regrets the departure of the good old times when the forefathers "mammy" was a "likely wench" worth a round sum in cash, and when a "separation" from her would have been mitigated by a satisfactory consideration.

This affected veneration among ex-slaveholders for their colored "mammys" should be fully recognized by the State.

Now I admit that I am a staunch Republican, and as such deny that I can be "intimidated" or "bullied" as one engaged in the glorious effort to support and maintain the sacred principles of my party.

The Reception of the News of the Fall Election of Gen. Grant.

Post Office (Confederate) Roads, (which is in the State of Kentucky), Sept. 20, 1868.—The glorious news of the Maine election reached the city of New York on the 20th inst.

I opened it in fervid eagerness, and my sole dilated eye saw the glad lines.

"See them roosters! Observe them head lines! We have carried the State by course!"

"Three cheers!" said I, for Maine. The title wave of Democracy he commended moan.

"Maine hez spoken. The Abolitionists who expected to carry the State by 23,000 majority at least, and who had based their hopes thereupon, hez voted for Grant."

"Disappointed. After a hard-fought battle, in which money was yooosed without stint, they hez voted for Grant."

the signature of one John Murphy, No. 417 Cherry Street, published in last Saturday's edition of the Mercury, and headed "To Mayor McMichael."

The article alluded to, the aforesaid John Murphy intimates that he had discovered "intimidated" a radical who resides at No. 505 Cherry Street, Sixth Ward.

ARRIVAL OF GENERAL McCLELLAN

By Atlantic Cable. The Monitor has the following important news from Spain:

Paris, Sept. 29.—The Monitor has the following important news from Spain:

From St. Louis. St. Louis, Sept. 29.—A despatch from General Grant, on the Kansas Pacific Railway, says Col. Porter and his wounded men arrived at Fort Wallace, and are doing well.

Arrival of McClellan. New York, Sept. 29.—General G. McClellan, late a Major-General in the U. S. Army, with his wife and family arrived here to-day by the steamship Cuba, from Liverpool.

The Alabama Troubles. Washington, Sept. 29.—The Alabama Legislative Committee had an interview with the President, by appointment, to-day, at which the President expressed his approval of the action of the Alabama Legislature.

From New Orleans. New Orleans, Sept. 29.—When the vote was taken yesterday on the Governor's veto of the equality bill seven white voters voted to over the veto, and five negroes voted to sustain it.

From Canada. Toronto, Sept. 29.—Complete returns of the crops throughout Ontario have been published, and show, on the whole, that a good average harvest has been obtained.
