Leibig, Cameron and Fleming were taken to the hospital. Fleming died soon after being a 1-mitted, and the other men were suffering severely from their injuries.

mitted and the other men were suffering severely from their lojuries.

The building, a two-story structure, measures 168 by 114 feet, and the work has been constructed so far without regard to cost, in order to have it secure. The accident is supposed to have been occasioned by the partiag of one of the ropes used in fastening the derrick.

At the time of the accident four of the rafters were upon the brick-work, and, although falling a distance of some fifty feet, are but little strained. The men were in the act of relieving the ropes at the time the accident occurred, and time.
The rigger in charge, James Cameron, has been employed by the firm for many years, and is considered a very reliable hand, and in consequence, the occident cannot be accounted for. The work will be delayed for a tew days in con-
