GENERAL TYNDALE.

We have no recollection of anything in the history of Philadelphia politics which equals, in malicious wickedness, the deliberate asis no ordinary crime. If the charges were true, it would disfranchise General Tyndale, and disqualify him in many of the most im-portant rights of citizenship. As it is utterly and absolutely false, in letter and spirit, it should only serve to arouse fresh indignation sgainst the party of falsehood and fraud, and to rally around an honest citizen not only his political sympathizers, but every lover of truth and fair play.

General Tyndale's own brief but most emphatic denial of these scandalous charges ought to be enough to convince any doubtng mind; but, fortunately, we are not left to his testimony for his defence. Long ago, he put himself upon a noble record, when there legitimatizing all the acts of the Prothonotary, certainly could have been no ulterior purpose in uttering his convictions of Divine truth. in uttering his convictions of Dryme atom. In 1850, Hector Tyndale delivered an address before the Mercantile Beneficial Association. That address is now before us, and we com-mond to our readers a few extracts from it. the papers which he held in his hand, though purporting to bear the seal and signature of the Court, were manifestly fraudulent, and he accordingly mend to our readers a few extracts from it, which will prove conclusively the utter false-hood of the base charge which Mr. Fox or his friends have laid at his door.  PHILADELPHIA, Saturday, Oct. 10 .--- In monetary circles there is a more confident feeling than has prevalled for some time past that money must be abundant and cheap for the balance of the year. The banks are loaning freely "on call" on government collaterals at 51/06 per cent., and on mixed securities from 6 to 7 per cent. Owing to the dormant condition of trade, there is very little first-class mercantile paper offering, and that of short dates is taken at 6 per cent. Trade is far from active, and as most of the transactions are for cash, the wants of the mer-cantile community are limited to relatively small sums a state of affairs which is likely to exist for some time to come as the computer trade

Are now finished and in operation. Although this road is built with great rapidity, the work is thoroughly done, and is pronounced by the United States Commissioners to be first-class in every respect, before it is accepted, and before any bonds can be issued upon it. Rapidity and excellence of construction have been se-cured by a complete division of labor, and by distributing the twenty thousand men employed along the line for long distances at once. It is now probable that the Whole Line to the Pacific will be Completed in 1869.

The Company have ample means of which the Govern-ment grants the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operations; also 13,800 acres of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of the road; also United States Thirty.year. Ronds, amounting to from $16,000 to $45,000 per mile, according to fiss difficulties to be surmounied on the various sections to be built, for which it takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that not only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, acc.
