THE SUPBEME COURT. A cruel wrong has been inflicted upon the moral sense of this community by the proceedings of the two Democratic judges of the Supreme Court. This is a people reverencing law, with all that feeling that has grown by the prevalence of a love for truth and order, and by the traditions of Courts which have come down to us with the long lines of the illustrious men who have graced the bench. With very rare exceptions,-"few and far between,"—the judges of our State and city Courts have so maintained the law in its purity, dignity and majesty, that all men have honored the ministers as they have obeyed the mandates of the law. But what must be felt by all thinking men of the spectacle which the Supreme Court now presents? A thrill of painful surprise runs through the whole body-politic, as it feels that a blow has been struck at the very majesty of Law by those to whom its guardianship of that majesty has been chiefly entrusted. We should be slow to impugu men's mo tives, but we should be bold to criticise their public acts. A "public act." in this country. is the act of one of the servants of the people and the people delegate no single power for the proper exercise of which they do not hold their servant to a strict accountability. Hasty or frivolous criticism, especially when it applies to the courts and agents of the law. is always to be reprobated, but still more is that practice to be repudiated which world denounce small offenders, while it screens great ones; that condemns the "Piggy" Divines of society, while it excuses the Thompsons and the Sharswoods. The proceedings in the Supreme Court, growing out of the discovery of fraudulent aturalization papers, have been watched with intense solicitude by all classes of the community. While the politicians of the Democratic party have waited breathlessly to see whether their infamous scheme of fraud was to be exposed, defeated and punished, the law-abiding citizens of Philadelphia have looked on with tenacious faith that Law and Justice would prevail over prejudice and partisanship. They have been most unwilling that that faith should be shaken, or that the Su-

An important Movement on the Part of the President.

(Special Despatch to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.)

Washington, October 12.—It has been officially announced that the President will in a day or two issue a general order to the military commanders in the South, promulgating his doctrine that they have no right to forbid or interfere with the holding of elections in the unreconstructed States.

From all the information received here there is no doubt that the rebels in three unrepresented States will now make arrangements to choose States will now make arrangements to choose Presidential electors, and that Johnson will demand that their votes be counted. From Fortress Monroe.

From Fortress Monroc.

Fortress Monroc, Va., Oct. 8.—Yesterday afternoon John Perkifs was hanged in the jail yard at Portsmonth, Va., for committing a rape upon the person of a Mrs. Ford, of Norfolk county, come time in June last. It appears that Perkins, who was originally from Wakefield, New Hampshire, and came Bouth in 1961 with the Second New Hampshire Volunteers, was engaged as a laborer upon a farm near where Mrs. Ford lived.

Upon the 8th of June last, he, in company with two negroes, named Ben. Johnson and Fawkes, proceeded to the house of Mrs. Ford, at about midnight, broke in the door, and began robbing the house. Mrs. Ford came out of her chamber to see what caused the disturbance, when she was selzed by Johnson, thrown down and choked, and threatened with laving her throat cut with a razor if she uttered a word, while Perkins rushed into the chamber, seized Mrs. Ford and accomplished his purpose. They carried away with them some two hundred dollars of currency and silver, besides several small articles which they could conveniently carry.

Upon the nest appearance of day Mrs. Ford proceeded to a neighbors, and told them what had happened, giving the names of the parties, who were well known to her. A warrant was at once issued, and two of them, Perkins and Johnson, were arrested the next day, but Fawkes sucreeded in making his escape, and hiss not since been apprehended. sucroeded in making his escape, and hiss not since been apprehended.

They were duly tried at the recent term of the Norfolk County Court, and both serse sentenced to be hung, the time being fixed for the 2d instant. Preparations were made, the scalfold erected, etc., but on the day previous a respite of eight days was sent by telegraph from Governor H. H. Welles, he having been telegraphed by parties in Norfolk that these men, if proper time was allowed them, could prove their innocence.

The eyidence referred to was forwarded to Governor Welles, and sithough it did not have the desired effect in Perkins's case, yet it obtained for Johnson a commutation to imprisonment for life in the Fentientiary, much to his delight, as he cried out, "Thank God! It'd raiher stay there a thousand years than to die." The Governor argued that Ferkins was the master spirit of the whole calisir, the others, no doubt, joining in for the cake of plunder, and that, therefore, he could not show him any elemency.

Perkins was brought from his cell at a quarter past 1 o'clock, accompanied by Father Plinnkett. After being shrouded and pinioned, he was led by the two Deputy Sheriffs to the scaffold, which he mounted, and knelt dewn and made a long and ferrent prayer. The Sheriff then read the sentence of the court to hum, and laformed him if he had anything to say be could proceed.

He etepped forward, and with the utmost composure sain: "Gentlemen-I suppose that it is needless for me to declare that i am inno-sent; though there is a just God who knows that I don't know whether Sarah Fordisa man of a woman. I am as guiltless of the charge as the angels in heaven."

After thanking the officers of the jail and Father Plunkett for their kindness to him, and bidding them all good bye, the noose was adjusted, and a tyrecisely half past on the drop fell, and the spirit of John Ferkin: returned to the God who gave it. He was earlm and collected, to the last, and died protesting his innocean. He died very easy, the fall having broken his neck, and after remaining thirty minutes the body was cut down, and placed in a cuffin bed in the interests of Democracy, contained the folwing infamous editorial.

The election for this State will take place on the day fer fo-morrow. Like good patriots and true members the community, we hope that every citizen will vote arly in the morning, late at night, and as often as posible during the day. If the right of suffrage is a great olitical right, it decrees as frequent exercise is its possible to give it on the larys of its test. It is true that there are malignant laws for the punishment of the patriotic act of voting more than once at one and the same election. But it is people without any public spirit that are afraid of these bad statutes. The citizens of true, naafraid of these bad statutes. The citizens of true, naafraid of these bad statutes from the penalty of imprisonment and mulcitation statched to them: but skilfully and beldly they both circumvent and defy them—thus doing high bonor to their manhood, and important service to their country. The only way to cover an opposing party with the shame of defeat is to vote as 'frequently against it as possible. As in the field of war against treason and invasion, every soldier is bound by all the laws of pridajustice, humanity and valor, to give his musket no rest in exading bullets into the camp of the enemy; so in the more important contect of the scramble for the offices of the nation, each good citizen is under a most sacred the fall having broken his neck, and afternemaining thirty minutes the body was cut down, and placed in a coffin for interment. Nisi Prius—Chief Justice Thompson.—Murphy et al. vs. The City of rhiladolphia.—In this case the following opinion was delivered this morning:

This is not a case for a preliminary injunc'ion. Mooney, the delendant, entered into a contract with the city on the 29th ef reptember, 1858, which was approved by Councils. Ho positively denies that he was informed of the bid which the complannats made at the first letting, and which they claim became the lowest by reason of the lowest hidder failing to accept and enter into the contract. This would be a most material fact to be established in order to affect him with their equity. That has not been established, and no injunction at this time can issue against him to textrain him from doing the work. To restrain the city officers from contracting or paying for the work would be in effect to enjoin him; which, in the aspect already referred to, of an innocent bidder without notice, ought not to be done.

But I am very clearly of opinion so far as the investigation has gone, and I am able to judge of it, that the complainants are not entitled to have the contract awarded to them, as the lowest bidders. The work was not at all within the provisions of the 27th section of the act of May 18, 1856. This seems also to have been the opinion of the Court of Common Pleas of this city in Comly et al. vs. The City of Philadelphia, 2 Phila Rep. 194. That section obviously has reference to annually recurring supplies and work such as street cleaning and the like—not to building culverts, which only occurs as often as the extension of the city demands, or the falling in of those wich once have been built takes place. The second bidder was neither by law or stipulation entitled, in this case, to the contract, the lowest bidder having failed to contract to perform the work. The bids were but propositions, to be accepted or not on the terps on which they were invited, one of which was that the "City WINDOW CURTAINS AND FURNITURE CONVERINGS COMPRISING French Satins and Brocatelles. Notice to Magistrates.

Qualthe Sessions—Judge Ludlow—This morning, before the Court took up the list of case, Judge Ludlow said: Before proceeding with the business of this Court I desire to announce the result of a consultation, heldby my collesgues and myself, concerning the holding of our session to minimum, the day of the General Election. Under the constitution and laws of the Commonwealth elections are to be free, and in order that, as far as this Court can act, no illegal arrest shall be made, and especially that no election or other citizen shall be arrested and committed to prison without ball, a session of this court will be held to morrow. I will be in attendance at the usual hour, and in all cases where citizens have been committed without bail i will give summary relief by immediately granting writs of habeas corpus, and in all ballable cases taking bail.

We hope that the magistrates throughout the county will in all proper cases promptly take bail. If they do not this court will exercise its suthority in the premises.

The action of the Court will indiscriminately apply to all cases of arrest where bail shall be allowed by law. The District Attorney or his representative is requested to be in attendance to morrow, and the Clerk is ordered to be here during the day.

By this order the jurymen will be discharged until Thursday morning, and the Court will be addourned until to morrow morning at ten o'clock.
