Nothing has, we believe, impressed itself more deeply on the minds of the Northern people than the evidence that there has not existed, and does not yet exist, in the Southern States any appreciable party of that moderate via media loving, prudent kind which forms the bulk of Northern society,—in a word that there is no hope of any guarantee for peace, union, order, or impartiality in the South, in the caution, prudence, and common sense of the existing masses. We must say that everything we read of Southern society,—of the mode in which the Northern immigrants, "the carpet baggers," are treated there, and of the denunciatory speeches in which the old leaders denounce the new legislatures, proves to us that this wide-spread impression among the Northern voters is true; and that if they do not want another war, they have but two alternatives,—military occuration for terms. Yesterday afternoon, at about 4½ o'clock, a fire was discovered in the extensive U. S. Bonded warehouse, situated on the East River, a short distance north of the Fulton ferry-house, known as the Empire Stores, and owned by Messrs. J. Nesmith & Son.

The first indication of the fire was a slight smoke, which was observed by Mr. Dixor, the U. S. Inspector, issuing from the cracks of the closed iron shutters of the second east window of the upper story. The alarm was promptly given but it was twenty minutes before a stream of water was directed toward the seat of the confiagrants.

of the first of th U. S. Inspector, issuing from the cracks of the closed iron abutters of the second east window of the upper story. The alarm was promptly given but it was twenty minutes before a stream of water was directed toward the seat of the configration. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The building was of brick, and four stories in height. It extended from the river front through to Water street, a distance of 200 feet, and the fire worked its way rapidly through the gunny cloth and other combustible articles until it had the mastery of the entire upper floor.

About two dozen casks of palm oil, belonging to Colgate & Co., were saved, and also about 100 bags of coffee belonging to De Castro & Co. With these exceptions the entire contents of the building were destroyed, were owned by Messrs. Nesmith & Son, who were fully insured. As their contents were for the most part insured, almost the whole of the loss will fall upon the insurance companies.

It is impossible to state with accuracy the quantity of the articles mentioned, as several accounts are kept by the Government officials connected with the stores, and goods are being taken out and consigned for stowage every day. The shipping along the docks was towed into the stream before the fire had made much progress, and was thus saved from destruction. The fire was still burning among the ruins of the building at 12 o'clock last night. Between the hours of 6 and 91 timade a beautiful sight for the passengers on the Brooklyn ferries. It is impossible at present to give more than a rough estimate of the loss.

FAIR GROWND, HARRISBURG, Oct. 1.—The attendance at the State Fair to-day was larger than yesterday. Perhaps twenty-five thousand people were here this morning. All the railway trains were crowded, and the mass of people pushing for the fair grounds was oppressive.

The mechanical department is very large and generally satisfactory.

The greater portion of the field machinery is from the West—fully one half from Ohio—but the competition between Pennsylvania and Ohio is animated.

There is considerable representation of trotting horses from this locality on the course this morning, but no particular competition. There will be an attractive trial of speed this afternoon. The horses entered are Warrior, Keystone and

To-morrow there will be a grand trial of speed for two special premiums of $175 and $75, between the fasts horses on the grounds, including Ironsides, General Geary and Kate Mann, the two latter having won the two races yesterday. The receipts to-day were about $5,000; the receipts to the present time are $130,000 up to the present time are $130,000.
