girl, as they commence the steep pathway of life. The girl's face has a wondrously natural expression of childlike trust and confidence. Little as she, more self-willed, seems to be turning off into the way of danger. There are passages in this second picture of greater vigor than we noticed anywhere about the first.

Mr. J. R. Evans, the animal painter, recently showed us a picture which, although not finished, struck us as being even in its present state a pretty fair day's work. It is a landscape with a winding river, a little cove consisting of a hill, two coves and a calf—just the right proportions for a family recently started in housekeeping.

We can hardly exaggerate the instruction in Art conferred by such a collection of excellent pictures of different schools as may now be seen without cost, day and night, in the eastern galleries of the Academy. Our readers should not omit the opportunity of examining these instructive examples, to be dispersed on next Tuesday and the evening after.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

ROME.

The Roman correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette writes as follows: "I am again assured that the French Government is urging the Pope to cede to Italy the province of Frosinone and Velletri, as the price of guaranteeing the remaining territories."

The Pope has conferred the dignity of Prince-Archbishop of the throne on the son of the Duke of Gales, a boy six years of age. The Duke is a Frenchman, originally named Harouin, and was a sergeant in the army of General Oudinot.

The Chicago Republican publishes our special despatch from New Castle, Delaware, giving an account of the findings on Saturday, with the following comments: "A despatch from New Castle, Del., in another column, tells us that a young man, who had been post-riding from Salem, in the Bay County, and been 200 years on the way, with a certificate of authenticity from Rev. Cotton Mather, and full powers to hold a new vegetation ceremony at Gallows Hill.

DISASTERS. CONFLAGRATION IN ST. LOUIS. Loss Over $42,000. The St. Louis Democrat of Saturday says: Between eight and nine o'clock last night a fire broke out in the rear of the Washington foundry, No. 712 North Second street, owned by Dowdall, Page & Co.

THE ALABAMA CLAIM. A Sensation in Washington. The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald writes as follows: "The receipt at the State Department of a budget of despatches from Minister Johnson, to-day, has given rise to something of a sensation here.

CRIME. A Murderer Traces Hung. Rufus B. Anderson was hung in Nevada on the 20th ult. for the murder of Noble S. Sloan.

THE COLUMBIA COUNTY (PA.) MURDER. Arrest of Suspected Parties. Our readers will remember the particulars of the late murder and robbery of A. W. Ross, General, Columbia county, Pa.

lection. As Adolphe in Balfe's opera of "The Daughter of St. Mark," Boccaccio in Benedetti's "Frustrated" and Don Quixote in Wallace's "Maritana," he advanced a reputation which was further strengthened by his success at the Princess in Metcalf's opera of "Charles IX." To August, 1867, Mr. Harrison, accompanied by Miss Louisa Fyve, left England for America, and, after a very prosperous tour through the States, they returned to this country with the opera, which they established permanently in the English capital; The Lyceum, originally intended for this purpose, was opened in September, 1867, under the Fyve and Harrison direction; and the success which accompanied the undertaking induced Mr. Harrison to become lessee of Covent Garden Theatre for the winter seasons extending from 1868 till 1872.

It is whispered in Paris that the Prince Imperial will soon be a brother. The champion pie-biter has turned up as a burglar in Ohio, where he broke into a house on Sunday, stole $20 and ate six pies.

At the Chestnut Street Theatre last evening Mr. H. J. Byron's drama, How for Blows, was produced for the first time. The cast embraced the most accomplished members of the company. Mr. J. B. Roberts, Mr. Studley and others, and the play in their hands had ample justice done to its merits.

The Theatre Comique will give a varied entertainment this evening. It is but fair to say that this little establishment is the best of its kind in the city. The performances being distinguished by their purity for general excellence.

The weekly rehearsal of the Germania Orchestra will be given at Horticultural Hall to-morrow afternoon. The following programme has been prepared: Overture, "Ruebezahl,"... Flotow
