been given to the jury and they believed they had done the best. He felt, however, that he might be addressing men, some of whom had made up their minds before they had heard all the evidence. Let me ask you to give this case a fair and honest examination, and give the case a fair and honest examination, and give to every truth its honest weight, and if the is done you will epen the prison door and let thi young man go free. I am not here to denounce circumstantial evidence, but to condemn a perversion of circumstantial evidence. The inference drawn from circumstances must be of a positive character and exclude every hypothesis but the Mr. Mann cited a number of instances of cir-

properly drawn, and where there had been im-proper convictions. The jury must think of every fact, and whether there is any probability actory you do more to do away with courts and jury.

The murder at Tenth and Pine, strange and throughout our stock, without exception. foul as it was, would but be as strange and foul as the conviction of this man, for that would be murder in this very court. Laws are made for e protection of society, and therefore it is said that it is better that nine guilty men should es-cape than that one innocent man should be con-

Councils.

Whatever measures will promote the various manufacturing, commercial and other interests of our city shall receive my cordial support.

I will unite with Councils in all judicious measures for opening new thoroughfares, in grading and paying those already opened, and in securing for the inhabitants of the new distitcts an abundant supply of gas and water. In this way the building interests of our city will be properly fostered and our rapidly increasing population have an ample supply of comfortable homes.

The cleansing of the streets of our city is a matter of the deepest consideration, for upon it matter of the deepest consideration, for upon it may depend the health of our citizens, and there is no object to which the tax-payer more wilis no object to which the tax-payer more willingly contributes. The present arrangement, it is obvious to every one, falls far short of the public necessities, and to whatever cause this islure may be owing, whether to defects of system, or to the inefficiency of those who have undertaken the contract, it is necessary that a remedy shall be promptly applied, and that this welk, so indispensable to the health and comfort of our people, shall be thoroughly performed.

With you, gentlemen of the Select and Common Councils, it is my desire to cultivate the most kindly relations. We are mutually charged with great and important duties, upon the performence of which will materially depend the
