The canual masked ball of the Mænnerchor, given last even ing at the Academy of Muelc, was one of the ing at the Academy of Music, wis one of the finest affairs of its kind over given in the city Nearly all of the seats in the house were occupied some time before the hour appointed for the commencement of the festivities. The interior of the building presented a very pretty appearance. The front of the balcony was handsomely festioned with bunting, and the coats of arms of the United States and Philadelphia were prominently displayed. In front of the cartain was a canvas inscribed "Macnerchor." The stage, as usual, was eet with the ball-room scene from the Sicilian Vespers, and was brilliantly lighted with numerous chandeliers.

The curtain rolled up at half-past nine o' clock, and displayed a grand tablean. The procession, comprising the subjects of His Foolish Majesty, Prince Carnival, was formed on each side of the stage. For a few minutes they were entertained by a dance by several young ladles. The procession then moved around the floor, led off by the Master of Ceremonies and his adjustants. Then followed in succession several jockeys, riding on wooden horses: the Jolly Boys; the Musiciand, each man clad in a different style of domino; the Committees; the Carnival Quard; a representation of Bismarck drawn by the petry sovereigns of Germany, with the Emperors of France and Austria attempting to retard his progress; aflower wagon surrounded by butterflies; the members of the Young Mennerchar drassed in, black silk hats, black coats with "Y. Reichard), came in in his chariot, drawn by clowns, received the homsge, of the flawers and then reviewed the carnival procession. This portion of the entertainment was well managed and passed off with entire success.

The dancing commenced immediately after the reception ceremonies. There was an orchestra stationed on each side of the stage to provide music, alternately for dances and promenade. The scene, as viewed from the upper part of the house, was magnificent. The thoor was covered with people representing all classes of characters, all engaged in enjoying themselves to the follest extent. THE FIRE AT NINTH AND CHESTRUT STREETS .-The heavy paper in the front of the store of Howell & Bros., at Ninth and Chestnut streets, smould-& Bros., at Ninth and Chestutt streets, smooth-ered during the whole of yesterday afternoon, and last evening, between nine and ten o'clock, it was necessary to summon several fire compa-nies to check the spread of the fire. This morn-ing about nine o'clock the fire broke out again, and for some time burned quite furlously, throwand for some time during during out a dense black smoke. Several steam freengines were ordered to the ground, and the fremen worked for upwards of an hour before they succeeded in getting the flames under control. The floors in the front of the building, which The floors in the front of the building, which were intact yesterday afternoon, fell in, down to the second story, during the night. The wall along Ninth street has spring out of perpendicular very much, and there is much probability of its falling. The Building Inspectors visited the scene, yesterday afternoon, and made arrangements for the removal of the capping from the top of the buildings, and for shoving up the wall on Ninth Street.

OUTRAGEOUS ATTEMPT AT ROBERY .- This morning, between two and three o'clock, the clothing store and dwelling of Samuel Simons, on South street, above Eighth, was entered by three negroes. The entrance was effected from three negroes. The entrance was effected from the rear. The thieves first got into the store and packed up a lot of clothing ready for removal. They then went into the sleeping apartment of Mr. Simons, in the upper part of the house, ransacked the bureaus and closets, and gathered together a lot of wearing apparel. One of the fellows then went to the bed on which Mrs. Simons was sleeping, and selzed her by the throat. Another raised her head and searched under the pillows. Mr. Simons is away. His son heard the noise and raised an alarm. The scoundrels then made their escape from the rear of the premises. Some clothing, which had been taken from the store, was found on the fence.

SERIOUS CHARGE.—A man named James Dickson, aged sixty-five years, was before Alderman Thomas, yesterday, upon the charge of bigamy. The complainant was his son. . It is alleged that Dickson left his wife and family in Bucks county, and married a woman, a resident of Germantown, with whom he has since been living. He was held in $1,500 bail to answer at Court.

Accident.-James McKinney, aged fifteen years, from Reading, Pennsylvania, was sitting on a tank at Walnut street wharf yesterday. The freight boat of the Camden and Amboy Railroad Gompany came up to the wharf and struck a post. McKinney had his hand very badly smashed by having it caught between the post and the tank. He was taken to the hospital by Officers Myers and Brown, of the Harbor Police.

They acknowledged the thefts, and were committed.

BOLD THEFT .- Wm. Baker went into a lager beer saloon at Thompson and Hanover streets, yesterday afternoon, and stole a coat, while the proprietor was in the cellar. He was afterwards arrested, and, when captured, was wearing the stolen coat. Alderman Heins held Baker in $600 bail for trial.

Found Drowned.—The body of an unknown white man was found in the Delaware, at Green street wharf, this morning. The deceased was about 45 years of age, and bore the appearance of having been a sea-faring man.

foreign Missions and the Alms house.

[For the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.] An article appeared in the Evening Bulletin few days ago in regard to a person said to have been once a Foreign Missionary, who is now in destitute circumstances at the Almshouse, and destitute circumstances at the Almshouse, and some inferences unfavorable to the cause of Foreign Missions were appended to it. The writer has been led to make some inquiries in regard to the case. As it has been pretty widely talked of in the community, he deems it due to the cause of religion to state that the blame of the present circumstances of the person referred to can be laid upon no one else than himself. It is not desirable to enter into details, but the following extract from the annual report for 1848 of the Foreign Missionary society under whose care he went out, and in whose employment he remained only about four rears, will, perhaps, he sufficient for most read-are... The brokers of this mission were called to are: The brethren of this mission were called to act on trying questions, which resulted in the caparation of Me.

printer, from the service of the Board, and in his suspension from the privileges of the church. His course of conduct was extremely painful, and calculated to bring reproach upon the cause, of Christ before the heathen. In all their proceedings respecting him, the brethren of the mission were uponimous, and the course they pursued has been manimously approved by the Executive Committee." It is well for the cause of Foreign Missions that euch cases at the above are rare.

THE OCHECIER RIOTS.

The Truth about Them. SAVANAH, Jan. 8.—The origin of the late troubles on the Ogeechee, which have been so monstrously exaggerated in the accounts sent North, as well as in the public estimation here, was a difficulty between the employers and the negroes on the rice plantation of Measrs. Middleton, Tucker and Lapham, as to their respective shares of the crop. The negroes believing themselves detrauded, finally selzed on a part of the rice then ready for market. The employers at once secured in Sayannah warrants for their arrest, on the charge of theft. The difficulty became the the charge of theft. The difficulty became the subject of general talk and great exettement prevailed in the city. Finally the Sheriff set out to make the arrests, accompanied by two deputies; but encountering a gang of riotous negroes, failed to make any arrests and returned in a state of great trepidation. Immediately the most alarming reports were spread, the newspapers caught up the big item and in blazing head-lines made of it a first-class sensation. The negroes from all the plantation were reported to have thoroughly organized themselves, reinforced by those from adjoining counties and from South Carolina. The roads counties and from South Carolina. The roads were reported as being picketed even to the limits of Savannah; while men living in the vicinity of the Ogeechee were reported as murdered and their wives and children taken captive and outraged, and the mass of the people were wild with excitement. Double-barreled guns, revolvers, muskets and ammunition were hunted up, private and public meetings were called, at one of which it was determined that a "posse comitatus" should accompany the sheriff the following day. Accordingly summons were issued to about 400 citizens, commanding them to appear at the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad Depot at 5 o'clock, armed, to assist the sheriff to execute the law. About 150 armed men answered this summons, and started on a train furnished by the Ordinary. There was more whisky than prudence manifested, and upon arriving at Station No. 1 an indiscriminate firing took place from the cars, the only apparent to the control of the cars.

upon striving at Station No. 1 an indiscriminate firing took place from the cars, the only apparent object being a small negro boy, who ran for his life, and fortunately succeeded in saving it. The Sheriff at this juncture exposulated with his posse, and some wise heads being along. It was determined that this evident violation of law in firing upon an innocent, unarmed negro lad, had made the expedition unawful, and it returned, the Sheriff being loudly and freely denounced as a coward. A mass needing was next called. Notices were issued, remesting all merchants. railroad companies, requesting all merchants, rallroad companies, manufacturers, and mechanics, to allow their em-ployes who might enroll leave of absence to go to the Ogeechee. Initial proceedings were taken for the formation of four battalions; the field officers were appointed; committees were raised to procure arms, horses, and the sinews of war. Wild rumor grew apace, and a war of extermination seemed inevitable, when, happy thought! all these horrors were averted by a prudent connsel, and an order for the military to take the matter in band. Pricked thus, the whole bubble burst, and the inflated insurrection collapsed as rapidly as the wild excitement of the citizens.

A Major rides out unattended, announces himself, and a number of those against whom warrants had been issued come in and deliver themselves up. Everything is now and de'iver themseives up. Everything is now quiet, no blood has been or will be shed, armed resistance to the law has ceased. Our jail is chock full-of Ogecchee negroes. The cost to the country will be a considerable sum of money, which can be ill spared at this time. The parties who stole the Sheriff's and his deputies' pistols have been identified. Writs of habeas corpus have been lesued in several cases, and "law and order reign." The military are still encamped on the scene of the original disturbance, and report all scene of the original disturbance, and report all quiet.—N, Y. Tribune.

THE SPANISH REVOLUTION.

Henri de Bourbon vs. The Duke de Montpensier.

The following manifesto has been addressed to the Spanish Provisional Government by Don Henri de Bourbon. Duke of Seville. brother to the King Consort of Spain. The writer, after a violent diatribe against the Duke de Montpensier, whom he declares to be mean, avaricious, ungrateful, ambitious, and devoid of talent and elevation ful, ambitious, and devoid of talent and elevation of character, goes on to say:

I, who suffered for more than twenty-two years political persecutions instigated by Louis Philippe; who, without being guilty of any crime, am banished from my native country, am indignant as a Spaniard and member of the Liberal party, at the privileges, as untair as it is anti-patriotic, enjoyed by Montpensier. In the name of Justice, I, who have never desired the throne coveted by the intriguer to whom I refer, who would not demean myself by bearing his title of Pretender, for my aspirations are those of an honest citizen who knows the great value of an honest citizen who knows the great value of self-denial; I, who look upon the glory of Wash-ington as greater and more worthy than that of ington as greater and more worthy than that of Caesar, apply to the provisional government of Spain for permission to return to my native land, and to again occupy, humbly, as I have always been accustomed to live, my apartment at Madrid, which contains the little I possess The ashes of my parents, those of one of my children, and of my wife, are in Spain; and those mortal remains, so dear to me, call me near them. I do not, consequently, require a crown, like Montpensier, who, in the anjuyment of his numerous millions, might live at his case and be silent. I ask tor a ray of the sunshing of my believed. his case and be silent. I ask for a ray of the sun-shine of my beloved country, and that native air which every citizen who has committed no crime has a right to breathe. I also claim from the equity of the provisional government to be restored to my rank in the navy, to which I belong. HENRI DE BOURBON.
