hearing before Alderman Maull, and was held in $1,000 bail for inciting to riot.

ROBBING A SLEEPER. Lewis Thomas, residing in the neighborhood of Twelfth and Wood streets, went to sleep while sitting on the front steps of his house on Monday might. When he awoke he found that he had been robbed of $30. Yesterday James Devereaux and Henry Loan were arrested at Eighteenth and Willow streets, upon the charge of having committed the robbery. They were taken before Alderman Hurley and were held in $500 ball to answer at court.

SELLING LIQUOR TO MINORS .-- Mrs. Hauser, proprietress of a lager beer saloon on Front street, above Girard avenue, was before Alderman Eggleton this morning upon the charge of selling liquor to minors. It is alleged that several juveniles got liquor in the house yesterday, and became beastly intoxicated. The arrest of Mrs. Hauser was made upon a warrant issued on the oath of the father of one of the youths. The accused was held in $800 bail for trial.

Robbed his Father.—A young man named Robert Wilson, residing in the neighborhood of Twenty-fourth and Callowhill streets, was arrested yesterday and taken before Alderman Hutchinson, upon the charge of having stolea $200 belonging to his father. After committing the theft he went on a spree and got rid of about half of the money. He was sent to prison to await a further hearing.

THREAT ENING TO SHOOT .- Lewis Miller, .residing at No. 808 Coates street, got drunk last night. He made his appearance in the street with a gun, and threatened to shoot several persons. A policeman came along and arrested Miller. This morning the prisoner had a hearing before Alderman Massey, and was held in $1,000 hail

House Robbery.—The dwelling of Francis Hoskins, No. 1802 Pine street, was entered yesterday afternoon, and a gold watch and several articles of jewelry were stolen from one of the upper rooms. The entrance was effected by means of the trap door, which was reached from the adjoining premises, which are undergoing Assaulting a Policeman.-William Arbuckle, while drunk, on Germantown Road, near Oxford street, last night, assaulted Officer Nelll, who attempted to arrest him. Alderman Heins held Arbuckle in $1,000 ball to answer at court.

FATAL RESULT.—Peter Doyle, who was run over by a cart on Callowhill street, above Third, on the 17th instant, died from the effects of his injuries this morning, at the Pennsylvania Hospital. The deceased resided on Second street, above Thompson.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT, -Robert Charles was seriously injured by falling from pier No. 6, Port Richmond coal wharves, about ten o'clock last night. He was conveyed to his home on New-kirk street, below Lehigh avenue.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY .- Maggle Elliott, resident of Briar Place, was before Alderman Swift this morning, upon the charge of having robbed a man whom she had enticed into her house. She was committed for trial.

THE HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION,-The Autumnal exhibition of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society opened last evening, and was largely attended, notwithstanding the disagreeable state of the weather. sult is one of the finest displays ever given by the Society.

The stage represents an interesting tropical scene made up of a collection of beautiful plants from Borneo, Java, Brazil, and other places. The display of rare and valuable plants is very large, and comprises a great variety. The cut flowers, bouquets, designs, &c., occupy a much greater space than usual, and attract great attention from visitors, beling very neatly arranged. The tables devoted to grapes are loaded down with specimens of every kind known. This portion of the exhibition has not often been excelled. Pears, apples and peaches are not very prominent, but what are exhibited are of the best quality, and very luscious in appearance. best quality, and very luscious in appearance. The vegetable tables are well filled, and there is also a fine show of preserved fruits and wax flowers. In front of the stage several very pretty aquarias are deposited. A fountain, tastefully decorated, adorns the centre of the hall. The exhibition will remain open until Friday

PICTURES OF THE WAR.-Concert Hall was densely crowded last evening, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, by an interested audience, including many ladies, assembled to witness the exhibition of a beautiful panorama of "Scenes and Incidents during the War." They represented the whole progress of the war from the attack on Fort Sumter to the time when

"Johnny came marching home."
Some of the views were particularly fine and called forth hearty applause, those representing the battle between the Monitor and Merrimac, the Siege of Vicksburg, Farragut in the Rigging, Sheridan's Ride, Lincoln in Richmond, fairly bringing down the house, and at each mention of Gen. Grant in connection with the subject of the paintings the applause that burst forth was the paintings the applause that burst forth was almost desfening. A graphic description of the circumstances on which each view is founded was delivered by a competent lecturer.

These pictures, which cannot fail to have an important political influence, will be again exhibited here, and at various other places through-THE MIDNIGHT MISSION.-Elsewhere in our columns will be found the advertisement of this excellent institution. We call the attention of our benevolent readers to it, assured that it will recommend itself to them as a great and noble and much needed charity. It labors in a neg-lected field—but a field in which organized and systematic effort is demanded in perhaps a reater degree than in any other.

NINTH WARD GRANT AND COLFAX CLUB.-The members of the Ninth Ward Grant and Colfax Club are notified to attend a business meeting at their headquarters, Market and Merrick streets, on Thursday evening, September 24th, at 7½ o'clock.
