Scene at West Point Yesterday Speech by G. W. Curtis-Imposing Ceremo-pies.

Agreeably to public announcement the monument to the memory of the late Major-General John Sedgwick, United States Volunteers, was unveiled and solemnly inaugurated yesterday afterpoon at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

At three o'clock P. M., amid a heavy and continuous rain, which thoroughly saturated the walks and grass of the parade, and the drops falling incessantly from the trees, the military portion of the procession formed which included a battery of light artillery (of six gans), the bands of West Point, of Governor's Island and bands of West Point, of Governor's Island and of the First United States artillery, combined as one grand musical company of seventy instruments, which preceded the companies of cadets, nearly 300 of whom were under arms, commanded by Brevet Brigadier-General Pitcher. The entire procession, which included many distinguished gentlemen, some of whose names are historical, being placed in charge of Major General Wright, chairman of the committee of four generals, all of whom had served honor by in the Sixth corps, and entrusted by a formal resolution of Congress with the execution of the splendid statue, which will stand for all the future a memorial of one of the most beloved and heroic of the soldiers of the war for the preservation of the Union.

for the preservation of the Union. At fifteen minutes past three the procession which had formed on the coutheastern side of the plain, received the signal to march, and immediately the soldiery proceeded down the westerly avenue towards the platform, armed with umbrellas, where the distinguished guests were scated together with the orator of the day and the chaplain of the post.

Within a few feet was the monument, in the extreme northwesterly corner of the parade, opposite the residence of Colonel Black, comopposite the residence of Coloner Black, com-mandant of the corps of cadete, and about 200 feet from the shaft erected to the memory of Major-General Brown, and which, until the prayer prepared for the occasion was read by the chaplain, was concealed by the national flag, chapian, was conceased by the hathous rag, that fell in graceful folds around it.

At the close of the invocation Major General Rickett, who during the lifetime of Sedgwick had commanded the Third Division of the SixthArmy Corps of volunteers, advanced to the pediment of the monument and amid the profound silence of the secretairs, who stood with heads uncov-corps of volunteers, advanced to the pentiment of the monument and and the profound silence of the spectators, who stood with heads uncovered, the cadets having previously formed in close column, doubling on their centre, presented arms, the battery at the same time firing thirteen gans unveiled the statue.

The statue is a perfect work of art. It perfectly represents the man. It is of life size, and is placed on a pediment which, with the foundation, raises the whole memorial to an altitude of about fifteen feet. The figure is happlly conceived. The right leg is advanced, while the point of the sheath sword rests on the ground. The hilt is covered with his right, gauntletted hand, the left resting upon /it, and his fatigue cap, as if just removed from the head to give the wide, open eyes a clearer view, is held carclessly between the sword and the body. The sash is tied carclessly around the waist, the tassels hanging a little behind the middle of the side. The head is thrown slightly forward, as if the eyes were scrutinizing some object in the near distance, while the mouth wears a sad yet resolute tance, while the mouth wears a sad yet resolute

He is supposed to be looking at the rapidly rising waters of the Chickahominy, while standing at the head of his corps on the hither side, while another corps of the Army of the Potomac is being "annihilated" by the robel army under Lee. He is ordered to advance, if possible, to their relief, and he accomplishes the perilous feat. The pose of the life-like figure, as it is supposed to be standing on the raging and rolling river, is thus eloquently alluded to by Mr. Cartis, the orator of the occasion:

posed to be standing on the raging and rolling river, is thus eloquently alluded to by Mr. Cartis, the orator of the occasion:

See how the story opexed, for it ended as it began. After the battle of Williamsburg the first considerable action was that of Fair Oaks and Seven Plues. The mass of the Union army laid on the eastern side of the Chickahominy, and two corps, counting about 30,000 men, were upon the other shore. A farious storm in the night promised to swell the river to an impassable flood, and in the morning the whole rebel force bore down upon the Union lines to annibilate one wing of the army in full sound and sight of their brothershopelessly separated from them. All the morning the battle hotly raged; the Union troops were slowly driven back. By noon the river began to rise, General Summer, who was upon the eastern shore, and in whose corps General Sedgwick commanded a division, was ordered to cross, and he sent word to Sedgwick, the "always ready," as General Scott used to call him, to adv-nee; but as Sedgwick came towards the bridge he saw that he river had become a sea, sweeping hercely by. Far out in ta midst of the waves a plank, apparently anchored, showed the channel; beyond the further end of the plank the waters stretched for a quarter of a mile. It was a perilous task to feel his way through the water with a heavy battery of twenty-four guns, and then trust a trafit, trembling plank for the passage of the channel. But the smoke and roar of the buttle beyond the flood came nearer and nearer, and he knew that his brethren were sorely pressed. After a calm, thoughtful But the smoke and roar of the battle beyond the flood came nearer and nearer, and he knew that his brethren were sorely pressed. After a calm, thoughtful survey be gave the word "forward. Into the waters moved the steady line; the game; carriages sunk almost to the floodiers and batteries across the quivering bridge, which was whirled away as they left it. Tolling again through the swift water and the mire, and an hour and a half before sunset, Sedgwick came upon the field. The rebels, finshed with success, were driving their victorious columns as a wedge between the centre and the right of our wavering forces, but, like his Ironside ancestor, Sedgwick swiftly advanced, formed his line, opened his batteries and shattered the wedge. The wasted foe recoiled before his tremendous fire, his whole division in blazing line of battle moved steadily on, reized the stricken enemy, hurled him into the woods, and the battle of Fair Oaks was won.

There is but one fault, and that is a serious one. The place selected for the statue is too retired, and unless pointed out not one visitor in a hundred to the National Academy will ever notice it The inscription on its pediment is as follows

The northerly panel is without an inscription or insignia. The cross of the corps is also placed on the left breast of the statue.

The orator then advanced to the front of the tand, while an officer of the army held an umbrella over his head and manuscript to shield him and it from the rain that fell during the greater part of the delivery of his splendid eulo-gium in memory of the dead. Mr. Curtis commenced by referring to the "historic hills" which surrounded the assemblage and the "historic river" flowing at their feet, and of the ground upon which Washington trod, and the reminiscences of the revolution that had made the National School a school for heroes, and then alluding incidentally to the beautiful statue, branched off into a review of the work of the oranched oil into a review of the work of the Puritans, and showed that in every field, although sneered at for their sterling piety by the cavaliers, they won the victory of freedom and of progress both for the Old World and for this. He then referred to an ancestor of the dead hero, Major General Robert Sedgwick, a Puritan, who fought sternly and unflinchingly under the great Croinwell, and was entrusted by that great leader with an important mission to an Island in the West Indies, and who, Charles the Second returning to the English throne, rather than how turning to the English throne, rather than bow the knee to royalty, sailed for Connecticut, and there founded the Sedgwick family, a representa-tive of which, grandfather to Major-General John Sedgwick fought through the Percentage Redgwick, fought through the Revolutionary war, and was subsequently made a Major-General of Militia by the State of Connecticut.

The orator then in eloquent terms reviewed the career of the deceased during the rebellion and anterior thereto, closing with a magnificent per-

In consequence of the rain storm but few comparatively were present. Among those on the platform were noticed Mr. C. H. Tompkins. Benator Foster, of Connecticut: Governor Ward, of New Jersey; Major-Generals McClellan, Meade, Heintzelman, Wright, Wheaton, Seymour, Ham-lin, Franklin, Towers, Doubleday and Shaler, Colonels A. W. Adams, S. J. Smith, D. J. Nevins

Samuel Truesdale, O. Milne; Majors H. C. Ellis, T. Norton Bundy, and Lieutenant W. R. Hedden and others, of the Sixth corps. Colonels H. C. Fratt and F. F. Flint, United States Army; Major T. M. Farrell, United States Army; Dr. Palge, United States Army; Lieutenant Algiers, United States Army; Lieutenant Algiers, United States Army, and Dr. Simmon, of the British Army. The only sister, Mrs. Velsh, and a cousin of the deceased, were also present.

At the close of the address "Moses in Egypt" was played by the bands, after which the assem.

was played by the bands, after which the assem-blage was dismissed with the benediction. The cadets on the plain then executed the manual of arms in splendid style, and upon leaving the parade the pleased company retired to the river to seek passage homeward.—Herald.

OFTY BULLETIN.

ALLEGED SWINDLE .- Dr. Charles Fischer, residing at No. 1149 North Front street, was before Ald. Eggleton, yesterday, upon the charge of obtaining money under false pretences. It is alleged that some time ago he advertised for a partner in some business which he was about to undertake, and offered quite liberal inducements to anybody who desired to invest. Fred Leubold and John Wuster allege that they accepted the offer, and they now charge Fischer with having swindled them. Leubold lost $204 and Wuster $90. The defendant was held in $1,200 bail for SERIOUS ASSAULT.-Alderman Riddle had before him yesterday John D. Bishom, charged with assault and battery upon Conrad Essig. The defendant is a baker, and was serving bread along North Broad street. He left his wagon upon the sidewalk, and Essig amused himself by ruuning it up and down the pavement. At this Bishom became enraged, and struck Essig a violent blow in the face, which knocked out his eye. As Essig had previously lost the use of the other eye he is now totally blind. Bi hom was held in $2,000 bail for a further hearing.

LARCENY OF A COAT.—George Walker was before Alderman Jones this morning upon the charge of the larceny of a coat valued at $35 from the store of J. Rich, No. 1710 Market street. About eight months ago Walker called at the store of Mr. Rich and offered to sell some gold dust. While Mr. Rich was looking over some accounts Walker helped himself to the coat and left. left. Yesterday he slopped at a store in the same neighborhood with his gold dust, and while there Mr. Rich entered and had him arrested. The accused was committed. CORONER'S INQUEST .- This morning Coroner Daniels held an inquest upon the body of Patrick Demosey, who was shot on the 4th and died at the Pennsylvania Hospital on the 20th. The verdict of the jury was: "That the said Patrick Dempsey came to his death from a gunshot, at the hands of Charles Thompson, October 4, 1868, on Catharine street, below Seventh, while in the act of arresting him as a deserter from the U.S.

Thompson, who was arrested yesterday, was committed to prison by the Coroner. ROBBING HIS EMPLOYER.—Michael Evers was arrested yesterday at Palm and Brown streats on the charge of the larceny of $70 from George W. Scott, a farmer, residing at Oakford, in Bucks county. Evers was employed upon the farm of Mr. Scott. The latter laid down his wallet. Evers took the wallet and left. About $30 were recovered. The prisoner was taken to Doylestown for TILL TAPPING. - Four boys, named Michael Meenan, Augustus Zarlick, John Walls and William Devinner, were arrested yesterday upon the charge of having robbed the money drawer of a candy store on Third street below Girard avenue. They were caught when they were leaving the store. The accused were committed by Alderman Eggleton.

THE DEATH OF MR. SOUDER .- A meeting of the Press Club of Philadelphia will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the rooms, No. 607 Walnut street, to take action in reference to the death of Carper Souder, Jr., Treasurer of the organization. The members of the newspaper profession generally are invited to attend.

RETURNED FROM EUROPE.-Mr. John J. Thomas, a popular member of the Board of Brokers, has just returned from an extended trip in Europe. His numerous friends will be gratified to know that his health has been greatly improved by the voyage.

An Owner Wanted .- Forty yards of Canton flannel found in possession of two negro boys, at Sixth and Pine streets, this morning, await an owner at the Third District Police Station. The pposed thieves were committed by Alderman Carpenter

DISHONEST DOMESTIC.—Rachel Burns, employed as a domestic by Mrs. Aydelott, residing at No. 1846 Master street, was arrested yesterday, and taken before Alderman Hood, upon the charge of the larceny of clothing from the house. She was sent to prison to await trial.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY. - Patrick Matthews, alias Patrick Morris, was arrested yesterday and taken before Alderman Hood upon the charge of stealing a pocket book from a woman residing at Girard avenue and Sartain street. He was held for a further hearing.

Shoplifting.—Richard Boyle has been committed by Alderman Shoemaker to answer the charge of the larceny of a piece of oil cloth from a store at Second and Thompson streets.

THE HANLONS.—The company of gymnasts at the Chestnut Street Theatre will conclude their engagement on Saturday evening next, and will not return to this city for a long time to come. Those who have not seen them should embrace the present opportunity. It is fair to say that the Hanlons surpass every rival troupe in exis-tence in the gracefulness, daring and bold originality of their feats. The famous Ravels never did anything better than a multitude of things which are presented by the Hanlons every night. The Russian athlete with the hard name-Pfauis incomparable in his way, and his performance alone is worth the price of admission. The enalone is worth the price of admission. The en-tertainment is of the most refined of its class, the personal character of the Hanlon Brothers being a guarantee that there will be fastidious exclusion of all coarseness and vulgarity.

WE NEVER could understand why ready-made clothing should not be got up with as much care and style as is clothing made to order. That this is possible, and has in one case, at least, been ac-complished, is plain to be seen by all, at Wana-maker & Brown's. Their "indispensable suit" is, we believe, the equal of anything that can be got up in any merchant tailor's in town.

Auction Notice.-The attention of buyers is equested to the auction sale of fine Marble Mantles, Garden and Monumental Statuary, Foreign Marbles, etc., by Samuel Cook, to-morrow, Fri-day, at 10 o'clock, at the old established marble works of John Baird, Ridge avenue, below Green treet, who retires from the general manufactur-

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20th, 1868. TO THE LAW-ABIDING CITIZENS OF PHILADELPHIA: SHALL VILLAINY TRIUMPH?

The farce of an election having been held in this city on Tuesday, October 18th, 1868, which was controlled by roughs, thieves, bullot box stuffers and repeaters, from New ) ork, Baltimore and other places, we call upon all Republicans to assert their rights and vindicate their manbood by using every honorable means to context the right of the fraudulently elected candidates of the Democratic party to take their seats. Let us prove to this corrupt organization that its trickery and villainy avail not. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.

850 Miles Completed.

A limited amount of the First Mortgage Bonds of the Union Pacific Railroad Company are offered to the pub-lic, as one of the safest and most profitable investments. They are a first mortgage upon the longest and most important railroad in the country.

2. By law they can be issued to the Company only as the road is completed, so that they always represent a 3. Their amount is limited by act of Congress to Fifty Million Dollars on the entire Pacide line, or an average of less than $30,000 per mile. 4. Hon. E. D. Morgan, of the United States Senate, and Hon, Oakes Ames, of the United States House of Repre-centatives, are the trustees for the bondhold.rs, to see that all their interests are protected. 5. Five Government Directors, appointed by the President of the United States, are responsible to the country or the management of its affairs. 6. Three United States Commissioners must certify that the road is well built and equipped, and in all respects a first class railway, before suy bonds can be issued upon it. 7. The United States Government lends the Company its own bonds to the same amount that the company issues, for which it takes a second mortgage as security. 8. As additional aid, it makes an absolute donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, lying upon each side of

9. The bonds pay six per cent, in gold, and the principa is also payable in gold. 10. The earnings from the local or way business were over Four Million Dollars last year, which, after paying operating expenses, was much more than sufficient to pay the interest. These earnings will be vastly increased on the completion of the entire line in 1869. 12. No political action can reduce the rate of interest. It must remain for thirty years—six per cent, per annum in old, now equal to between eight and nine per cent. in currency. The principal is then payable in gold. If a bond, with such guarantees, were issued by the Government, its market price would not be less than from 20 to 25 per cent. premium. As these bonds are issued under Government authority and supervision, upon what is very largely a Government work, they must ultimately approach Government prices. No other corporate bonds

13. The issue will soon be exhausted. The sales have sometimes been half a million a day, and nearly twenty millions have already been sold. About ten millions more may be offered. It is not improbable that at some time not far distant, all the remainder of the bonds the Company can issue will be taken by some combination of capitalists and withdrawn from the market, except at a large advance. The long time, the high gold interest, and the perfect security, must make these bonds very valuable

All the predictions which the officers of this Company have made in relation to the progress and business success of their enterprise, or the value and advance in the price of their securities, have been more than confirmed, and they therefore suggest that parties who desire to invest in their bonds will find it to their advantage to do so at on The price for the present is 102, and accrued interest at 6 per cent. in currency from July 1, 1868.
