Washington, Dec. 11, 1868.—The indignation over the Precident's late insulting message has somewhat subsided. Indeed, no one soarcely speaks of it except to use expressions of contempt, when denouncing its infamous herestes and repudiation doctrines. Not a Democrat had the hardiboot to defend the policy advocated in the message concerning our national finances. At first some of the Republican Representatives and Senatora advocated the appointment of a committee to investigate the manner in which the premature publication of the document was effected; but, upon reflection, it was considered best not to exalt the conduct of the President so much as to order an investigation into any of his acts, and that the best way to deal with him was to treat him with the silent contempt he so richly merits. She remained here, making her arrangements preparatory to taking up family residence at the Executive Mansion, and in returning social calls she had been prevented from doing in consequence of a pressure of other business. The Purchase of Cuba. [Special Despatch to the Phila. Evening Bulletin.]
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Many contradictory tiations by our Government for the purchase of Cuba. It was affirmed positively last night that Caleb Cushing had been sent to Madrid by the State Department to make an offer for the Island, but an examination of the lists of passengers which have sailed from New York for several days past does not show his name among them. That he has been sent someware on an important mission is not denied, for he was expected to argue several important prize cases before the Supreme Court here during next week, and has notified the parties that he could not do so. Several members of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs believe that negotiations are pending which will result in the purchase of Cuba. There is a rumor affoat this afternoon that Mr. Cushing, instead of going to Europe, has sailed for St. Domingo, to carry out the ideas of Secretary Seward about the purchase of the Bay of Samana.
