Dr. Shapleigh testified that Henry Perkins was recognized at 1078 Frankiord avenue, by his stepfather. Thomas B. Gillan; there was a gun-shot wound three-quarters of an inch below and to left of umbilica; the course of the ball was downward, backward, and to the left, passing through the small intestine once and twice through the colon, and struck against the hip bone on the left side; after diligent search the ball could notbe found; the wound was made by quite a small ball; there was a great amount of inflammation in the cavity of the abdomen; the deceased came to his death from peritonitis, caused by the gun-shot wound described.

George W. Grimes, residing at the southwest cornest of Girard avenue and Frankford road, testified that he was at the election polls and was far back in the line; saw Flanigan draw a pistol out of his pocket and point it at Lukens's head; the pistol was fired twice; afterwards I saw the boy leaning against the fence; I heard some say that the boy was shot; I heard no other shots.

Daniel Hence, residing at No. 29 Richmond street, testified that he was standing near the polls talking; heard one shot fired, then another; I felt a ball pass my head; I then looked at my hand and it was wounded; saw the prisoner down on the payement with Lukens down on him.

John O'Bryan testified that he did not know his age, but was a citizen of the United States, that he had no voucher, and that his naturalization paper went into court and came out all right.

The Recorder decided that there was no testimony to connect Peirce and Hocker with the conspiracy; that in consequence of Watson having perjured himself before him, his testimony must perjured himself before him, his testimony must be thrown out entirely. The testimony of Jas. Reeves was that this thing was concocted in Coggahall's office, in the presence of Coggahall. Coggahall was then held in $1,500 ball to appear ILLEGAL VOTING .- James McGee, a lad of nine-

A Strange Story of Captivity. The Colorado Tribune has the following trange story: We saw at the Planters' House yesterday a woman named Lizzie Blackburn, a native of Mount Jackson, South Carolina, who claims to have been a prisoner among different tribes of Indians about four years. She is now twenty-eight years old and is a cripple from the loss of both of her limbs, which have been amputated twice, the first time at the ankle joints, and again about three inches below the knee. Her story of her capture and imprisonment is about as follows, commencing with how she came to be in the Indian country. When she was five years old her father, Thomas Blackburn, emigrated from South Carolina and joined the Mormons at Nauvoo, Illinois. He accompanied them to Florence. Nebraska, and finally emigrated to Utah with the earliest immigrants, and preached among them. In 1863 or 1864 the father hav-ing become somewhat dissipated and having for some time been accustomed to living among the Mormon Indians, Lizzie and her mother and two younger sisters, aged respecttively ten and fourteen years, concluded to run away from him and the Mormons and if possible reach California. They took with them only what they could pack about their persons and with a rifle and some ammunition started westward from Salt Lake, wandered for nine months, when they were cap-tured by the Digger Indians. Lizzie was sold by the Diggers to the Foxes. The mother and two remaining sisters when they learned of Lizzie's sale ran away from the Diggers and were pursued. When found they had starved and frozen to death, and were buried on Horse The Foxes sold Lizzie to the Snakes, Then she learned of the death of her mother and sisters and saw them buried. She ran away from the Snakes, but was recaptured. She was badly frozen in the attempt, and afterwards was again frozen. She says that two half breeds, named Towantinus and Puchanatagh, took her to Washington, D. C., where her limbs were amputated, and that her father paid the expenses, and that she was afterwards returned to the Snakes by his direction, he being among them as a kind of chief, at the time. She says that her father has spent most of his time among the Indians for seven or eight years, and is one of them now. He is with the Arrapahoes or Cheyennes. The Snakes traded her to the Arrapahoes, from whom she escaped about one year ago by the assistance of Fred Jones, a government scout, id was prought into Elisworth. At the tin of her escape the Arrapahoes were camped at the Big Bend of the Arkansas. A portion of the time since her escape, she has been engaged as a scout, but for the last few road. Fred. Jones, her rescuer, was discharged from government employ last Spring just before the outbreak down on the Solomon in Kansas, and as he threatened to go with the Indians it was supposed that he was with them at that time. She says she counted one hundred and fifty white men in one Indian camp which she visited while acting in the capacity of scout, and that there are a great many among all the tribes. The Diggers treated her the most cruelly, and all treated her very roughly. Her father, though, often protected her from very severe treatment. She says that she has an uncle living somewhere on the North Platte river, and she is now on the way to him. She expected to leave this morning.

Eye-water.—"I have the most effective eye-water you ever saw," said a pedler to an old farmer. "No you haint," responded the farmer, "taint half as effective as a woman's tears, and I've seen lots of them. They beat all the eye-water you've got in your pack." If you wish to make an experiment, buy your wife a ton of coal from W. W. Alter's, 957 North Ninth street. She will shed tears of joy. The Lehlich and Schuylkill coal from Alter's will surely make her the bapplest woman in Philadelphia. Do this, and if the result isn't as we state, we are no prophet.
