On the first day of the revolt—the insurrection and have occupied an important position. Gen. Cabail ro de Roda, at the head of a considerable military force, is preparing for a vigorous assault n Caciz.
The National Guards are employed to keep order and protect property in Madrid. Great ex-citement prevails in Malaga and other towns at only town in revolt. A rising is expected mo-mentarily in Catalonia.

Arms and munitions of war have been landed in Cadiz, and it is said that the party in revolt are well supplied with them. They have also plenty of money and are determined to fight to the last. The American flag is respected by both parties, and hundreds seek protection from the American Consult at Cadiz. There is an American war vessel in the port, and Italian and Danish vessels are placed at the disposition of the American Many rich families are leaving Spain for the present General Prim has gone to Andalusia. MADRID, Dec. 11.—The proposals of capitulation made by the insurgents at Cadiz were reected, and at the expiration of the armistice iosilities were recommenced. A desperate con-liet took place, in which artillery was used by ne troops and the insurgents.
The loss in killed and wounded was heavy on

The chromatances are as follows:—About hin-p'clock last night an elderly gentleman, appareptly about sixty years old, neatly dressed in sack, and presenting the appearance of a sub stantial business man, appeared in the hotel of e, having arrived in the train on the Lebanon Valicy Railroad, from the east, and registered himself as "J. 8. The Coroner immediately summoned a jury, and the testimony of Mr. Baker, the clerk, Mr. Thompson, the proprietor, and some of the guests who first saw the deceased was taken. On the body aon, the proprictor, and some of the guests who first saw the deceased was taken. The last entry in his note book was the fare from Allentown to Harrisburg, under due of December 10. His bed had been tossed, indicating that he had occupied it, and when discovered he was but half dressed, having washed himself. Dr. H. B. WATCHER, DIAMONDS, MILVER WIRE, &C., take charge of the body. - Inquirer. Miss Helen Western, the actress, died at Washington yesterday at the Kirkwood House. So, but came on here to fill an engagement, but on her arrival was so ill that on the first night of her sppearance as "Cynthia" in the Flowers of the the stage. Subsequently she recovered so as to Yesterday he was not so well, and the hotel proprietor baving permanent boarders who wanted her room, insisted on her being moved out. Her room, insisted on her being moved out. Her romoustrated, but could not induce him to let her remain, and she was carried out to another house.

From that moment she commenced to slak, and on her doctor being sent for last night, he pronounced her case hopeless. She was about 23 years old, and was a sister of Lecille Western, both being daughters of Mrs. English, of Boston, by a former husband. Helen was born in New York, and made her first appearance on the hoards as "Eva," in Uncle Tom's Cabia, at the Beston Museum. Since then she has played in England, Ireland Scotland, South America, and all through the United States. Her only relatives now living are her mother, Mrs. English, first three years sgo, but the marriage proved anything but a happy one, and a separation was effected.

Helen married Mr. Herne, an actor, about three years sgo, but the marriage proved anything but a happy one, and a separation was effected.

Helen western was popular once, but never great actrees. She and Lucille, under the man agement of their step-father, Mr. English, first came into promines notice during that gontless and the production of the Three First Men.

Har remains will be taken to Boston to-night, for interment in Monnt Abusur Cemetery. Her mother resides in Boston, and Lucille is in California.

The Mont Cenis tunnel was sanctioned by the Sardbian Government in 1857, and arrangements were made for fixing the perforating machinery in the years 1858 and 1859. But the work was not actually begun until November, 1860. The tunnel—which will be fully seven and, shalf miles in length—was to be completed in twenty-five years. The entrance to the tunnel on the side of France is near the little village of Fourneau, and lies 3,346 feet above the level of the sea. The entrance on the side of Italy is in a deep valley at Bardoneche, and lies 4.380 feet above the sea level. Thus there is a difference of level of 434 feet. But the tunnel will actually rise 445 feet.

feet. But the tunnet, will actually rise 445 feet above the level of the French end, attaioing this height at a distance of about four miles from that extremity; In the remaining three and three-quarter miles there will be a fall of only ten feet, so that this part of the line will be practically level.

"The rocks through which the excavations have been made have been for the most part very difficult to work. Those who imagine that the great mass of our mountain ranges consist of such grantte as is made use of in our buildings, and is uniform in texture and hardness, greetly underrate the difficulties with which the engineers of this gigantic work have had to contead. A large part of the rock consists of erystallized calcareous schist, much broken and contorted; and through this rock run in every direction large masses of pure quartz. It will be conceived how difficult the work has been of pixeline the trooped on the second of the pixeline the work has been of pixeline the p schiet, much broken and contorted; and through this rock run in every direction large masses of the work has been of piercing through so diversified a substance as this. The perforating machines are calculated to work best when the resistance is uniform; and it has often happened that the uniqual resistance offered to the perforators has resulted in injury to the chisels. But before the work of perforating began, enormous difficulties had to be contended with. It will be understood that in a tunnel of such vast length, it was absolutely necessary that the perforating processes carried on from the two ends should be directed with the most perfect accuracy.

"It has often happened in short tunnels that a want of perfect coincidence has existed between the two balves of the work, and the tunnellers from one cnd have sometimes altogether failed to meet those from the other. But in a short tunnel this want of coincidence is not very important, because the two interior ends of the tunnellings cannot in any case be far removed from each other. But in the case of the Mont Cenis tunnel any inaccuracy in the direction of the two tunnellings would have been fatal to the success of the work, since when the two should meet it might be found that they were laterally separated by two or three hundred wards.
