—Mr. E. L. Davenport will appear at the Walcut this evening in The Pilot and in Pizaro. On Monday night he will repeat his personation of "Long Tom Coffin" in The Pilot, and will appear also as "Rob Roy." On Wednesday night of next week Mr. Thomas J. Hemphill, the business manager of the theatre, will have a benefit, when Mr. Davesport will sustain the character of "Dazzle" in London Assurance, and will appear in another play besides. This is one of the finest personations of this excellent actor, and of itself should suffice to c owd the house; but Mr. Hempshould suffice to c owd the house; but Mr. Hemp hill, as an accomplished and successful caterer to public taste, and as a very worthy gentleman, has especial claims upon theatre goers, which we are sure will be fully acknowledged. We advise those who wish to witness the performance to secure seats immediately.

The Worreil sisters conclude their engagement at the Chestnut this evening with Blue Beard. On Monday the managers announce Byron's drama, The Lancashire Lass, which will be presented in the handsomest and completest manuer, with the strictest attention to the details of scenic effect. Mr. Sinn has organized tails of scenic effect. Mr. Sinn has organized a new and powerful company, fully capable, we should think, of playing every drama of the kind in the best manner. The following cast includes most of the members of the company, and it is a guarantee that the piece will be well executed. Miss Henrietta Irving, as. Ruth Kirby M'lle E. De Carfano, as. Edwin Booth's appearance in Macbeth with Fanny Janauschek, is exciting warm praise from the Boston press. The Post says:

"The Boston Theatro was more than thronged; it was densely packed. Not less than four thousand persons were present, extending to the distant and almost suburlan amphitheatre. Mile. Janauschek performed "Lady Macbeth," and Mr. Booth "Macbeth." It was diamond against diamond, or, rather, with it. It was the general opinion that Mr. Booth mayer performed "Macbeth," in so masterly a manner, while the "Lady Macbeth," for masterly a manner, while the "Lady Macbeth," of Janauschek was a most remarkable impersonation, full of the inspiration and power of genius, and a ticompanion of the delineator of "Macbeth," We desire to record it as a great histrion'c triumph, completely captivating the audience. The stars were repeatedly called before the curtain to receive the acknowledgments of those present. Though Janauschek spoke in German, such was the power of her facral expression and the force of her artistic ges ticulation, that the meaning of her interances was almost as comprehensive as if given in English. Her acting was a great success from beginning to end. The occasion will long be remembered as one of great interest and enjoyment, signalized as it was, by the conjunction of two of the greatest living embodiments of tragedy. At the close of the play Mr. Booth was, called, and on a further demand for Janauschek Mr. Booth again appeared and stated to the audience that she had aready changed her dress and could not answer their calls, but, desired to have her thanks returned. The immense audience than retired."

CUBA. Ex-Captain-General Duice Expected— Troops from the Peniusula to Keep Order—The Jurisdiction of Puerto Principe in Full Revolt. Hayana, Nov. 6, 1868.—The excitement here is HAVANA, Nov. 6, 1868.—The excitement here is entirely allayed since the last news from Spain General Domingo Dulce, our late. Captain General is ordered here with four transports and a body of troops to keep order on the island. The Count Balmaseda has gone to Puerto Principe with a detachment of artillery. According to the revolutionary authorities the entire jurisdiction of Puerto Principe has risen against the Government. They claim that the revels hold Santa Rejoicings at the Home of our President blect—The General Visited by his Fellow-Cilizens — His Response to Their Hearty Greetings.

Their Hearty Greetings.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)

GALENA, Wednesday, Nov. 4—12 Midnight.—
This has been the proudest evening in all the history of Galena. The city, heretofore Democratic, yesterday gave a majority for her distinguished cliizen, General U. S. Grant, for President of the United States. The county gives him a larger majority by 400 than it gave to Mr. Lincoln in 1864. This magnificent result, together with the triumphant election of Gen. Grant, was celebrated here this evening by a grand torchlight procession, bondires, illuminations, and other demonstrations of joy. The Galena Tanners, with two bands of joy. The Galena Tanners, with two bands of music and a procession of citizens numbering several thousand, marched to the residence of Gen. Grant, in front of which a splendid display of direworks was sent up, after which three rousing cheers were given for the President elect. In response to repeated calls the General stepped out the players and addressed the replayers and addressed the replayers. upon the piazza and addressed the multitude as tollows:

Friends and fellow-citizens of Galena: I thank ou for this anditional mark of your kindness. con for this additional mark of your knuness. Sufficient, I suppose, has now been heard of the result of the late election to show upon whom it has fallen to administer the affairs of the nation has fallen to administer. I suppose it is no egofor the next four years. I suppose it is no ego-tism in me to say that the choice has fallen on me. The responsibilities of the position I feel, but accept them without fear, if I can have the same support which has been given to me thus far. I thank you and all others who have fought together in this contest—a contest in which you are all interested personally as much as, and perhaps more, than I am. I now take occasion to bid you good-bye, as I leave here to-morrow for Washington; and shall probably see but few of you again for some shall probably see but few of you again for some years to come, although it would give me great pleasure to make an annual pilgrimage to a place where I have enjoyed myself so much as I have

At the conclusion of this first speech of the President-electy, the crowd gave nine deafening cheers for General Grant, after which they proceeded to the residence of Hon. E. B. Washburne, who has just been re-elected to Congress, for his pinth terms by an everythelming manner. tourne, who has just been re-elected to Congress, for his ninth term, by an overwhelming majority. After three rousing cheers were given for Mr. Washburne, he was loudly called for, and esponded by tendering his heartielt and grateful thanks to his old neighbors and friends for the magnificent demonstration before him, and for the opportunity of mitgling his congratulations with theirs at the spleadid victors which had yesterday been achieved by the loyal people of the country in the election of one of our own citizens to the highest office in the gift of a confiding people, and to the grandest position in the world. Great applause. The election of Gen. Grant means that the country shall have peace; that the people shall have an honest and economical administration of the Government; that the flag chall be everywhere respected; the rights and interty and property of all men of all colors rement; that the flag shall be everywhere respected; the rights and liberty and property of all men, of all colors and climes, enall be protected and vindicated throughout the length and breadth of the land. [Cheers.] All good, paor ple must rejoice in a result so anspicious, and which bears peace, happiness and prosperity to a great nation, and which chillenges the profoundest interest of all lovers of liberty and good government throughout the world. Mr. Wash burne there alluded to the returns somewhat in detail, and particularly from his own district and city. He again extended his heartfelt thanks to his consistuents, delghbors and friends who had nine times supported him for Congress with a devotion; zeal and unanimity which acoused emotions of his heart which no language could express. When Mr. Washburne had concluded, Hon. W. B. Allison, just re-elected to Congress from the Third District of Iowa, made a rousing speech, after which the crowd dis-perced. The demonstration of the evening was dirardin, which recently appeared in the same the grandest ever witnessed in Galena. The paper. General Prim says he never thought of illuminations of private residences were mag-

COLFAX.

A short time before the arrival of the train, an immense number of the citizens assembled at the depot in Plainfield to greet Mr. Colfax. On the arrival of the train, the Vice-President-elect was greeted by the rest. arrival of the train, the Vice-President-elect was greeted by the roar of cannon, and lond and tumultuous cheers. In behalf of the citizens, Dr. R. H. Gilbert briefly addressing him, said:

Honored Sir: You are welcome, thrice welcome in our midst. We believe that when you shall be placed in the high position to which you have been elected by the voice of a free people, and the honored hero and statesman, General Grant, with whom you are associated, shall occupy the Presidential chair, that the American people will commence an era of peace and prosperty which Presidential chair, that the American people will commence an era of peace and prosperity which has had no parallel in the history of the nation. In wishing that you may be preserved in health, and that God's blessings may rest on you both, I but express the earnest prayer of the friends of liberty and freedom throughout the civilized world.

Standing upon the rear platform of the car around which the eager and onthusiastic multitude had gathered, Mr. Colfax spoke as follows:

Fellow-citizens: I am very happy to meet so large a number of your citizens as have assembled to welcome me on so short, a notice as your bled to welcome me on so short a notice as you received to-night. In the brief time I have here, I wish to say, in response to what has just been said, that I hope and trust that we shall not only commence the cra of peace and prosperity of which my friend has just spoken, but an era of equal rights and protection to all. As Mr. Colfax concluded the train moved away a salute was fired, and amid the wild cheers of the assemblage he sped toward New York.

THE GREAT VICTORY.

What the Southern Papers Say. The Savannah News is very gloomy. It ob

"No human sagacity can penetrate the future that is before us. All is uncertain and dangerous: not only for the oppressed and unhappy South. but for the whole American people. The Ship of State is now tossed upon a storm-lashed ocean, without helm or compass. From such a condition of things no good can come. But the people of the North so will it, and upon them be the consequences of their unreasoning infatuation."

disaster directly chargeable to the folly of the Fourth of July Convention in nominating Seymour and Blair. "It is too late to correct errors after the paper is worked off," our foreman once informed us—and that's all. The Dispatch closes its article as follows: "Their ticket has prevailed but it a chief is not pledged to Radical massives. but its chief is not pledged to Radical measures or principles. How he will act remains to be seen. If he becomes imbued with the noble ambition of restoring harmony and prosperity to his country, he may establish for himself a brigh and enduring fame that will endure as long as the country itself shall live."

The Richmond Examiner displays its usual

bitterness, and says: "That the logical sequence of passing events is increased bitterness towards each other in both sections, which can only end in a renewal of the war and a contest continued till one or the other is exterminated, or until anarchy comes down upon both, to be succeeded by despotism, cannot be doubted by any reflecting man who has read history and is versed in what is called human nature."

The Richmond New Nation is not surprised at the election of Grant, and congratulates its friends on his trumphant success. It thinks it should "encourage the people of Virginia to en-Total.........331,163 321,486 212,935 184,538 321,486 184,538 gage in good earnest to get our own State reconstructed and into the Union as early as may be practicable. The political excitement in this state has yet to be passed through. The greatest moderation and forbearance should be exercised by all parties. The Lynchburg (Va.) Republican says:

"It is the malignant politicians and papers of the North that keep up the savage war upon the South; and if Gen. Grant is elected we hope he will bind up at least some of the wounds which they have produced and disconnict that a last they have produced, and disappoint their calcula-tions. Raymond, of the Times, is a far worse man

The Richmond Whig of Thursday says:
"The announcement that General Grant is the President elect of the United States will, we are sure, surprise few, if any, of our readers. Pro-babilities, approximating certainty of late, have long pointed to that result. Having no choice but to submit, even if we were otherwise dis-posed, and having in better days been brought by the discipline of frequent disappointment to the indulgence of only the most moderate hopes in political affairs, it requires no effort to abstain from the expression of unavailing regret. The Fredericksburg (Va.) Herald of Thursday ays: "Cromwell may be emulated. The bayonet may cromwell may be emulated. The bayonet may again gleam in the Federal Capitol—this time in driving an ignominions crew from the halls they have descerated. What then? Yes, what then? The Hon. A. H. Stephens has intimated that the full measure of General Grant had never yet been taken; and General Blair has predicted that if General Grant could be elected. President he would never but the office down.

would never by the office down.

With all the lights before us, then—his persistence in having the parole of Confederate soldiers respected, his pertinacity in the field, his determined. mined resistance against committals to any lin of policy—we must conclude that there is a stamina of some sort in the man, and that the Radicals will discover a material difference between Grant the candidate and Grant the Presi-dent; that whereas it may have been his duty at one time to obey, it is now his duty to command. The Radical party may yet find they have caught a Tartar; that instead of their catching Grant, Grant has caught them."

The Richmond State Journal (Republican) rejoices over the result, and says:

Will the people of Virginia stand by the result, disregard the delusion of any other political salvation than that "already offered. The State salvation than that "already offered. The State stands to-day on the threshold of a new epoch. Her people can by false clamor, by denunciation of the Government under which they are bound to live, unless they expatriate themselves, they can by factious resistance, and the blind idola-tries of partisanship, by the constant irritation of old wounds, perpetuate the hell of turmoil and disquiet amid which the old. Common wealth has stoud for four years, or they can by accompting the stood for four years, or they can by accepting the situation of to-day in good faith, and with that enlightened wisdom which should characterize reasonable men, compose the storm and command peace and prosperity. The Republican party, through its honored leader, General Grant, invokes peace.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS WAFFAIRS IN SPAIN.

It is stated in Rome that the policy of the Ex-Queen is to remain in France, and thence stir up a civil war by the cry of the Church in danger. Two provinces have already refused to expel the Jesuits, and the people seem by no means unani-mous as to the effect of religious freedom. Should any party display a reactionary spirit, the aid of Napoleon in protecting the frontier from descents and importations of arms will be most valuable—ong reason among many why the Di-rectory are so anxious not to offend the Emperor of the Francti. It is said that as yet M. Mercler, the French Minister in Madrid, confines himself to pressing on the election of a King, and has signified that France will be very slow to recog-nize a Republic.—The notion of a setive interven-tion is, however, repudiated by all parties in Policy of the Ex-Queen. tion is, however, repudiated by all parties in

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—For some time Messrs. Arronson & Brothers, of No. 248 Canal street, have had in their employ a young man named Frederick Bondey, an Austrian, who has held a responsible position in the firm and as such has had access to the check book of the firm, in which, as in all commercial houses, the checks are signed in blank. They recently charged at the Central office that Mr. Bondey had embezzled a sum of money and in addition to being disa sum of money and in addition to being dis-charged for that offence, had surreptitiously ob-tained six of their checks from the book, upon tained six of their cheeks from the book, upon which he had obtained $500, by filling in the amount in the body of the cheek. The exact amount obtained upon the name of the firm was not ascertained until less night. The exact was put in the hands of detective smith by Inspector Leonard, of the Central Office, to work up.

On Thursday night Bondey was married to a respectable up-town lady, purchased tickets for himself and wife for California out of the proceeds of the amount secured on the checks.
