

Evening Bulletin

GIBSON PEACOCK, Editor. VOLUME XXII.—NO. 176. PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1868. F. L. FETHERSTON, Publisher. PRICE THREE CENTS.

THE EVENING BULLETIN PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING, (Sundays excepted), AT THE NEW BULLETIN BUILDING, 607 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, BY THE EVENING BULLETIN ASSOCIATION, F. L. FETHERSTON, GIBSON PEACOCK, CHAS. BOUDER, JR., F. L. FETHERSTON, FRANK W. WILLIAMSON, and others.

AMERICAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, Of Philadelphia, 8. E. Corner Fourth and Walnut Sts.

WEDDING CARDS, INVITATIONS, FOR FARE, etc., etc. New styles, 607 Chestnut street, 2nd fl.

DIED. FIERING—On the 1st of October, Rachel, wife of Frederick Fiering, in the 71st year of her age.

THE FINEST TOILET SOAP. Messrs. GILGATE & CO., New York, have just received the reputation of being the manufacturers of the finest Toilet Soap in the United States.

Headquarters Republican Invincibles A meeting of the Club will be held at the Headquarters Monday Evening, November 2, AT 7 O'CLOCK.

SPECIAL NOTICES. NATIONAL BANK OF THE NORTHERN LIBERTIES. Philadelphia, Nov. 2, 1868.

THE PHILADELPHIA NATIONAL BANK. Philadelphia, Nov. 2, 1868.

HOWARD HOSPITAL. No. 125 and 126 Lombard street, Philadelphia.

NEWSPAPERS, BOOKS, PAMPHLETS, WASTE PAPER, etc., bought by W. M. McMichael, President.

"MOUNTAIN" BUCKWHEAT MEAL. CONSTANTLY ON HAND Mountain and Sterling BUCKWHEAT MEAL.

FAMILY FLOUR. In lots to suit GROCERS, or by the single Barrel. For Sale by J. EDWARD ADDICKS, 1230 MARKET STREET.

MARINE BULLETIN. PORT OF PHILADELPHIA—NOVEMBER 2. Arrived THIS DAY.

MEMORANDA. Steamer Francis, from New York yesterday.

COURTS.

Fraudulent Naturalization Papers

Remarks of District Attorney Mann

Order of Justice Read at Nisi Prius

Remarks of Wm. B. Mann, Esq., at the opening of the Nisi Prius this morning, November 2, 1868. This morning closes the term of the District Court for this county, and at the expiration of that term, in company with a number of citizens of this county, I appear before you. Another gentleman will today be sworn into office as District Attorney, and I propose to devote the slight remnant of my official term to the performance of a duty that is regarded by all of us as a sacred duty. These gentlemen and myself had great interest in reference to a large number of fraudulent naturalizations which have been issued contrary to the act of assembly which makes it a criminal offense to issue such. There is not upon the records of this court any evidence of the naturalization of many persons who have voted. Many thousands of such papers are scattered abroad. Some are genuine and some we believe to have a fictitious seal. The name of the Prothonotary is forged upon many of them. The officers are unable to discriminate. We come to ask your honor to take official notice of this state of affairs, and whether the highest judicial duties are delegated to the stipstaves of the court. We seek your honor to pass upon this, and say whether these papers are to go abroad when the Judge has never seen the applicant. As the official representative of the county, I ask your honor to take official notice in the matter.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

Justice Read then delivered the following important opinion: Nisi Prius, Monday, November 2, 1868.—Read, J.—The number of persons naturalized in the court of Nisi Prius, from the 13th of September to the 13th of October, 1868, and in the grand jury room, is eight hundred and forty-six, of which number two thousand eight hundred and seventy-two were naturalized in the week ending the 31st day of October, 1868, and the remainder were naturalized in one day of five hours. Some persons were neither examined by nor sworn by the Judge holding the court, but the examination and the oath were administered by two or more stipstaves, in the corner of the court room, or in an adjoining room. The applicant was not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers in the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves. In fact, many of them were not seen by the Judge, nor by the Prothonotary who held the papers when brought to him by the stipstaves.

OUR WHOLE COUNTRY.

The Twenty-third Ward.

Saturday was the Twenty-third Ward for the friends of Grant and Colfax. In the afternoon addresses were delivered at Holmeburg by John Goforth, Esq., and Evans Leaman, Mayor of Colfax, and the evening meeting at Frankford was presided over by Edward G. Lee, Col. Michael, and by Messrs. Myers and Taylor. All spoke well and were received with enthusiasm. The indignation of the people at the frauds which for a few months only will deprive them of their seats in Congress, and Frankford Hall rang with applause at their eloquent speeches.

A Copperhead Falsehood.

The New York Tribune says: "On the very day of the election, the World and other Democratic papers publish, as extracted from the Kentucky Levee, an abusive, filthy tirade against Adopted Citizens, which is attributed to Schuyler Colfax. The ground was forged, and the scoundrel who circulates this base calumny, are equally aware of the villainy of their conduct. No man who knows how Mr. Colfax is to be treated in the political arena was ever uttered by him. It might, with equity and plausibility, be attributed to George Washington."

Democratic Preference for Grant.

Major-General S. Williams, United States Minister to San Salvador, who commanded the Twentieth Corps in the march to the sea, and in 1860 was the Democratic candidate for Governor of Michigan, writes as follows to a friend in New York: "MY DEAR GENERAL: Though I never belonged to what is called the Radical party, I certainly am not a Copperhead. I am a Democrat, and I am greatly disgusted with the political situation. The Arch-Rebels as Wade Hampton, Tombs, Fenton and the like are assuming and permitted to the original cause of the political situation. Never again permitted to sit in a political convention of any party. They should be forever disfranchised and disowned. Very sincerely and truly yours, S. WILLIAMS."

THE NEW REBELLION.

Rebel Programme in Memphis. A correspondent of the Memphis Post furnishes the following communication to this paper: "Editors Post: Last Sabbath morning I was accidentally standing near two ex-rebels in the northern part of the city, who were engaged in a conversation in the midst of which I distinguished their words. The conversation never again permitted to sit in a political convention of any party. They should be forever disfranchised and disowned. Very sincerely and truly yours, S. WILLIAMS."

Attempt to Murder Republicans.

(From the Harrisburg Telegraph of Oct. 21.) Last evening, while the excursion train to the Republican meeting at Mechanicsburg was returning to Harrisburg, a mob of about 100 persons, the engineer discovered several obstacles on the track ahead in the vicinity of the "cut," just this side of Mechanicsburg, and immediately whistled for the train to stop. The train was not under full headway at the time, and before the obstruction was reached the course of the train was completely checked. An examination of the road bed showed that several ties had been placed on the track by some persons with the intention of throwing off the train, and no doubt with the belief that by so doing a number of the Republican speakers would be disabled, and prevented from reaching the polls next Tuesday.

A Look into the Future.

Wouldn't it be a pleasing sight for the old Fort Pillow crowd—Frank Blair presiding over the Senate and Dan Ruggles in the House. And then imagine the letters and despatches that they would receive when once comfortably installed in the White House. Such gains as they would be plentiful as blackberries. WASHINGTON, Ga., Oct. 21.—To His Excellency Horatio Seymour, President of the United States: I understand that a one-armed man, an ex-Confederate, has been appointed as a special messenger to deliver a speech in this city. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 1, 1869.

To His Excellency the President of the United States: I am, Sir, a desirous position in the Pension Office. You are either or either, and you are one of my best soldiers, and was conspicuously brave at the Fort Pillow massacre. He lost his arm in the defence of the Southern Confederacy, and was made a pensioner. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one.

Half a Billion Men behind the Masked Pirates and Assassins of Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

Washington, Ga., Oct. 21.—To His Excellency Horatio Seymour, President of the United States: I understand that a one-armed man, an ex-Confederate, has been appointed as a special messenger to deliver a speech in this city. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one.

Slavery in Cuba.

The Committee of the British and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society has forwarded an address to the members of the National Government in Spain, in which they express the desire that, while the great boon of political freedom is secured by the Spanish people, the still greater boon of emancipation should be secured for the slave population in Cuba and Porto Rico. Such an act, the committee think, would ennoble the new Government, and not only be a triumph for the people of England and France, but would bring Spain into sympathy with the other leading nations of the civilized world; it would also, in all probability, stimulate Portugal and Brazil to follow so great an example.

Withdrawal of the Papal Nuncio.

The Papal Government has broken all official communication with Spain. The Nuncio Ambassador is officially intrusted with the interests of the Spanish subjects in the Pontifical States.

Tunnel Beneath the English Channel.

An address has been presented to the Emperor Napoleon by about one hundred influential English noblemen, M. P.'s, and other gentlemen, praying His Majesty to support the project of a submarine tunnel between England and France. The address is as follows: "To His Majesty the Emperor Napoleon III: Sir: We, the undersigned, subjects of her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen of England, are informed that a committee of French and English gentlemen propose to ask your Majesty's support for the construction of a submarine tunnel to connect the railways of England with those of France, an eminently desirable work, which has become necessary to facilitate the social intercourse which has so rapidly increased of late years between the inhabitants of the two countries, and for the development of their trade and commerce. The realization of this noble enterprise, by strengthening the bonds which unite two great peoples with one of the most important of both countries, and a memorable example of concord offered to other nations. We have the most earnest wish for the speedy success of this fruitful work, and we hope that your Majesty will was given to an immense audience at Musical Fund Hall on Saturday afternoon. The performance ran very high, and nothing but superlative excellence in the composition, and the best interpretation of it, would have satisfied those who were present. It is quite certain that in both respects anticipation was fully realized; and it is simply fair to state that there is much doubt whether any musical entertainment of the kind, more entirely satisfactory, was ever given in this city.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL.

The long promised Reformation Symphony by Mendelssohn.

Democratic Preference for Grant.

Major-General S. Williams, United States Minister to San Salvador, who commanded the Twentieth Corps in the march to the sea, and in 1860 was the Democratic candidate for Governor of Michigan, writes as follows to a friend in New York: "MY DEAR GENERAL: Though I never belonged to what is called the Radical party, I certainly am not a Copperhead. I am a Democrat, and I am greatly disgusted with the political situation. The Arch-Rebels as Wade Hampton, Tombs, Fenton and the like are assuming and permitted to the original cause of the political situation. Never again permitted to sit in a political convention of any party. They should be forever disfranchised and disowned. Very sincerely and truly yours, S. WILLIAMS."

THE NEW REBELLION.

Rebel Programme in Memphis. A correspondent of the Memphis Post furnishes the following communication to this paper: "Editors Post: Last Sabbath morning I was accidentally standing near two ex-rebels in the northern part of the city, who were engaged in a conversation in the midst of which I distinguished their words. The conversation never again permitted to sit in a political convention of any party. They should be forever disfranchised and disowned. Very sincerely and truly yours, S. WILLIAMS."

Attempt to Murder Republicans.

(From the Harrisburg Telegraph of Oct. 21.) Last evening, while the excursion train to the Republican meeting at Mechanicsburg was returning to Harrisburg, a mob of about 100 persons, the engineer discovered several obstacles on the track ahead in the vicinity of the "cut," just this side of Mechanicsburg, and immediately whistled for the train to stop. The train was not under full headway at the time, and before the obstruction was reached the course of the train was completely checked. An examination of the road bed showed that several ties had been placed on the track by some persons with the intention of throwing off the train, and no doubt with the belief that by so doing a number of the Republican speakers would be disabled, and prevented from reaching the polls next Tuesday.

A Look into the Future.

Wouldn't it be a pleasing sight for the old Fort Pillow crowd—Frank Blair presiding over the Senate and Dan Ruggles in the House. And then imagine the letters and despatches that they would receive when once comfortably installed in the White House. Such gains as they would be plentiful as blackberries. WASHINGTON, Ga., Oct. 21.—To His Excellency Horatio Seymour, President of the United States: I understand that a one-armed man, an ex-Confederate, has been appointed as a special messenger to deliver a speech in this city. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 1, 1869.

To His Excellency the President of the United States: I am, Sir, a desirous position in the Pension Office. You are either or either, and you are one of my best soldiers, and was conspicuously brave at the Fort Pillow massacre. He lost his arm in the defence of the Southern Confederacy, and was made a pensioner. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one.

Half a Billion Men behind the Masked Pirates and Assassins of Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

Washington, Ga., Oct. 21.—To His Excellency Horatio Seymour, President of the United States: I understand that a one-armed man, an ex-Confederate, has been appointed as a special messenger to deliver a speech in this city. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one. I am sure that he will be a most successful one.

Slavery in Cuba.

The Committee of the British and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society has forwarded an address to the members of the National Government in Spain, in which they express the desire that, while the great boon of political freedom is secured by the Spanish people, the still greater boon of emancipation should be secured for the slave population in Cuba and Porto Rico. Such an act, the committee think, would ennoble the new Government, and not only be a triumph for the people of England and France, but would bring Spain into sympathy with the other leading nations of the civilized world; it would also, in all probability, stimulate Portugal and Brazil to follow so great an example.

Withdrawal of the Papal Nuncio.

The Papal Government has broken all official communication with Spain. The Nuncio Ambassador is officially intrusted with the interests of the Spanish subjects in the Pontifical States.

Tunnel Beneath the English Channel.

An address has been presented to the Emperor Napoleon by about one hundred influential English noblemen, M. P.'s, and other gentlemen, praying His Majesty to support the project of a submarine tunnel between England and France. The address is as follows: "To His Majesty the Emperor Napoleon III: Sir: We, the undersigned, subjects of her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen of England, are informed that a committee of French and English gentlemen propose to ask your Majesty's support for the construction of a submarine tunnel to connect the railways of England with those of France, an eminently desirable work, which has become necessary to facilitate the social intercourse which has so rapidly increased of late years between the inhabitants of the two countries, and for the development of their trade and commerce. The realization of this noble enterprise, by strengthening the bonds which unite two great peoples with one of the most important of both countries, and a memorable example of concord offered to other nations. We have the most earnest wish for the speedy success of this fruitful work, and we hope that your Majesty will

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Seward's Auburn speeches are always read.

A railroad sleeper usually sleeps seven years. In Paris for a pickling up many odd volumes of the Parisian press.

Blue is the favorite color in Madrid since the revolution.

Isabella is also in a blue condition. The people of Westport, N. Y., have invented a new church entertainment—a "mash and milk sociable."

The villa of the Empress of Russia, by Lake Como, was lately inundated by the sudden rising of the lake to an unusual height.

When the czar visited Warsaw, theatrical performances were given in his honor, but the people could not attend, and the whole performance was a failure.

The island of Jersey is the great garden of England for early potatoes, and the crop is so abundant that an acre of early potatoes is worth eight hundred dollars.

Mr. Thomas Noble, the artist who painted "Margaret Garner," "John Brown on his Way to the Scaffold," and "The Slave Mart in St. Louis," was a rebel soldier during the first years of the war.

The consecration of Father Ryan, Bishop elect of Buffalo, will take place on Saturday, November 14th, in St. Joseph's Cathedral.

The sum of $3,000 has been subscribed to procure a suitable outfit for the new Bishop.

The Toronto, C. W., Telegraph says if follows like land, the builder of the pirate steamer "The Commodore," they would have a reasonable term at hard labor in a penal institution.

A woman in Vienna is realizing a fortune by means of trained goldfinches that draw numbers from a small box. Policy and lottery players attach great prestige to this humbug, and pay fabulous prices for the numbers.

A new theatre is to be opened in Vienna in which all the actors will be actresses.

The orchestra also will be entirely composed of women, and the only males in the establishment will look at the performance across the footlights.

It is said that Prince Alfred of England is averse to the idea of becoming King of Spain, while his mother, Queen Victoria, favors the latter being jealous of his younger brother's extreme popularity with the English people.

There are reports of a more ex-monarch in Europe at the present time, and every one of the monarchs to get his or her throne back again, but there may be said to be not the slightest hope of it.

Andrew Popoff, of Sitka, Alaska, presented himself before the proper tribunal in St. Petersburg recently, declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States under the treaty for the purchase of Alaska, and took the oath of citizenship.

A woman was lately by mistake shut in the vaults of a small village church in Sweden, where she remained seven days. When found she merely asked for some water, and being treated with great care, perfectly recovered in a few days.

While the Montreal post-office was threatened with fire a few nights ago, and business was suspended, the post-office was not destroyed.

The lady was noticed to walk coolly up to the letter-box and drop in a letter. She then crossed the street and placed herself in a good position to observe the progress of the flames. Witnessed the burning of the post-office, and the following carriage and tender rushed on with the momentum, and shot like a bullet into the air, and closed up like a telescope. It was very effective, and the railway accident, was quite as remarkable as the running-over business.

A foreign paper says history proves that there is a certain fatality attached to the position of the Papal chair by St. Peter's.

St. Helena under St. Peter's. Charles X. lost his throne under St. Peter's. The execution by St. Peter's has been curiously prolific in the deaths of Presidents Lincoln, Maximilian of Mexico and Prince Michael of Serbia.

The Medical Press and Circular of Paris states that M. Treuil and others have lately been engaged in investigating the cause of the autumnal stripping of trees, and their researches would seem to point to the conclusion that in many plants a phenomenon occurs just before the fall of the leaf which is not unlike the process which accompanies the shedding of horns in animals.

It consists in the obstruction of the proper vessels at the base of the pedicle, or leaf stalk. The obstruction, according to an American writer, is caused by the multiplication of cells, which first occurs in the parties of the vessels. The cells increase and multiply till at last the vessels are completely choked up in the neighborhood of the insertion of the leaf, and thus a differential plane is formed, across which the leaf stalk breaks and the leaf accordingly falls.

While the Montreal post-office was threatened with fire a few nights ago, and business was suspended, the post-office was not destroyed.

The lady was noticed to walk coolly up to the letter-box and drop in a letter. She then crossed the street and placed herself in a good position to observe the progress of the flames. Witnessed the burning of the post-office, and the following carriage and tender rushed on with the momentum, and shot like a bullet into the air, and closed up like a telescope. It was very effective, and the railway accident, was quite as remarkable as the running-over business.

A foreign paper says history proves that there is a certain fatality attached to the position of the Papal chair by St. Peter's.

St. Helena under St. Peter's. Charles X. lost his throne under St. Peter's. The execution by St. Peter's has been curiously prolific in the deaths of Presidents Lincoln, Maximilian of Mexico and Prince Michael of Serbia.

The Medical Press and Circular of Paris states that M. Treuil and others have lately been engaged in investigating the cause of the autumnal stripping of trees, and their researches would seem to point to the conclusion that in many plants a phenomenon occurs just before the fall of the leaf which is not unlike the process which accompanies the shedding of horns in animals.

It consists in the obstruction of the proper vessels at the base of the pedicle, or leaf stalk. The obstruction, according to an American writer, is caused by the multiplication of cells, which first occurs in the parties of the vessels. The cells increase and multiply till at last the vessels are completely choked up in the neighborhood of the insertion of the leaf, and thus a differential plane is formed, across which the leaf stalk breaks and the leaf accordingly falls.

While the Montreal post-office was threatened with fire a few nights ago, and business was suspended, the post-office was not destroyed.

The lady was noticed to walk coolly up to the letter-box and drop in a letter. She then crossed the street and placed herself in a good position to observe the progress of the flames. Witnessed the burning of the post-office, and the following carriage and tender rushed on with the momentum, and shot like a bullet into the air, and closed up like a telescope. It was very effective, and the railway accident, was quite as remarkable as the running-over business.

A foreign paper says history proves that there is a certain fatality attached to the position of the Papal chair by St. Peter's.

St. Helena under St. Peter's. Charles X. lost his throne under St. Peter's. The execution by St. Peter's has been curiously prolific in the deaths of Presidents Lincoln, Maximilian of Mexico and Prince Michael of Serbia.

The Medical Press and Circular of Paris states that M. Treuil and others have lately been engaged in investigating the cause of the autumnal stripping of trees, and their researches would seem to point to the conclusion that in many plants a phenomenon occurs just before the fall of the leaf which is not unlike the process which accompanies the shedding of horns in animals.

It consists in the obstruction of the proper vessels at the base of the pedicle, or leaf stalk. The obstruction, according to an American writer, is caused by the multiplication of cells, which first occurs in the parties of the vessels. The cells increase and multiply till at last the vessels are completely choked up in the neighborhood of the insertion of the leaf, and thus a differential plane is formed, across which the leaf stalk breaks and the leaf accordingly falls.

While the Montreal post-office was threatened with fire a few nights ago, and business was suspended, the post-office was not destroyed.

The lady was noticed to walk coolly up to the letter-box and drop in a letter. She then crossed the street and placed herself in a good position to observe the progress of the flames. Witnessed the burning of the post-office, and the following carriage and tender rushed on with the momentum, and shot like a bullet into the air, and closed up like a telescope. It was very effective, and the railway accident, was quite as remarkable as the running-over business.

A foreign paper says history proves that there is a certain fatality attached to the position of the Papal chair by St. Peter's.