Supposed Murder-A Man Found in an Un-OCCUPIED HOUSE.—At the southwest corner of Tenth and Ellsworth streets stands a three-story Tenth and Ellsworth streets stands a three-story house. The first etery is occupied as a liquor store. The upper portion is unoccupied. This morning the body of a man named William Berkenshaw, aged about fifty-five years, was found in the third story of the premises. It had evidently been lying there for two or three days, and was covered with vermin.

The body was in the entryway between the two rooms. It was badly bruised. The face was masked and was covered with blood. The clothing was bloody and stains evidently of blood were upon the floor near the feet of the deceased. There were no blood stains upon the stairway or no signs of a struggle having occurred in the no signs of a struggle having occurred in the part of the house where the body was found. The impression formed, upon an inspection of the premises, was that the deceased had been beaten omewhere and carried to the place where he was found.

The only man upon the premises this morning, when the body was found, was John Steward, who was employed in the liquor store. He states that Barkanahaw has been in the habit of slave. who was employed in the liquor store. He states that Berkenshaw has been in the habit of sleep; ing in one of the third-story rooms. The man went, as requested, and found the body as above stated.

A FALSE ALARM. - About eleven o'clock last night a pistol was fired at Fifteenth and Locust streets. At the time a railway car was passing, and a man fell from the rear platform at the moment the shot was heard. He re-mained perfectly motionless, and the supposition was that he was killed. Considerable excitement ensued. The police were notified, a physician was summoned, and efforts were made to find the was summoned, and efforts were made to all man who fired the shot. The supposed dead man was carried into the Fifth District police was carried into the Fifth District police. No station-house and an examination made wound could be found, but it was discovered that the man was very drunk, and that he had been thrown from the rear platform by a sudden lurch

WANTED TO SHOOT POLICEMEN .- John Dougherty resides in the neighborhood of . Twentieth and Pine streets. He is a first class Democrat, and as considerable shooting has been done by that class of the community recently, Dougherty wanted to have his share in it. At a late hour wanted to have his appearance on the street with a revolver, and after shooting about promiscuously for a short time, he stationed himself at Twentieth and Howell streets, and declared that he would shoot the first policeman who came along. Officers White and McCullough were noalong. Officers White and McCullough were notified of the doings of Dougherty, and after considerable trouble they succeeded in securing and disarming him. They got from him a revolver, and also a billy. The prisoner will have a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon.

More of the Sheriff's Deputies in Trouble. John McKinney and James Hoosey, both Sheriff's Deputies at the late election, were arrested vesterday at Somerset and Richmond streets on a warrant charging them with having incited to riot and interfered with Policeman Windmill at the election polls of the Fourth Division of the Twenty-fifth Ward. Alderman Neill held them in $800 bail for trial.

Barney McNamee was arrested at Richmond and Cumberland streets yesterday for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. In his pockets were found a note from the Sheriff constituting him a deputy, a badge and a copy of the Sheriff's CHARGED WITH INFANTICIDE.-A young woman named Rosannah Foust was arrested yesterday, at a house No. 705 Callowhill street, where she had taken boarding, by a constable from Mahanoy City, Schuylkill county, on the charge of infanticide. She obtained permission to retire to minitione. She obtained permission to retire to another room, upon the representation that she wanted to make some change in her clothing, and succeeded in effecting her escape. When the constable made search for her, she could not be found. She was subsequently re-arrested at Seventh and Willow streets.

BLOCKING A RAILWAY .- Andrew Donohue, John Hoover, Alexander Kite. Chas. Calhoun and James Parker, oystermen, went to West Philadelphia yesterday, and at Fortieth street and Lancaster avenue they blocked up the railway with their wagons and persistently refused to move. They were arrested and after a hearing before Alderman Maull, were held for a violation of an ordinance of the city.

GONE HOME .- The Washington Fire Company, of Charleston, Mass., which has been on a visit to this city for several days, left for home this morning. The visitors expressed themselves as highly pleased with their visit and the generous and kind hospitality which they received from the citizens and Fire Department of this city.

FOUND WANDERING ABOUT THE STREETS .- A woman, about ninety-five years of age, who says that her name is Catharine Morrison, was found last night wandering about the streets, in the neighborhood of Fifteenth and Coates streets. She is at the Ninth District Police Station, Twenty-third and Brown streets. ANOTHER GUNNER FINED .- Joseph F. Ward was arrested yesterday at Haddington, Twentyfourth Ward. on the charge of shooting in-sectiverous birds, contrary to the act of Assem-bly. He was fined by Alderman Maull.

THE amount of energy, skill and capital used in some of our leading business houses is far beyond the general estimate of the public. An insight, for instance, into the establishment of Wanamaker & Brown, the clothlers, of this city, whose building occupies the entire block on Sixth street, from Market to Minor streets, will amaze many of our readers. Its vast salesrooms; the immense piles of every conceivable variety of men's and boys clothing; the well drilled clerks; men a and boys clothing; the wen drined cleaks; attentive salesmen; the hurrying crowds of busy purchasers—all make up a business picture that will convince the looker-on that there is still a great deal of life in our Philadelphia merchants.

ELEGANT CRYSTAL MEDALLIONS AND AMERICAN PICTURES .- Ever since last Monday Scott's Art Gallery, 1020 Chestnut street, has been thronged with visitors viewing the splendid collection of Oil Paintings, from the American Art Gallery, N. Y. (An institution established by the present proprietor in 1843, for the encouragement of artists.) The pictures are all elegantly framed, and we advise those wishing to procure works of art to attend the sale this evening, continuing tomorrow and Friday evenings, by B. Scott, Jr. This is the second annual fall sale from the above gallery, and is the finest ever effered by them in this city.

WE call the attention of our readers to the advertisement on the 4th page of H. F. Hover's new Patent Combination Sofa and Bedstead.

8. S. WHITE'S NEW BUILDING .- One of the noblest edifices of which our city can boast, indeed, by common consent, one of the grandest struc-by common consent, one of the grandest structures in the country, has just been completed and occupied by S. S. White, Esq., corner of Chestnut and Twelfth streets, as a manufactory and salestroom of Teeth and Dental Materials.

For many years the business of this house has been carried on in Arch street, below Sixth, but although three large five-storied buildings were entirely occupied by the salesroom and workshops devoted to tooth-making, certain departments of the manufacture had to be carried on in rooms rented for the purpose in other parts of the city. The necessity of greater accommodations and increased facilities has resulted in the erection of the magnificent building alluded to, at a cost of over $400,000.

This immense establishment, with the exception of the first floor and a portion of the basement (which has been leased to Messrs. Bailey & Co., jewelers, for a term of years), is devoted entirely to the business of manufacturing and selling teeth, dental instruments and materials. There are engaged in this business between two and three hundred people, a considerable proportion of whom are females, and from this single establishment four-fifths of the dental material consumed in the world are supplied. In the rial consumed in the world are supplied. In the construction of the building the specific requirements of the business have been carefully studied ments of the business have deed calcular status and provided for, and every attention paid to the comfort of the employes, the apartments being admirably ventilated and lighted, and warmed throughout by steam.

The basement is divided into rooms for certain the basement is divided into rooms for certain by classes of work, and is abundantly lighted by vault-lights in the pavement. It contains also the boilers, engine, furnaces, forges, &c., and large bins for storing the crude and prepared material.

The second floor, which is approached from the Chestnut street front by a magnificent flight of white marble stairs, is the sales-room, in the rear of which are the counting-room, private offices, and the publication office of the Dental Cosmos, a monthly journal, devoted to the interests of the dental profession.

The store is fitted up handsomely and contains a vast variety and quantity of dental goods from the smallest instrument used in the mouth, to chairs, which are a wonder of mechanism and upholstery.

The third floor is devoted to the various processes of teeth-making, and is divided into four The fourth floor is occupied by the instrument

The fourth floor is occupied by the instrument-makers, and the fifth floor to the bottling, boxing and labelling of the various chemical and medicinal preparations for the office and laboratory, and the boxing of chairs, spittoons, lathes, and other bulky goods.

On the Sansom street front is a lift, operated by steam, extending from the fifth story to the basement, at all times in readiness to convey goods from one story to another, receive raw goods from one story to another, receive raw materials, and discharge the finished products of the establisment. In addition, at convenient places, three dumb-waiters convey light packages rom the manufacturing departments to the Communication is made from the salesroom of speaking tubes which traverse the building throughout. The whole building is fireproof; the walls are of immense thickness, and each the walls are of the compound wrought iron beams, that span the entire width of the building beams, that span the entire width of the building —with no columns to interrupt the view—and are calculated to upbear 155 pounds to the square foot.

They are connected by the rods throughout the entire length of the building, with brick arches filled to the crown with concrete and mortar, over which are laid floors of Southern or true yellow pine. The cornice is of galvanized iron, with iron supports; and, therefore, like the rest of the bulleling, fire-proof, the roof of iron frame work, covered by tin.

As a matter of curious interest we would say that in the walls and arches of this building there are 2,000,000 bricks. All the brick work was done under the superintendence of Mr George Creely.

Improvements in South New Jersey. The Cape May Ware says: We junderstand a movement will soon be made to open a tract of land in a thinly settled portion of the lower part of this State by a party of wealthy gentle-men living in New Jersey and New York city. The plans are said to embrace a scope of operations that will induce settlement very rapidly and permanently. The general management, it is said, has been placed in the hands of one of the ablest men in the country, and whose views are said to be on a scale commensurate with the work in hand. This commensurate with the work in hand. This improvement, if perfected and carried out, will afford houses and occupations for thousands of people who are now waiting and praying for a better land, and on a soil that will yield a fair recompense for a fair day's toil. The experiment of Vincland—which, really, is no longer accompany to the content of the an experiment, but an established success, has proven that this is a feasible undertaking, and we wish it a speedy success. Let the lower por-tion of our State be regenerated. There is plenty of room within our limits for a score of Vinelands, and the time is not far distant when New Jersey's destiny will be plainly visible, and be traced by almost countless towns, villages, and fruit-growing districts, of a like character to those which have already proved a success."

How Toil is Made Pleasure.—The ravages that the labor of hand-sewing has made upon the constitutions of females, and through them upon the harman race, is incalculable, and we therefore date from the introduction of the celebrated grover & Baker Sewing Machines, a new and happy era in the history of the world. We designate the Grover a Baker instruments (sold at 730 Chestnut street), for the simple reason that they are unquestionably the best, and every lady who knows anything about the relative merits of Sewing Machines is fully aware of this tact. An inspection of ten minutes, while these machines are working their magic in the way of embroidery and the incest grades of fancy sewing, will suffice to make any ledy fall in love with the Grover & Baker instruments, to say nothing about the marvellous ease with which they are operated, their great simplicity and the readiness with which they perform every description of sewing required in a family

MEW PUBLICATIONS.

TENTH THOUSAND.
WHAT ANSWERY BY ASNA E. DICKINSON, Twithat Answer? By Ann E. Dickinson, $\frac{81}{50}$. This is one of the books which belong to the class of deeds not words. It is a solemn, earnest, thrilling, enthy sinstic appeal, in which a noble woman, herself at ease, blessed with flattering friends, with applianse, with admiration, takes all in her hand, and risks all in pleading the cause of the poorest, the most despised, the most maltreated and scorned of food's creatures. In the form of a story she makes a most condensed, earnest and powerful appeal to the heart and conscience of the American nation on the sin of caste-a sin of which it makes us have only begun to find a place of repentance. "If anybody can read that book unnoved, we have only pits for him. "What gives this story its awful power is its truth."

"Miss Dickinson's book puts the solemn question to the American nation, What Answer! Let the answer come at the poils.

"I wish that every person of maturity throughout the length and breadth of the land may read it; particularly at this criefs, when the people need a blaze of light to show them the dangers of the time, and the vast importance of the issues pending upon the approaching election. Many of the most remarkable incidents of the war of the rebellion are woven together by the thread of an interesting etcry, told in a dashing, spritted style. "

The book is alive with noble thoughts and generous feelings. It must be a cold heart and a stupined conscience that, after reading those thrilling pages, could reply to "What Answer" by any other word than Amen to its appeal.

"Lydix Marka Child."

"I was about to put on paper some expression of my delight in the story Anna Dickinson has told us, when I saw the generous recognition and admirable tributes Mrs. Stowe and Mrs. child have given her. They say, so much better than I could frame it, all and exactly what I had to say that I cannot do better than to ask leave to cry Amen to them.

Allien to them.

"So occupied is my time with going over the State to plend for the election of Grant and Collan, that not even yet have I finished reading 'What Answer.' But I have read far chough to be greatly interested in it, and to wish that a copy were in it c hand of every voter. God bless Anna Dickinson for this beautiful and effective testimony against the infernal spirit of caste.

"General Smith."

"It is full of genuine feeling cloquently expressed, and is pervaded by a sublime sympathy with the oppressed and by a high and beneficial purpose. We are made to feel in reading the book that it is the work of a brave woman, one who had broken away from the dull and beatten path of prejudice and of conventional usage, and had the courage to follow whithersoever the truth may lead.

This latest volume of Longfellow has been received by both the Press and the Public with a welcome in some degree commensurate with the great merits of the Poem and the great merit of the sale of the Great merit of the sale factor of the Great merit of the great great great stone. From the meeting house, with its Puritan sermon, which is the opening of the first tragedy, to the Potter's Field, with death under the pressure of a great stone, which is the last of the second, there is a succession of pictures, while the catastrophe moves forward like another Nemesle. "Both Prems are based on historical facts, and both give—as historica do not—the subtle spirit of the times, into whose dark recesses the genius of Hawthorne has thrown a searching light. Both are dramatic, in that the various characters are well maintained, and that each adds a few touches to the completeness of a living picture of the times."—New York Evening Pool.

"The book consists of two simple but exquisite perfect pictures out of New England history. The art of the poet makes the magistrate, the minister, the martyr, and other characters of the time, to live before us, as if photographed by our own artist."
